Weekly Letter

January 26, 2025

Dear Friends,

As a long time student of Catholic Schools (around 23 years) I can attest to the wonderful gift that Catholic Schools have been in my life. I feel very fortunate that out of the 12 parish assignments I have had since being Ordained a priest, 10 of those parishes are communities with a Catholic School. I believe in the importance of a Catholic education and I am grateful to all of those who work to make Saint Joseph Catholic School such a wonderful and faith filled community. We are blessed to have the Sister Servants of the Immaculate Heart of Mary leading us and ministering in our school and also an amazing lay faculty who are committed to witnessing to and living out the faith that has been given to them. We are also blessed with wonderful and supportive parents and grandparents and families who show their support for our Catholic School. The other side of the same coin of course is our PREP program which enables us to continue to pass on the gift of faith to our children who attend other schools. Our PREP directors and volunteers give so much of their time and talent to make our program great. I am grateful to all and ask God to bless you in abundance.

This year the theme for Catholic Schools Week (which begins today 1/26) is: "Catholic Schools: United in Faith and Community." I truly believe that our Saint Joseph Catholic School and all the Catholic Schools in the Archdiocese of Philadelphia are schools where Faith and Community find a home and work to educate our students to be faith-filled, active members of their community and learn how to put their faith in action each day.

We are educating our youth not just to have knowledge but to take what they learn and turn that into opportunities to serve others in Jesus' name and then to go out and become leaders who show their faith by the way they live their lives and the ways they choose to love others. All of that learning and serving and leadership will, with God's blessing turn into success for God and one another. Thank you to our wonderful parish family as it is your support and generosity that helps us to fulfill the mission of handing on the faith to our youth.

As we continue, in these days of Ordinary Time, to see the fulfillment of all of God's promises in Jesus, may we listen to the words of Jesus and hear the stories of his ministry and realize each day that we are called to be a part of that ministry by what we say and do in the name of Jesus our Lord.

Peace,
Fr. Steve Leva

On January 5, Archbishop Nelson J. Pérez released a pastoral letter, at the core of which is a call to a pastoral change of heart, a conversion to the lifestyle and mindset of a missionary disciple. The letter also shares with us the Archbishop's vision for the future of the Church of Philadelphia and invitation to all Catholics to be a part of the conversation about what that will look like.

To read the letter, watch the Archbishop's video and sign up for a consultation session, visit trustandhope.org

Local consultation sessions begin March 6. Registration required. Your voice and presence are essential as we plan a new way forward together as the Catholic Church of Philadelphia. Learn more about the vision for us to come together to encounter each other with open hearts to build the strongest possible Church of Philadelphia.

Catholic Schools Week: United in Faith and Community

Catholic schools have an irreplaceable role in the Church's evangelizing mission. Building on the central goal of Catholic schools to form saints, Catholic schools teach and embrace the whole person, body, mind and spirit. The fact that all members of a Catholic school community share the Christian vision of faith that Christ is the foundation of Catholic education is what unites the school as a faith-filled community.

While faith is the binding element in Catholic schools, the Church reiterates that parents are the first teachers of their children. Holding this tenet, Catholic school communities expand beyond the walls of school buildings to envelop the family as an integral part of the school community. Together teachers, administrators, staff, students and parents fuel the light of faith by integrating culture with faith and faith with living.
