Today's Gospel Reflection

First Reading: Ezekiel 18:25-28

Second Reading: Philippians 2:1-11

Gospel: Matthew 21:28-32

Why Be Good?

In the early Old Testament there seems to have been an ongoing belief, one that we hang on to today sometimes: that good people are rewarded and sinners are punished even unto death.

There is so much good sense in First Reading. Sin really does mess up our lives, letting them come apart at the seams. And those who live lives of virtue usually are edging toward integration and freedom. The Psalm for this Sunday is a straightforward request for being included with the favored ones: “Remember your mercies, O Lord....”

But throughout the Hebrew Testament, an opposing and terrible observation gradually arose. Good people do suffer and die while scoundrels often have a fine time of it.

How can this be? How could a good God be unjust? We hear that question today from the Ukraine. Many Psalms are filled with the same lament also. Before reading further, think about your own answer to the question. Why do bad things happen to good people?

There are clues. First, how many people do you know who are completely good or completely bad? Each of us has a jumble of “good plants and weeds” within us. That is what the Gospel is about.

A father asks his younger son to go work in the fields and the son says “Yes”—so he must be the good one? But in fact he does not do what he promised. He becomes the famous prodigal son. The older son says something like, “No, I will not go out in the heat and pull your damned weeds.” Yet he does go out and work all day. We now know him as the good son though he was previously mean.

The lesson? God the Father loves everyone, whether they are sinners or not. And in order for any of us to love like God does, we must prepare to love them in spite of the drawbacks in their personality, the hurts we receive, not just the good things. This can be horrifying!

The great example of a good man suffering is Jesus on the cross. Though God's son was perfectly blameless, He took upon Himself the mixed nature of human beings. He showed once and for all the mysterious reason why good people suffer, as He suffered.

Let God make you good.

ST. JUDE MISSION STATEMENT

We, the community of St. Jude, commit ourselves to Jesus Christ our Savior, His teachings and the Tradition of the Roman Catholic Church. With the guidance of the Holy Spirit, we embrace and nurture our culturally diverse community through worship, evangelization, renewal and service.

St. Jude Catholic Church now accepts electronic donations Give Electronically

The Twenty-Sixth Sunday in Ordinary Time

"Do nothing out of selfishness; rather, humbly regard others as more important than yourselves...."

—Philippians 2:3

Pride and ego are hard things to control. We see how others act or dress and think we are superior to them. We idolize our own self-image. But, if we truly believe in Stewardship, everything is a gift from God, we recognize all the people that God has put in our lives as gifts! We are grateful for how they enrich our lives. Pray every day for the people in your life, your friends and those who make you angry.

LET'S TAKE A MOMENT... By Tere Hunt

Edition #37

T'was certainly a delightful yet fleeting weekend well spent with my mother, along with close family and friends, in celebration of her much-awaited 92nd birthday. Aside from presents, she received loads of warmhearted greetings, numerous offerings of sincere prayers and wholehearted salutations which could fulfill her with considerable content for another 92 years. The mere mention of her name, Mercedes, is usually followed by "bless her heart," "a very kind lady," or "a wonderful creature..." that she is! The outpouring of profound affection on her auspicious day seemed endless and intentionally watching from afar, the accolades from the crowd that surrounded her rendered her speechless, the overwhelming joy radiating from her face was a bitter-sweet instance captured for my eyes only. She was so moved when the visiting Bishop of Tanzania delivered a special blessing, [apart from changing water into wine :)], which was concluded by the guests raising a resounding toast with none other than the preferred beverage of choice: freshly-opened pure sparkling mini-bottled water individually labeled and set aside for the occasion. Asked what was her secret for longevity, she declared "3 hours of daily gardening!" Ah...the benefits of conjoining with nature. Researching the values of gardening, an astounding discovery revealed that: "Gardening reconnects you with God by refreshing your soul. It helps you refocus on something other than yourself. Instead of being a spectator, you're creating. Planting flowers or anything that requires cultivation, helps you see the bigger picture. Imagine how God created such beauty!" (Beliefnet.com) What I took for granted for years pricked me! My aging mom has been taking part in recreating, redesigning, reconnecting with nature, discovering peace, healing and restoration within the confines of her picturesque garden. Such a non-threatening environment allowing God to speak to her, refreshing her tired soul, reflecting the cycle of life in the beauty of her own creation. Encounter grandeur in roots!

BEING EMPTIED

In his book All I Really Need to Know I Learned in Kindergarten, Robert Fulghum lists those basic qualities that enables us to negotiate the rest of life somewhat successfully. It's what you might expect the curriculum of kindergarten to be about: being kind, saying you're sorry, getting along with others, and sharing. In short, what we learned in kindergarten is about putting others' needs ahead of our own comfort. It's a kind of emptying of our selfishness that seems to take place.

Unfortunately, the process isn't finished by the time we reach adulthood. We still tend to hoard, slam one another with insults, cheat in business, and neglect to apologize. In spite of that extended learning curve that seems to take place, we slowly do take on those attitudes noted by Fulghum. Marriage can smooth our rough edges. Children's needs call for self-sacrifice. Aging tends to mellow us. And somewhere along the line we learn that talking things out works better than hitting.

Saint Paul encouraged the Philippians to take on the attitude of the Lord Jesus, who emptied Himself for our sake. Still, I think much of that emptying takes place in us unconsciously. Some would say it is simply the process of life. Maybe, but then again, it may be gentle hand of God. Saint Teresa of Calcutta is said to have commented that even God can't fill what is already full. So then maybe that emptying is God's way of making room for God.

Reflect

Since kindergarten, have you become better at putting others first? What do you still need to work on?

Dear Padre

Where does Church teaching on angels come from? Where did we get their division into classes and the concept of the guardian angel?

The Catechism of the Catholic Church states that the existence of angels is “a truth of faith” known in both Scripture and Tradition (CCC 328). Here is an ancient definition: An angel is a mighty, concentrated personality standing in God's presence, ready to do His bidding instantly.

Jesus famously speaks of what we take to be the guardian angels of children. He says the angels of these children always look on the face of God (see Matthew 18:10). Angels took care of Jesus (see Matthew 4:11).

The Church understands angels to be spirits. Angel means “messenger,” and angels are servants of God. Different classes of angels are mentioned in the Bible (for example, Ephesians 1:21 and 3:10, and Colossians 1:16). We speak of Michael, Raphael, and Gabriel as archangels because the jobs God gave them to do were so important.

The Church holds that Satan is a fallen angel (CCC 391). Jesus tells us Satan “was a murderer from the beginning and does not stand in truth, because there is no truth in him” (John 8:44).

SAY "Amen!"

The proper form when receiving Communion is to reply "Amen" after the Eucharistic minister raises the Host or Chalice and pronounces it, "The Body (or Blood) of Christ." By responding this way, you openly state your belief in the presence of Christ in the Eucharistic bread and wine as well as in His Body, the Church.

Here's an early announcement for our upcoming St. Jude Feast Day celebration on Sunday, October 29th after the 11am Mass. The tent canopy will again cover our parking lot so mark your calendars. We invite ALL of our devoted parishioners to join us for some food, music, raffle, games, prizes and awesome fellowship! Potluck Sign-Up Sheets are located in the back of the church. We look forward to your joining us in the afternoon festivities.
