FATHER JIM'S CORNER

As a Parish, We are Forming Disciples,
Sent on Mission, Sharing the Good News of Jesus Christ

Dear Friends,

As we continue to move through this liturgical year, I am always amazed at one surprising thing about the New Testament: its honesty. Take this Sunday's Gospel passage, for example. We have the Twelve Apostles, Christ's closest companions, making a very poor showing. They have been traveling with the Lord along the dusty roads of Galilee. Jesus has been explaining to them that he will soon be arrested, unjustly condemned, mocked, and crucified, as we also heard in last Sunday's Gospel. But after the explanation again, the apostles start talking among themselves about his Kingdom as if he were going to lead a successful political rebellion against the occupying Roman regime. They actually argue about who is going to get which positions - who will be prime minister, who will be secretary of the treasury, who will be defense minister...etc.

This reveals to us clearly that the apostles do not understand the real nature of Christ's Kingdom. Christ's Kingdom is not a political, military reality. When we pray "Thy Kingdom Come!" in the Lord's Prayer, we are not praying for political victories. Christ's Kingdom is a spiritual reality, the reign of God's will in the hearts of his followers. That is why Christ's sacrifice on the cross is not a terrible failure, but an eternal triumph.

So Christ's Kingdom is spiritual, not political. That we know. However, this does not mean that Christ's followers have nothing to say about politics. This is a common misunderstanding in today's world. We hear a lot of talk about the separation between Church and state. Nevertheless, that phrase can be taken in two different ways. In the first place, it can mean that the government of a country does not try to run the Church, and that, in turn, the Church doesn't try to run the government. That is the right way to understand separation of Church and state. However, there is also a wrong way to understand it.

The wrong viewpoint says that religion is just a private hobby, like butterfly collecting, and so has nothing to contribute to the public life of a community or country. In fact, there is one area of life where politics and faith do overlap: morality. Governments, in order to do their job well and make just laws, have to respect the natural moral law - the Ten Commandments, for example. This natural moral law is built into human nature. It exists prior to politics and provides healthy parameters for political activity, just like the laws of physics existed prior to the invention of rockets and provided the parameters for space travel. Governments need clear knowledge of the natural moral law to do their job as much as engineers need clear knowledge of natural physical laws to do theirs. God has made the Church a sure teacher and guide on questions of natural moral law. Therefore, we as Catholics have a lot to contribute to the discussion of public affairs; it is up to us to be the conscience of our country.

As we approach the elections this November, we need to ask God to grant us the grace not only to allow his spiritual Kingdom to spread in our hearts, but also to give us the wisdom and courage to be his messengers to the world around us, which is in such dire need of moral guidance. Our country and world are in dire need of our prayers, God's help, and our witness. May the Holy Spirit guide us.

Mary, Our Lady of the Immaculate Conception, pray for our nation.

God bless,
Fr. Jim

MINISTRY ANNOUNCEMENTS

Night of Hope Featuring Eric Genuis

All are invited to a night of hope and healing on October 10th featuring acclaimed pianist, composer, and speaker Eric Genuis. This is a night you don't want to miss! Eric has an incredible mission of bringing world class music to people and places that are oftentimes void of beauty and hope. Accompanied by world-class violinists, cellists, and vocalists, Eric has a mission to share his gift of music with the less fortunate and suffering of the world, or as he calls them, "the forgotten". Through Eric's foundation, Concerts for Hope, he and his accompanists go into rehab centers for PTSD veterans, memory care facilities, inner-city schools, and even prisons. These are places that would otherwise have no access to uplifting and memorable experiences.

This event will take place Thursday, October 10th, 2024 at 6:30pm at the Xavier Fine Arts Theater (1600 W Prospect Ave - Appleton, WI). This event is sponsored by GIFT, a collaborative ministry of various Fox Valley Area parishes. Reserve your seat today by visiting the GIFT website at: www.growinginfaithtogether.com
