Thirteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time

Sunday Reflection

Trusting The Divine Physician

Today's Gospel offers a rare framework — a story in a story. Most of the healing miracles are standalone encounters. One person approaches Jesus, demonstrates faith, and is healed. The evangelist tells the next story. This Gospel, however, is different. Jesus is on his way to heal one person, a young girl of twelve, and is interrupted on his journey by "a woman afflicted with hemorrhages." She bravely approaches Jesus in a crowd, despite being ritually unclean from her bleeding, and stretches out to touch his cloak. She is healed! Jesus meets her eye, confirms her faith, and continues on to resurrect the young girl.

Reading this passage, it might be easier to identify with one story — the long-suffering woman or the young, innocent girl — and to move past the other. But here they sit side by side. The girl is twelve. The woman has been suffering for twelve years. For the Gospel writers, number parallels have deep symbolic meaning.

Between the woman and the young girl, we are not one or the other. We are both. (continued on page 3)

"Busted Halo" Article

How do I invite coworkers to think about fair trade, recycling, and other everyday social justice issues? by Mike Hayes January 15, 2018

There are a bunch of possibilities here. The first is to take advantage of times when these issues naturally come up. So, you might organize a special event for Earth Day or bake and share Christmas cookies made with fair trade chocolate. Another example: When the environment or another social justice issue comes up in conversation or current events, you might share what Pope Francis and Catholic bishops have to say about it. And more likely than not, if your coworkers know you are Catholic, they will be turning to you when they hear Pope Francis in the news. This is an excellent opportunity to talk about the importance of Catholic Social teaching and social justice issues.

Next, think of everyday office rituals where you might inject your passion for social justice. Have a taste test with several fair trade coffees, teas, or chocolates, and then order the winner for the office kitchen. Suggest an environmental audit of your office to examine issues like recycling and excess energy use. You could invite student interns to come in and complete the audit and then ask them to create an affordable budget for their plan that will actually save the company money in the long term. Or you could create a self-evaluation tool based on some of these guidelines from the Sierra Club.

You could also take a very hands-on approach to addressing social justice concerns and plan a volunteer service opportunity for you and your coworkers. Invite them to volunteer at your parish food pantry or another program that helps people in need in your community — maybe even close to where you work. Start local and, if there is interest, down the road you might be planning an international trip. Service opportunities help people understand the effects of social injustice at a personal level.

Most importantly, lead by example and speak up about the issues that are important to you when you can. Be brave. These are important issues to the Church and the entire world, so when you make them a priority in your life and work, you are making a difference.

None of us had a perfect childhood, perfect families, or a perfect peer group. As we endure pain, disappointment, or unmet expectations, it can feel like a part of our childhood hopes have died. Our coping mechanisms, social adaptations, and hidden secrets can make us the "walking wounded" in some respects. Jesus wants to do more than simply staunch the bleeding. His healing hand makes dead things come alive. He awakens the dreams that are asleep. This process requires prayer, conversations with trusted community and spiritual mentors, and critical looks at difficult areas of our life. However, we can believe the words of our Lord. If we approach Jesus in faith, believing that he wants to heal and save, we, too, will hear his calming words spoken over the hurts of our life. "I say to you, arise!" "Go in peace." © 2018 Liturgical Publications Inc

Everyday Stewardship

As the baptized, we are called into community, and we are strongest when all members have full faith in Jesus Christ. When one of us falters or begins to doubt his or her faith, that is when our faith is to be shared freely as a source of strength. If we hold our faith inside, then those around us will miss a chance to be edified and strengthened by our witness.

We can give freely of our money, our time, and our talents but still not share our faith with those around us. (cont. on p.7)

This hinders the Body of Christ's ability to evangelize and spread the Good News. It also helps to keep members of that Body weak, because without the chance to hear our stories of faith, those with the need to hear can remain discouraged and lost.

Faith is a gift from God to us, just like any other. We are called to cultivate our faith and grow it into abundance. If we do not share it with others, then why grow it at all? We are not saved because we have more faith than someone else. We are no better off with storage bins filled with knowledge, devotion, and faith experience than a baby on its day of baptism. The difference between the baby and us is that we have something now to share and the responsibility to do so.

Altar Servers Needed!

Altar Servers

Corpus Christi Parish is looking for new members for our Altar Server Ministry who are age 10 or older, who are baptized, and who have celebrated First Eucharist. Altar Servers assist at the altar during our weekend liturgies, holy day liturgies, and special feasts. Participation in this ministry is an opportunity for young people to serve the community and experience firsthand that Jesus is present when the faith community comes together to celebrate its life in the Lord in Word and Eucharist. Training will be held in the church on the following Sundays:

REACH Workcamp Mission Trip Day of Prayer

Corpus Christi youth will be participating in the REACH Workcamp Mission Trip to New Berlin, New York Saturday, July 14 through Saturday, July 21. REACH Mission Trips assigns a day of prayer for the mission trip to every participating church youth group's home congregation.

Corpus Christi's Day of Prayer is Saturday, July 14. You are invited to set aside time on Saturday, July 14 to "saturate" the mission trip in prayer. Our church family knows and loves our youth and believes that prayer makes a difference. We need ALL of Corpus Christi — the Body of Christ — to pray for the success of the trip!

Please pray the following intentions:

For the community of New Berlin

— its people and businesses, that they will have a new awareness of the needs of their own community

For the evening activities for the youth, that all details will come together so that the youth will be able to focus on the spiritual aspect of service and hear God's message as they make decisions, especially on Thursday evening

For the workcamp adults who are facilitating the mission trip, that they will have the wisdom to make good decisions and be an example of serving others

For our neighbors

— the people whose homes will be repaired, that they will be open and responsive to our youth and recognize that Jesus is the reason we are helping them

For the staff of the school where the youth and adults will be staying, that they will be cooperative and welcoming and see the difference that Jesus makes in the lives of the youth,

For the workcampers

— the youth and adults participating in the mission trip, that they will catch the spirit of serving others and want to make it a way of life,

For the work projects

— the repairs that will be made to homes, that the workcampers will be able to complete the projects safely in a week and that their acts of service will be done to the best of their abilities

Q There seems to be a lot of division in some Christian churches over moral issues, especially abortion, ordination, and end-of-life care. If all Christians follow the Gospel of Jesus, why is there such a difference of opinion?

A There is always a struggle between culture and religion, and part of that struggle is politics. To be politically correct means that you must embrace the secular virtue of the moment so that you are "enlightened," "sensitive," "aware," and, most importantly, "open-minded." Unfortunately, common sense can be sacrificed in the race to be "PC."

Some factions within Christian denominations have tried to redefine tradition, history, and biblical teaching to bend it around the politically correct religious thinking of the day. On the life issues that you mention, there are those who began with their own conclusions and have tried to bend theology around their conclusions. This is possible in part because of a lack of a central teaching authority and partly because society has become apathetic to these issues. It will result in a lot of division, factions, and schisms. The Gospel calls all believers to embrace the truth, to turn from sin, and to seek holiness and justice. No matter how hard some may try, a square peg will not fit a round hole. The camel cannot fit through the eye of the needle.
