Is October another Month of Mary?

Regarding the month of October, October 7 is the feast of Our Lady of the Rosary. The Church chose that day and, apparently by extension, the month of October to honor Our Lady of the Rosary because a great victory took place on October 7. In October 1571, the Church in Europe faced a seemingly hopeless challenge. The Muslim Turks had already conquered the Middle East, slaughtering millions and forcing the survivors to convert to Islam. They then moved across the Mediterranean Sea, taking the crucial islands of Crete and Cyprus. From these islands, they set their sights on the Christian kingdoms of the central Mediterranean, threatening Sicily, Venice, and even Rome herself. Pope Pius V called on the Christian princes of Europe to rally to defeat the Islamic threat. In addition, he called on rosary confraternities in Rome and all over Europe to undertake special processions and public recitation of the Rosary, asking the intercession of the Blessed Mother. What ensued was the famous Battle of Lepanto. The Christian fleet was far outnumbered and appeared to have no human hope of winning. On the first Sunday of October 1571, the Christian fleet met the invading Muslims off the coast of Greece in the Gulf of Lepanto. As Christians all over Europe prayed for Our Lady's intercession, the Turks surrounded the Christian ships. But the European fleet broke through. By days' end, almost all of the Turks were driven to shore or drowned. Europe was saved. Pope Pius established an annual commemoration to honor Our Lady of Victory, and his successor, Gregory XIII, decreed that the first Sunday in October would be the feast of the Holy Rosary. In summary, the decision to designate October as the month of the Rosary apparently stems from the Church's desire to extend its thanksgiving to Our Lady for victory in the Battle of Lepanto from one Sunday to a whole month. In addition, when Our Lady appeared in Fatima in May 1917, she identified herself as Our Lady of the Rosary.

In God's Eyes
“Your faith has saved you.”
It's probably the last thing the Samaritan expected to hear after his astonishing encounter with Jesus. No doubt, he was stunned—who wouldn't be? After all, how did this happen? He wasn't a Jew; on top of that, he had a disease that most people found repellent. He was an object of scorn. He lived in the margins, often in the shadows. But Jesus saw someone else. He saw a man to bring out of the shadows and into the light. And so Jesus gave him what he hungered for. Healing. Wholeness. Dignity. He gave a scarred and disfigured man a new body, a new start, a new life. Among other things, this episode reminds us of the extravagant generosity of Jesus' love. Jesus isn't selective. He doesn't pick or choose who is worthy of being made whole. To him, no one is out of reach or out of bounds. What matters is trust. Belief. Sincerity. The desire to be whole. In other words, faith. So many of us live with our own kind of leprosy—scars or wounds that are sometimes invisible but that we believe make us unworthy of being loved by God. But this Scripture tells us otherwise: in the Lord's eyes, we are all people of possibility, dignity, and hope. Every one of us. Know that—and have faith! That is what helps us to be healed. And, yes, to be saved. Deacon Greg Kandra Greg Kandra is a Roman Catholic deacon serving the Diocese of Brooklyn, New York. This is the Saturday before first

A los ojos de Dios
“Tu fe te ha salvado”.
Probablemente es lo último que el samaritano esperaba escuchar después de su asombroso encuentro con Jesús. Sin duda, estaba atónito, ¿quién no lo estaría? Después de todo, ¿cómo sucedió esto? Él no era judío; además de eso, tenía una enfermedad que la mayoría de la gente encontró repelente. Era objeto de desprecio. Vivía en los márgenes, a menudo en las sombras. Pero Jesús vio a alguien más. Vio a un hombre para sacar de las sombras a la luz. Y entonces Jesús le dio lo que anhelaba. Cicatrización. Integridad. Dignidad. Le dio a un hombre lleno de cicatrices y desfigurado un nuevo cuerpo, un nuevo comienzo, una nueva vida. Entre otras cosas, este episodio nos recuerda la generosidad extravagante del amor de Jesús. Jesús no es selectivo. Él no escoge ni elige quién es digno de ser sanado. Para él, nadie está fuera de su alcance o fuera de sus límites. Lo que importa es la confianza. Creencia. Sinceridad. El deseo de ser completo. En otras palabras, la fe. Muchos de nosotros vivimos con nuestro propio tipo de lepra: cicatrices o heridas que a veces son invisibles pero que creemos que nos hacen indignos de ser amados por Dios. Pero esta Escritura nos dice lo contrario: a los ojos del Señor, todos somos personas de posibilidad, dignidad y esperanza. Cada uno de nosotros. Sepa eso, ¡y tenga fe! Eso es lo que nos ayuda a ser sanados. Y, sí, para salvarse. Diácono Greg Kandra Greg Kandra es un diácono católico romano que presta servicios en la Diócesis de Brooklyn, Nueva York. Autor de The Busy Person's Guide to Prayer, es un periodista televisivo galardonado y mantiene el blog The Deacon's Bench.
