Weekly Wisdom

Have you ever wondered about having an object blessed by the priest. It is not uncommon for people to bring their sacramental objects like a Rosary, or cross to a priest to be blessed, but what else can be blessed? Amazingly, just about anything can be blessed. Your car, motorcycle, home, or pet can be blessed. In New England, fishery fleets are blessed. What better way to bring Jesus closer to us, than to have a priest or deacon bless these special objects in our lives.

Now, to be "blessed" did not merely mean to be "set apart." It meant to be set apart for something. There is no virtue in simply being different. Israel was holy because it was set apart for the Lord. To be blessed (or to have an object blessed) is to be set apart for a purpose. Another way to word it: To be blessed is to be set apart for God's purposes. It is not simply to be "removed from use," but to be "elevated to a higher purpose and use." You could also think of the term "consecrated." In this sense, you could see how certain people or things were "consecrated" for a purpose: how Samson and John the Baptist were both consecrated from the womb, or how the altar in the Temple was consecrated for the worship of God.

When we bring forth an object or a person to be blessed, we are presenting that person or thing to God so that (by the power of the Holy Spirit and the invocation of the name of Jesus), they would be set apart for God's purposes. For example, many people will ask me if I can bless their cross on a chain or a bracelet. When they bring it to me, it is merely jewelry. But after it is blessed, it ceases to be jewelry that is nothing more than an accessory to one's outfit: That object has been set apart for a purpose. It will still be worn like jewelry, but the purpose for which it is worn has been changed because the object has been consecrated for a higher purpose. In the case of the cross around one's neck, the higher use is that it will, from then on, only point to Christ and his saving death and resurrection. Why do we do this, though? Why bless all of these ordinary objects around us? We do this for the simple reason that we are very much like ancient Israel. Our tendency is also to want to be just like everyone else. Having all of these reminders around us that have been consecrated to the Lord assists us and reminds us that we too have been consecrated to God." Fr. Mike Schmitz

*Father of lights, the radiance of Your Son has guided the advance of the Gospel across the Diocese of Richmond for two centuries, strengthening our Church
from the Eastern Shore to the Cumberland Gap.
Grant that the nearness of Your Son may dispel
the darkness of our sins,

Office of the Bishop

August 3, 2020

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

With so much happening this year and all that we've encountered as a faith community, I write this letter to connect and communicate with you on an important announcement from the Vatican's Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith. The matter centers on the issue that remains of utmost importance – the universal Church's ongoing responsibility to address the protection of children.

As a new pastoral year approaches in the fall, this responsibility necessitates we consistently review our efforts in our promise to provide a safe environment through transparency, accountability and enforcement of rigorous policies and procedures especially in our diocese. By God's grace and through the power of the Holy Spirit, we continue to do all we can at restoring the trust of our faithful.

As part of that effort to rebuild trust, the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith (CDF) on July 16, 2020, published a Vademecum, or instruction manual, which provides specific guidance and procedural steps to bishops, religious superiors and others when governing allegations of sexual abuse of minors by clergy.

Why is this manual significant? The document provides best practices and step-by-step guidelines to dioceses worldwide. This handbook does not alter Church law. However, it is a critical tool and a substantial step forward in the universal Church's responsibility to protect our most vulnerable members.

This initiative is a follow-up to the Vatican summit held in February 2019 regarding the protection of minors and the need for further stringent procedures of accountability, especially for bishops, resulting from the grave sins of the actions and inactions of Church leaders. As we await the report from the Vatican on Theodore McCarrick, we recognize the importance of putting such measures into effect.

As you are aware, Pope Francis promulgated Vatican norms for the Church's handling of sex abuse in May 2019 by a motu proprio, titled, "Vos estis lux mundi" ("You are the light of the world"). Within that apostolic letter, one of the measures called for the establishment of a "metropolitan model" for the investigation of accusations of sexual misconduct against bishops and their peers.

I joined my brother bishops in approving the U.S. implementation of the directive in June 2019. Our diocesan website contains more information on the protocols for reporting abuse against bishops and about the nationwide service. I remind you that ANY report of child sexual abuse must be reported immediately to law enforcement and then to our diocese.

So where are we within our diocese concerning response and actions of accountability? I promised you, the faithful, of my commitment to address this wound in our local Church and to further our journey of spiritual renewal and reform. Please allow me to update you on the various mechanisms put into place within the last 18 months in our diocese:

- In June 2019, the Richmond Diocese established and began using a third-party, independent, hotline system called EthicsPoint. This independent reporting service allows clergy, religious, employees, volunteers, parishioners, vendors and other interested parties confidentially to report concerns about suspected financial or ethical misconduct and misuse of resources.

