

CATHEDRAL of ST. BERNARD of CLAIRVAUX

PHONE: (608) 249-9256
FAX: (608) 244-3773
WEBSITES: www.sbmsn.org,
www.madisoncathedral.org
MAILING ADDRESS:
2438 Atwood Avenue
Madison, WI 53704

Epiphany of the Lord

January 4, 2026

*"They were overjoyed at seeing the star,
and on entering the house they saw the child with Mary his mother.
They prostrated themselves and did him homage."*

-Matthew 2: 10-11

MASS SCHEDULE

WEEKDAYS

| | |
|----------------|------------------------------------|
| MONDAY | 6:30pm (2nd-5th) |
| TUESDAY-FRIDAY | 7:45am |
| 1st SATURDAY | 7:45am, with confessions following |

The Rosary is prayed after daily Mass. For a full listing of daily Mass devotional prayers, please visit our website or call the office.

WEEKENDS

| | |
|----------|--|
| SATURDAY | 4:30pm Confessions 3:30pm |
| SUNDAY | 8:00am & 10:00am Confessions 9:15am |

PRAYER LINE

The parish has many dedicated parishioners ready to assist you with prayer in times of need. To place your intentions on the Prayer Line, please call Carol (244-4817).

CONTACT

BISHOP OF THE DIOCESE OF MADISON

Most Rev. Donald J. Hying
(608) 821-3002
officeofbishop@madisondiocese.org

PASTOR

Rev. Michael Radowicz
(608) 249-9256
pastor@sbmsn.org

DEACONS

Dcn. Timothy Reilly
deacontimreilly@outlook.com
Dcn. Chris Schmelzer, Pastoral Care
pastoralcare@sbmsn.org

DIRECTOR OF SACRED MUSIC

John Sittard
(608) 249-9256
sacredmusic@sbmsn.org

COORDINATOR OF ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICES

Lori Lauth
(608) 249-9256
office@sbmsn.org

COORDINATOR OF COMMUNICATIONS

Julianne Nornberg
(608) 249-9256
communication@sbmsn.org

CAMPUS CUSTODIAL SERVICES

Jane Lang
Renee Watring

PASTOR'S PULSE ON THE PARISH

SUNDAY
JANUARY 4TH
2026

Dear Friends,
The response to this past weekend's closing Mass for the Jubilee Year and subsequent tours of the cathedral was tremendous!

Almost 400 people gathered for the closing Mass, and most of the faithful gathered came over and toured the cathedral. I spoke with people from all across the Diocese. Everyone had very positive comments on what they saw.

I was very encouraged by the number of people gathered ... it was a wonderful opportunity to join with all the faithful in giving thanks for the many graces bestowed upon us in this Jubilee Year. Thanks to all our volunteers and those who made the day a great success.

Sad news to share

I wish I could continue the roll of good news, but I have some sad news to share with all of you this weekend.

Our Director of Sacred Music, John Sittard, has discerned that he is being called to minister in the Diocese of Pittsburgh. John's son recently moved to the New York City area, and much of John's family is located on the east coast, including his mother, who recently turned 90. John will be closer to his son and his family.

We will miss John and his wife Siegrid terribly. He has done amazing work with our sacred music program over these past years, and he has advanced the diocesan choir along as well. John and Siegrid will be leaving us at the end of February, and we will send them with our love and many prayers of thanksgiving for all that he has accomplished here with the help of the Holy Spirit.

I will be meeting with the bishop

after the New Year to discuss how we're going to move forward. It will most likely involve a national search - a similar process that we undertook when we hired John. I trust that the Holy Spirit will send us the right person with the skills needed to continue the beautiful music that we have all come to love and appreciate.

Music is such an important of the Church's life in prayer, and I very much want that to continue as we look to the future. Please join me as we pray for John and Siegrid during this time of transition.

Come to Confession

Following up on last weekend's bulletin article on Mass attendance, I had a few people approach me and tell me that they didn't come to confession that often because they were afraid that I (or another priest) would be angry with the sins they confessed and that I would look upon them differently. I smiled and told them that pleasing the Lord in all things. Come to confession and celebrate God's great love and mercy for you!

How Christ is made known

In this weekend of the Lord's epiphany, it's a marvel to think about how He was made known to the world: by coming as a precious child who was born in a stable.

