Peace be With You – an Underrated Gift

Our Gospel reading today speaks of amazing things.

Jesus sends out seventy-two of his followers ahead of him to every town and place. We hear that they return with joy, knowing that they've been able to heal the sick and that even the demons have become subject to them when they commanded them in the name of Jesus. But perhaps the most important message that they are to take with them is one of peace:

“Peace be to this house!”

It's wonderful and beautiful that the Lord wishes to use us as his instruments to bring healing – at all levels – to those who are suffering. The goal of this healing, we might say, is peace. For the kingdom of God is a kingdom of peace (c.f. Rom 14:7 – “For the kingdom of God is not food and drink but righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Spirit”).

This peace is not merely an absence of fighting or squabbles – although it is those things. It is “shalom” – a wholeness, completion or flourishing.

The Compendium of the Social Doctrine of the Church has something beautiful to say about this peace:

The promise of peace that runs through the entire Old Testament finds its fulfillment in the very person of Jesus. Peace, in fact, is the messianic attribute par excellence, in which all other beneficial effects of salvation are included. The Hebrew word “shalom” expresses this fullness of meaning in its etymological sense of “completeness”... The kingdom of the Messiah is precisely the kingdom of peace... Jesus “is our peace” (Eph 2:14). He has broken down the dividing wall of hostility among people, reconciling them with God (cf. Eph 2:14-16). This is the very effective simplicity with which Saint Paul indicates the radical motivation spurring Christians to undertake a life and a mission of peace.

On the eve of his death, Jesus speaks of his loving relation with the Father and the unifying power that this love bestows upon his disciples. It is a farewell discourse which reveals the profound meaning of his life and can be considered a summary of all his teaching. The gift of peace is the seal on his spiritual testament: “Peace I leave with you; my peace I give to you; not as the world gives do I give to you” (Jn 14:27). The words of the Risen Lord will not be any different; every time that he meets his disciples they receive from him the greeting and gift of peace: “Peace be with you”.

So, an invitation this weekend to receive the peace which the Risen Christ wishes to bring to your house. Will you let Him enter and fill you with his presence, allowing his peace to “guard your heart and mind” (c.f. Phil 4:6-7)?

And a further invitation for you to be a channel, an instrument, an emissary of peace. Will you take the peace of the Risen Lord out like a river into the troubled places of our villages, towns, cities and world? Will you take Jesus Himself, given to you fully in the Eucharist, wherever you find yourself this week?

Michael will discuss the "prophetic pulse" at this critical time in history, apparitions of the Blessed Mother, miracles, as well as what afterlife experiences of Christians and saints have taught us about preparing for God's Kingdom now and forever. He will also discuss aspects of demonology and the heightened spiritual battle. Find more information and register at slwichita.org
