Truth #2 About Physician-Assisted Suicide

PAS laws inevitably expand once they are passed. The American Medical Association says that “physician-assisted suicide would be difficult or impossible to control and would pose serious societal risks.” Even though PAS has been legal in Canada for only 10 years, Canada has eliminated a requirement that a person be terminally ill and is now adding in mental illness as a new qualifying condition. PAS is now Canada’s fifth-leading cause of death. Here in New Hampshire, pro-PAS legislators already have publicly discussed their desire to expand any PAS law that might get passed and to add for instance ALS, MS, and Alzheimer’s disease as additional qualifying conditions.

I trust in You!