I contrast that to the time when the cardinals gather for conclave to elect the next pope. When the cardinals have reached consensus, white smoke billows from the Sistine Chapel and millions gather in St. Peter Square to hear the joyful announcement of the next successor of Peter. Every news agency interrupts programming to bring everyone together. That's not quite how the Lord's birth took place. ☺

How do we make Christ known to others? Epiphany literally means "to make known." In other words, we teach, or evangelize. We don't need advanced degrees or lots of proper training. It's about sharing one's story and telling another person what Christ has done in your life. The time will come for formal instruction, but to get people thinking always involves a personal story or witness of the Lord's love.

Christ invites us to make Him known in profound ways and in small ways. May we have the grace to recognize these opportunities and bring those we encounter closer to the Lord through our own witness to the faith that we love.

I pray every blessing upon you and your families as we enter into this new year of grace. May it be one of immense grace as we walk with the Lord and remain close to Him in all things.

With love in the Sacred Heart,
Fr. Michael

"There is great rejoicing when the Lord can heal a heart and make it whole once again."
- Fr. Michael

With love in the Sacred Heart,

Fr. Michael

I will be meeting with the bishop

after the New Year to discuss how we're going to move forward. It will most likely involve a national search - a similar process that we undertook when we hired John. I trust that the Holy Spirit will send us the right person with the skills needed to continue the beautiful music that we have all come to love and appreciate.

Music is such an important of the Church's life in prayer, and I very much want that to continue as we look to the future. Please join me as we pray for John and Siegrid during this time of transition.

Come to Confession

Following up on last weekend's bulletin article on Mass attendance, I had a few people approach me and tell me that they didn't come to confession that often because they were afraid that I (or another priest) would be angry with the sins they confessed and that I would look upon them differently. I smiled and told them that pleasing the Lord in all things. Come to confession and celebrate God's great love and mercy for you!

How Christ is made known

In this weekend of the Lord's epiphany, it's a marvel to think about how He was made known to the world: by coming as a precious child who was born in a stable.

I contrast that to the time when the cardinals gather for conclave to elect the next pope. When the cardinals have reached consensus, white smoke billows from the Sistine Chapel and millions gather in St. Peter Square to hear the joyful announcement of the next successor of Peter. Every news agency interrupts programming to bring everyone together. That's not quite how the Lord's birth took place. ☺

How do we make Christ known to others? Epiphany literally means "to make known." In other words, we teach, or evangelize. We don't need advanced degrees or lots of proper training. It's about sharing one's story and telling another person what Christ has done in your life. The time will come for formal instruction, but to get people thinking always involves a personal story or witness of the Lord's love.

Christ invites us to make Him known in profound ways and in small ways. May we have the grace to recognize these opportunities and bring those we encounter closer to the Lord through our own witness to the faith that we love.

I pray every blessing upon you and your families as we enter into this new year of grace. May it be one of immense grace as we walk with the Lord and remain close to Him in all things.

With love in the Sacred Heart,

Fr. Michael

I will be meeting with the bishop

after the New Year to discuss how we're going to move forward. It will most likely involve a national search - a similar process that we undertook when we hired John. I trust that the Holy Spirit will send us the right person with the skills needed to continue the beautiful music that we have all come to love and appreciate.

Music is such an important of the Church's life in prayer, and I very much want that to continue as we look to the future. Please join me as we pray for John and Siegrid during this time of transition.

How Christ is made known

In this weekend of the Lord's epiphany, it's a marvel to think about how He was made known to the world: by coming as a precious child who was born in a stable.

I contrast that to the time when the cardinals gather for conclave to elect the next pope. When the cardinals have reached consensus, white smoke billows from the Sistine Chapel and millions gather in St. Peter Square to hear the joyful announcement of the next successor of Peter. Every news agency interrupts programming to bring everyone together. That's not quite how the Lord's birth took place. ☺

How do we make Christ known to others? Epiphany literally means "to make known." In other words, we teach, or evangelize. We don't need advanced degrees or lots of proper training. It's about sharing one's story and telling another person what Christ has done in your life. The time will come for formal instruction, but to get people thinking always involves a personal story or witness of the Lord's love.

Christ invites us to make Him known in profound ways and in small ways. May we have the grace to recognize these opportunities and bring those we encounter closer to the Lord through our own witness to the faith that we love.

I pray every blessing upon you and your families as we enter into this new year of grace. May it be one of immense grace as we walk with the Lord and remain close to Him in all things.

With love in the Sacred Heart,

Fr. Michael

I will be meeting with the bishop

after the New Year to discuss how we're going to move forward. It will most likely involve a national search - a similar process that we undertook when we hired John. I trust that the Holy Spirit will send us the right person with the skills needed to continue the beautiful music that we have all come to love and appreciate.