- High standards of professional behavior from our clergy, employees and volunteers are always expected. Effective March 28, 2020, I promulgated the Code of Ethical Conduct to strengthen and set a clear expectation of the core values and behavior that is consistent with Catholic Church teachings and required of all clergy, religious, employees and volunteers.
- In the ongoing promise in our local Church to help survivors with their healing, I directed a full audit of our clergy files by an independent entity and in February 2019, published the names of clergy with a credible and substantiated accusation of sexual abuse of a minor. This is be updated as required and includes the past assignments of our named diocesan clergy.
- One of the aspects to reconcile the sins in our local Church and repair the damage that has been done is the establishment of the Independent Reconciliation Program \(IRP\). It was established to assist victim survivors who were sexually abused as minors by Catholic clergy. The program, announced in February 2020, is independently administered and remains ongoing.
- Our Diocesan Review Board, which consists of lay individuals, religious and clergy, continues to review all allegations of child sexual abuse by Church personnel and recommends actions to be taken.
- In my continuous commitment for greater involvement of the laity and co-responsibility of the care of our Church, the Diocesan Pastoral Council was formed and met for the first time in August 2019. The council is one of several advisory bodies that provides valuable counsel to me and reflects the voice of the lay faithful on important matters of policy, pastoral initiatives and pastoral planning. The council is composed of nine men and nine women selected for their parish experience and leadership. They are representative of the diocese's 15 deaneries.
- Our seminarians have the opportunity of studying at some of the best seminaries in order to prepare themselves academically, pastorally and spiritually for their life of ministry. They undergo careful psychological assessments, training on child protection and reporting policies in our diocese, establishing expectations and guidelines for reporting sexual harassment as well as management courses in order to develop skills to serve as effective leaders in the Church.
- Through the VIRTUS® Protecting God's Children for Adults Program, all clergy, religious and employees are required to receive preventative and educational training that provides proactive measures on the issue of child sexual abuse. Volunteers who regularly work with children and youth are also required to take this training.

Please know I continue to hold in my heart the hurt and pain victim survivors have shared with me about the enormously profound impact these grave violations of sacred trust have had on their lives, and I will always do so. I continue to emphasize that our response will always be about what we are doing, not simply about what we have done. As we tend to the wound still healing in our Church, please join me in continuous prayer.

May the power of the Holy Spirit and the grace of God grant me and all in leadership understanding and strength as we continue to rebuild the sacred trust of our faithful.

Faithfully in Christ,

Most Reverend Barry C. Knestout
Bishop of Richmond

HAITI UPDATE AUGUST

What's new with our sister parish in Baptiste Haiti?

After Mass, the children of St. Jude Baptiste Haiti were treated to a snack and a drink. What a beautiful picture of Joy in the Lord. (Holy Family version of doughnuts and coffee) Somethings are universal. St. Jude is facing the same questions of reopening schools. The early plan is to reopen schools in person. Virtual learning obviously is not an option. A final decision has not been made by the Dioceses of Hinche. Holy Family parishioners sponsor five schools and their forty teachers. We will continue to support the teachers. Please pray for their safety and their continued spiritual growth. The Haiti Committee of Holy Family will keep you informed about the latest developments in Baptiste Haiti.

Thank you for your continued prayers and support for our twinning parish in Baptiste Haiti.

Contact Brian Alexander socialjustice@holyfamilyvb.org for more information about the Holy Family Haiti Committee. The Haiti Committee meets (on Zoom) at 7:00 p.m. the second Tuesday of each month. The next meeting is Tuesday, September 8. Contact Brian for Zoom invitation. God Bless!

“CREATION CARE CORNER:”

In our fight against climate change, I believe it is helpful to periodically be reminded of the actions we can take. A reminder can sometimes find us in a different frame of mind or life circumstances, which leave us more open to implement the action(s), if we have not already done it. Hopefully, these following reminders will challenge you to apply yourselves even more in your efforts to reduce your carbon footprint:

- We need to work at eliminating food waste, which mostly occurs in stores and at home. A study by the Natural Resources Defense Council indicates that Americans throw away up to a whopping 40% of the food they buy. Ways to combat this waste are to shop only for what is needed, eating leftovers, composting scraps, and donating excess to food banks.
- Change to a more plant-based diet, which can cut our footprint in half or even shifting from high to low meat consumption.
- By participating in the democratic process, we decide by our vote who will support comprehensive climate policies and contacting your legislators when you disagree.
- Taking our money out of institutions that fund fossil fuel industries, which are the largest source of greenhouse gas emissions.
- Choosing to buy less or not at all is a way of reducing the production and eventual disposal of goods. Add “refuse” to the three R’s, Reduce, Reuse, Recycle.

The list of reminders could go on and on, but the space is not available. If you are already pursuing these actions, maybe, you can expand your efforts.

“We must all change our day-to-day actions to live more sustainably. This requires honesty, courage, and responsibility.”
Pope Francis
