WHY DO CATHOLICS DO THAT...?

Part III: How to Pray Using Lectio Divina

The following steps are a guide to praying with the Bible using lectio divina. You can use this method with any passage of Scripture, but it works best when the passage isn't too long. For example, you can use lectio divina with the next Sunday's Gospel reading.

Step 1: Lectio

Read the Scripture passage. Try reading it out loud. Try reading it several times. Let the words sink in deeply. Open your mind and heart to the meaning of the words.

Step 2: Meditatio

Reflect on the Scripture passage. Ask yourself questions such as the following:

What does this passage say to me?

What do I think?

Who am I in this passage?

Which character do I most relate to?

What do I see? What do I hear?

What do I most need to learn from this?

Try taking notes on your answers to questions. Try journaling about the insights you gain through reflection.

Step 3: Oratio

Pray with the passage of Scripture you are reflecting on. What does the word invite you to pray about? Let the following questions guide you.

What do I want to communicate with God?

What am I longing for in my relationship with God?

What do I desire in my prayer life?

What secrets of my heart are ready to be expressed? Is there joy? grief? fear? gratitude?

Express your inner thought to God in prayer.

Step 4: Contemplatio

Simply let yourself rest in the presence of God. Let go of all distracting thoughts. Settle into the tenderness of God's love.

Step 5: Actio

Answer the following questions with utter honesty:

How is God challenging me?

Is there a good thing God is calling me to do?

Is there a harmful thing God wants me to stop doing?

What is the next step I need to take?

Decide on a course of action [large or small]. Commit to following through with your plan.