Music is such an important of the Church's life in prayer, and I very much want that to continue as we look to the future. Please join me as we pray for John and Siegrid during this time of transition.

How Christ is made known

In this weekend of the Lord's epiphany, it's a marvel to think about how He was made known to the world: by coming as a precious child who was born in a stable.

I contrast that to the time when the cardinals gather for conclave to elect the next pope. When the cardinals have reached consensus, white smoke billows from the Sistine Chapel and millions gather in St. Peter Square to hear the joyful announcement of the next successor of Peter. Every news agency interrupts programming to bring everyone together. That's not quite how the Lord's birth took place. ☺

How do we make Christ known to others? Epiphany literally means "to make known." In other words, we teach, or evangelize. We don't need advanced degrees or lots of proper training. It's about sharing one's story and telling another person what Christ has done in your life. The time will come for formal instruction, but to get people thinking always involves a personal story or witness of the Lord's love.

Christ invites us to make Him known in profound ways and in small ways. May we have the grace to recognize these opportunities and bring those we encounter closer to the Lord through our own witness to the faith that we love.

I pray every blessing upon you and your families as we enter into this new year of grace. May it be one of immense grace as we walk with the Lord and remain close to Him in all things.

With love in the Sacred Heart,

Fr. Michael

I will be meeting with the bishop

after the New Year to discuss how we're going to move forward. It will most likely involve a national search - a similar process that we undertook when we hired John. I trust that the Holy Spirit will send us the right person with the skills needed to continue the beautiful music that we have all come to love and appreciate.

Music is such an important of the Church's life in prayer, and I very much want that to continue as we look to the future. Please join me as we pray for John and Siegrid during this time of transition.

How Christ is made known

In this weekend of the Lord's epiphany, it's a marvel to think about how He was made known to the world: by coming as a precious child who was born in a stable.

I contrast that to the time when the cardinals gather for conclave to elect the next pope. When the cardinals have reached consensus, white smoke billows from the Sistine Chapel and millions gather in St. Peter Square to hear the joyful announcement of the next successor of Peter. Every news agency interrupts programming to bring everyone together. That's not quite how the Lord's birth took place. ☺

How do we make Christ known to others? Epiphany literally means "to make known." In other words, we teach, or evangelize. We don't need advanced degrees or lots of proper training. It's about sharing one's story and telling another person what Christ has done in your life. The time will come for formal instruction, but to get people thinking always involves a personal story or witness of the Lord's love.

Christ invites us to make Him known in profound ways and in small ways. May we have the grace to recognize these opportunities and bring those we encounter closer to the Lord through our own witness to the faith that we love.

I pray every blessing upon you and your families as we enter into this new year of grace. May it be one of immense grace as we walk with the Lord and remain close to Him in all things.

With love in the Sacred Heart,

Fr. Michael

I will be meeting with the bishop

after the New Year to discuss how we're going to move forward. It will most likely involve a national search - a similar process that we undertook when we hired John. I trust that the Holy Spirit will send us the right person with the skills needed to continue the beautiful music that we have all come to love and appreciate.

Music is such an important of the Church's life in prayer, and I very much want that to continue as we look to the future. Please join me as we pray for John and Siegrid during this time of transition.

How Christ is made known

In this weekend of the Lord's epiphany, it's a marvel to think about how He was made known to the world: by coming as a precious child who was born in a stable.

I contrast that to the time when the cardinals gather for conclave to elect the next pope. When the cardinals have reached consensus, white smoke billows from the Sistine Chapel and millions gather in St. Peter Square to hear the joyful announcement of the next successor of Peter. Every news agency interrupts programming to bring everyone together. That's not quite how the Lord's birth took place. ☺

How do we make Christ known to others? Epiphany literally means "to make known." In other words, we teach, or evangelize. We don't need advanced degrees or lots of proper training. It's about sharing one's story and telling another person what Christ has done in your life. The time will come for formal instruction, but to get people thinking always involves a personal story or witness of the Lord's love.

Christ invites us to make Him known in profound ways and in small ways. May we have the grace to recognize these opportunities and bring those we encounter closer to the Lord through our own witness to the faith that we love.

I pray every blessing upon you and your families as we enter into this new year of grace. May it be one of immense grace as we walk with the Lord and remain close to Him in all things.

With love in the Sacred Heart,

Fr. Michael

I will be meeting with the bishop

after the New Year to discuss how we're going to move forward. It will most likely involve a national search - a similar process that we undertook when we hired John. I trust that the Holy Spirit will send us the right person with the skills needed to continue the beautiful music that we have all come to love and appreciate.

