This Week: Love is...

Our society is constantly conditioning us to associate love and happiness with feelings. It is a consumer's society, where feelings rule. Why? Because advertisers can manipulate feelings with the right image and music, they can make us feel good about a product even if we do not need it. Therefore, if we are conditioned to make decisions based mostly on feelings, advertisers can convince us to buy a product just by stirring up the right feelings.

Since feelings, by their nature, are always changing, like the weather, as soon as we get tired of one product, a smart advertiser can make us feel good about another one. However, if we give in to this model of life, soon everything becomes a product, disposable when it no longer gives us nice feelings - religion, marriage, truth, etc.

St. Paul invites us to build on a firmer, deeper foundation, that of Christian, Christ-like love. How can we learn to love others as Christ has loved us, to give our lives for our neighbor, just as Christ gave his for us? How can we make our lives into living models of this beautiful ideal that St. Paul sets before us, the ideal that Christ lived and the ideal He invites us to live?

"Love is patient, love is kind. It is not jealous, (love) is not pompous... it is not rude, it does not seek its own interests, it is not quick-tempered... It bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things." How can we do that? We cannot. It is beyond our power to love as Christ loves.

This does not mean we have to give up hope. Christ Himself can strengthen our weak love with His unconquerable love. That is why He came and why He keeps on coming, in every Mass, confession, and communion.

If we really want to love Christ's way, we have to start on the inside. We have to let Christ's love take over our own hearts. Let it fill them up then that love will overflow from us, through us, to others. How do we let Christ take over our hearts? Prayer. Better prayer. And the Eucharist - quality time with Christ in the Eucharist.

We cannot do it on our own, but we can do it with Christ. As He comes to renew His commitment to us during this Mass, let us take Him up on His offer to be our way, our truth, and our life - nothing will make Him happier, and nothing will make us happier either.

Blessed be Jesus in the Most Holy Sacrament of the Altar,

PRAYER BOARD

Father of goodness and love, hear our prayers for the sick members of our community and for all who are in need, may they find consolation in your healing presence. May these special people find lasting health and deliverance, and so join us in thanking you for all your gifts. We ask this through the Lord Jesus who healed those who believed. Amen.
