SUNDAY
JUNE 15TH
2025

Dear Friends,

A Eucharistic pilgrimage traveling from Indianapolis, Indiana to Los Angeles, California made a stop in the small Texas town of Fort Stockton, home to the James Lynaugh Prison Unit. It was the only structure in the area, lined with barbed wire fence.

The pilgrims were joined by Most Rev. Michael Sis, bishop of the Diocese of San Angelo, and two priest chaplains. The pilgrims - mostly college-aged students - were readying to enter the prison with the Most Blessed Sacrament. This was week four of a five-week procession, which concludes with a Mass and procession in Los Angeles.

Bringing Our Lord to prisoners

The prison is well-attended to by clergy and laity in the diocese, with regular Communion services and Holy Mass when a priest is available. Last year, the prison hosted a Kolbe Retreat for inmates - named after St. Maximilian Kolbe, who freely gave his life and died at the Auschwitz Concentration Camp.

They were brought to the campus gymnasium, which was lightly adorned with a table and a stage. Under the supervision of guards, inmates from the prison began to file into the gym. The pilgrims began with a Eucharistic procession around the gym before the Eucharistic Lord came to rest on the table. A Holy Hour began for the inmates, and the clergy made themselves available to celebrate the Sacrament of Reconciliation.

In those confessions, stories of suffering were made very apparent - not only about things that had put the inmates where they were, but suffering inside the prison walls as well. After receiving absolution, the inmates made their way to the table, knelt in front of it, and offered their hearts to Christ, who was pouring His heart out to them.

Bishop Sis gave a reflection on the powerful meaning of the Eucharist, reminding the inmates that, wherever they were, they were united with the Church and with Christ - even through prison barriers.

After the celebration of Holy Mass, it was time for the pilgrims to go. As they departed, they were greeted with a standing ovation by the prisoners, ever-grateful for the time of prayer, the celebration of the Sacraments, and a time of fraternity with the pilgrims.

This was a beautiful story that I read this past week, and it is a powerful reminder of how Christ can convert even the most hardened of sinners to embrace Him and draw deeply into His Most Sacred Heart.

Finding Sacred Heart of Jesus

Though we may not be entering a prison in the literal sense, we encounter so many people who are broken and facing immense sadness and struggle in their lives. To allow the power of Christ to work through us and enter the hearts of those in need is precisely what the Lord asks of us as His disciples. For many of the pilgrims, it was the first time they had ever entered a prison. It was a life-changing experience for everyone who was involved.

Let us help others find the heart of Jesus in this month of the Sacred Heart, and to encounter the life-changing presence of His love in the Eucharist.

Changes around campus

This week’s labors on campus included additional concrete at the front entrance of the church. Preparation of the apse (front of the church) continues, and soon, the liturgical painting team will be rejoining us to complete the needed paint work in the church. Work on the terrazzo floors continues as well; we’re approximately half-way done on the nave floor. I’ve included some pictures in this week-end’s bulletin so you can see the progress that is being made. Please continue to keep the project in prayer.

Offering our prayers

We offer our prayers for the soul of Rev. D. Stephen Smith, pastor emeritus of Christ the King Parish, McFarland, who died this past week. We also remember the passengers aboard the Air India flight that crashed after taking off in west-central India, and the nine children and one adult who were killed in a mass school shooting in southern Austria. May the hearts of the Lord and Our Lady bring eternal life to those who perished, and consolation to families who are left to mourn their loved ones.

With love in the Sacred Heart,
Fr. Michael
