Qualities of a BeFriender

Some reflections on qualities of a person who is a BeFriender

- * A person who can listen to others even when what they say doesn't seem to make sense.
- * A person who can allow others to express their own feelings without telling them how they should or shouldn't feel.
- * A person who is willing to sit quietly with others when they can't put their hurts into words.
- * A person in whom others can freely confide, knowing that confidentiality is a priority.
- * A person who can accept others as they are, rather than the way that person thinks others ought to be.
- * A person who will give others time and opportunity to make their own decisions without feeling a need to decide for them.
- * A person who can ask how others are doing without feeling an obligation to tell them what they should be doing.
- * A person who is able to admit that they, too, experience life as burdensome at times and find it necessary to seek comfort and support from others.
- * A person who understands and values the faith community as necessary for spiritual growth.
- * A person who has an ability to draw on his or her own spiritual resources.
- * A person who can show concern and care in these ways is a true BeFriender.
