VI Sunday of Easter

As we move deeper into the Easter season, Jesus speaks words that touch one of the quiet struggles many of us carry: the fear of being alone. "I will not leave you orphans," He says. It is a promise that speaks directly into the hidden spaces of our lives. Because if we are honest, loneliness is not just about being physically alone. It can exist in a crowded home, in a busy workplace, even in the middle of a community. It is the feeling that no one quite understands what we are carrying. It is the silent weight of responsibilities, disappointments, and questions we do not always voice. Into that reality, Jesus promises not just presence, but relationship. He says, "If you love me, you will keep my commandments." At first glance, this can sound demanding. But in truth, it is deeply relational. Love is not just a feeling; it is something that takes shape in daily choices.

Pope Francis often reminded us that love is shown more in actions than in words. In everyday life, this means that our faith is not lived in grand gestures, but in ordinary decisions. It is choosing kindness when we are tired. It is being honest when it would be easier to cut corners. It is forgiving when holding on to hurt feels justified. It is showing up, day after day, for the people entrusted to us. These are the quiet ways we live the commandments of love. And yet, we do not do this alone. Jesus promises "another Advocate," the Holy Spirit. This is not an abstract idea. The Spirit is God's presence within us, guiding, strengthening, and gently correcting. St. Augustine of Hippo speaks of God as closer to us than we are to ourselves. Often, we look for God in dramatic moments, while He is already at work within us, in a nudge toward patience, a quiet conviction to do what is right, a sense of peace that does not come from circumstances. The challenge, of course, is that this voice is subtle. In a world filled with noise, we can easily miss it.

The First Reading shows how the early Church experienced real transformation, joy, healing, and unity. But it began with openness to the Spirit. They allowed God to work within them and through them. St. John of the Cross reminds us that God often works in the hidden depths of the soul, quietly shaping us in ways we do not immediately see. This Sunday invites us to pause and ask: where is God already at work in my life? Perhaps in the strength to keep going. Perhaps in the grace to forgive. Perhaps in the quiet desire to become better. We are not alone. We are not abandoned. Christ has given us His Spirit, not just to comfort us, but to transform us. And in the ordinary rhythm of our lives, that quiet presence is leading us, step by step, into deeper love.

Domingo VI de Pascua

A medida que nos adentramos más en el tiempo de Pascua, Jesús pronuncia palabras que tocan una de las luchas silenciosas que muchos llevamos: el miedo a estar solos. "No los dejaré huérfanos", dice. Es una promesa que habla directamente a los espacios escondidos de nuestra vida. Porque, si somos sinceros, la soledad no se trata solo de estar físicamente solo. Puede existir en un hogar lleno de gente, en un lugar de trabajo ajetreado, incluso en medio de una comunidad. Es la sensación de que nadie termina de entender lo que estamos cargando. Es el peso silencioso de responsabilidades, decepciones y preguntas que no siempre expresamos. En esa realidad, Jesús promete no solo presencia, sino relación. Él dice: "Si me aman, guardarán mis mandamientos". A primera vista, esto puede sonar exigente. Pero, en verdad, es profundamente relacional. El amor no es solo un sentimiento; es algo que toma forma en las decisiones de cada día.

El papa Francisco nos recordaba a menudo que el amor se demuestra más con acciones que con palabras. En la vida cotidiana, esto significa que nuestra fe no se vive en grandes gestos, sino en decisiones ordinarias. Es elegir la amabilidad cuando estamos cansados. Es ser honestos cuando sería más fácil tomar atajos. Es perdonar cuando aferrarse al dolor parece justificado. Es estar presentes, día tras día, para las personas que se nos han confiado. Estas son las maneras silenciosas en que vivimos los mandamientos del amor. Y, sin embargo, no hacemos esto solos. Jesús promete "otro Defensor", el Espíritu Santo. Esto no es una idea abstracta. El Espíritu es la presencia de Dios dentro de nosotros, que guía, fortalece y corrige con suavidad. San Agustín de Hipona habla de Dios como más cercano a nosotros que nosotros mismos. A menudo buscamos a Dios en momentos dramáticos, cuando en realidad ya está obrando en nosotros: en un impulso hacia la paciencia, en una convicción serena de hacer lo correcto, en una paz que no proviene de las circunstancias. El desafío, por supuesto, es que esta voz es sutil. En un mundo lleno de ruido, podemos pasarla por alto con facilidad.

La Primera Lectura muestra cómo la Iglesia primitiva experimentó una verdadera transformación, alegría, sanación y unidad. Pero todo comenzó con la apertura al Espíritu. Permitieron que Dios actuara en ellos y por medio de ellos. San Juan de la Cruz nos recuerda que Dios suele obrar en las profundidades escondidas del alma, moldeándonos en silencio de maneras que no vemos de inmediato. Este domingo nos invita a detenernos y preguntarnos: ¿en qué parte de mi vida ya está obrando Dios? Tal vez en la fuerza para seguir adelante. Tal vez en la gracia para perdonar. Tal vez en el deseo silencioso de ser mejor. No estamos solos. No estamos abandonados. Cristo nos ha dado su Espíritu, no solo para consolarnos, sino para transformarnos. Y en el ritmo ordinario de nuestra vida, esa presencia silenciosa nos va guiando, paso a paso, hacia un amor más profundo.

A Mother's Love

There are times when only a mother's love can understand our tears, can soothe our disappoints and calm all of our fears.

There are times when only a mother's love can share the joy we feel when something we've dreamed about quite suddenly is real.

There are times when only a mother's faith can help us on life's way and inspire in us the confidence we need from day to day.

For a mother's heart and a mother's faith and a mother's steadfast love were fashioned by the angels and sent from God above

El amor de una madre

Hay momentos en que solo el amor de una madre puede comprender nuestras lágrimas, puede aliviar nuestras decepciones y calmar todos nuestros temores.

Hay momentos en que solo el amor de una madre puede compartir la alegría que sentimos cuando algo con lo que hemos soñado se vuelve, de repente, realidad.

Hay momentos en que solo la fe de una madre puede ayudarnos en el camino de la vida e inspirar en nosotros la confianza que necesitamos día a día.

Pues el corazón de una madre, su fe y su amor inquebrantable fueron forjados por los ángeles y enviados por Dios desde lo alto.
