A Reflection of the Gospel from Living Liturgy

2020: In today's gospel, though the disciples are in the company of the Bread of Life himself, they worry about the effects of hunger. Their protest that "five loaves and two fish are all we have" gives us an insights into their desire to be rid of the crowds. They are operating from a place of scarcity. This amount of food would hardly be enough to feed their small band of thirteen. If they share it, they will have nothing. But Jesus is not dissuaded; he blesses and distributes the meager feast and once everyone has eaten their fill, the leftovers total "twelve wicker baskets full." Another important number in the Bible, "twelve" can signal fullness and calls to mind the twelve tribes of Israel. In the Lord we do not need to fear scarcity—there is enough to satisfy the hunger of all.

When we consider that Jesus multiplied the loaves so that all could eat, we recall that he acted as the prophet Elisha of old. He also foreshadowed his own Last Supper and the Eucharistic gift he would leave his followers. As a result, even today we take bread, bless it, break it, and give it. In so doing we celebrate and consume Jesus himself, who was broken for us and given to us. As we are sustained on our earthly journey by the Eucharist, we live the paschal mystery.
