Church law requires at least one Catholic godparent in order for baptism to take place. If two godparents are named, one of each gender is permitted. Godparents who are members of other Catholic parishes must obtain a Letter of Eligibility from their home parish, which states they are eligible to serve as godparent. A Witness (who is a baptized member of a Christian faith) is eligible to serve as Christian Witness, provided the other godparent is an eligible Catholic. Christian Witnesses are not required to submit a Letter of Eligibility.