Music is such an important of the Church's life in prayer, and I very much want that to continue as we look to the future. Please join me as we pray for John and Siegrid during this time of transition.

How Christ is made known

In this weekend of the Lord's epiphany, it's a marvel to think about how He was made known to the world: by coming as a precious child who was born in a stable.

I contrast that to the time when the cardinals gather for conclave to elect the next pope. When the cardinals have reached consensus, white smoke billows from the Sistine Chapel and millions gather in St. Peter Square to hear the joyful announcement of the next successor of Peter. Every news agency interrupts programming to bring everyone together. That's not quite how the Lord's birth took place. ☺

How do we make Christ known to others? Epiphany literally means "to make known." In other words, we teach, or evangelize. We don't need advanced degrees or lots of proper training. It's about sharing one's story and telling another person what Christ has done in your life. The time will come for formal instruction, but to get people thinking always involves a personal story or witness of the Lord's love.

Christ invites us to make Him known in profound ways and in small ways. May we have the grace to recognize these opportunities and bring those we encounter closer to the Lord through our own witness to the faith that we love.

With love in the Sacred Heart,

Fr. Michael

I will be meeting with the bishop

after the New Year to discuss how we're going to move forward. It will most likely involve a national search - a similar process that we undertook when we hired John. I trust that the Holy Spirit will send us the right person with the skills needed to continue the beautiful music that we have all come to love and appreciate.

Music is such an important of the Church's life in prayer, and I very much want that to continue as we look to the future. Please join me as we pray for John and Siegrid during this time of transition.

How Christ is made known

In this weekend of the Lord's epiphany, it's a marvel to think about how He was made known to the world: by coming as a precious child who was born in a stable.

I contrast that to the time when the cardinals gather for conclave to elect the next pope. When the cardinals have reached consensus, white smoke billows from the Sistine Chapel and millions gather in St. Peter Square to hear the joyful announcement of the next successor of Peter. Every news agency interrupts programming to bring everyone together. That's not quite how the Lord's birth took place. ☺

How do we make Christ known to others? Epiphany literally means "to make known." In other words, we teach, or evangelize. We don't need advanced degrees or lots of proper training. It's about sharing one's story and telling another person what Christ has done in your life. The time will come for formal instruction, but to get people thinking always involves a personal story or witness of the Lord's love.

Christ invites us to make Him known in profound ways and in small ways. May we have the grace to recognize these opportunities and bring those we encounter closer to the Lord through our own witness to the faith that we love.

With love in the Sacred Heart,

Fr. Michael

I will be meeting with the bishop

after the New Year to discuss how we're going to move forward. It will most likely involve a national search - a similar process that we undertook when we hired John. I trust that the Holy Spirit will send us the right person with the skills needed to continue the beautiful music that we have all come to love and appreciate.

Music is such an important of the Church's life in prayer, and I very much want that to continue as we look to the future. Please join me as we pray for John and Siegrid during this time of transition.

How Christ is made known

In this weekend of the Lord's epiphany, it's a marvel to think about how He was made known to the world: by coming as a precious child who was born in a stable.

I contrast that to the time when the cardinals gather for conclave to elect the next pope. When the cardinals have reached consensus, white smoke billows from the Sistine Chapel and millions gather in St. Peter Square to hear the joyful announcement of the next successor of Peter. Every news agency interrupts programming to bring everyone together. That's not quite how the Lord's birth took place.

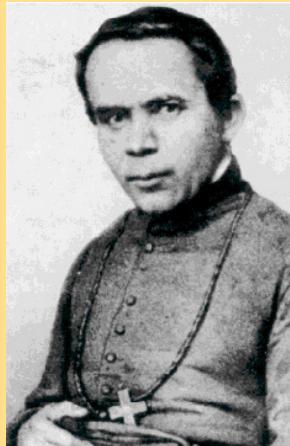

LIVES OF THE SAINTS

January 5, 2026

The following information is reprinted with permission from www.catholicculture.org:

St. John Neumann

John Nepomucene Neumann was born on March 28, 1811, the third of six children of a stocking knitter and his wife in the village of Prachatitz in Bohemia. From his mother he acquired the spirit of piety and through her encouragement entered the Seminary at Budweis.

During his seminary years, he yearned to be a foreign missionary in America. He left his native land and was ordained in June, 1836 by Bishop John Dubois in New York. He spent four years in Buffalo and the surrounding area building churches and establishing schools.

Promoter of education

In 1840, he joined the Redemptorists. Eight years later he became a United States citizen. By order of Pope Pius IX in 1852 he was consecrated fourth Bishop of Philadelphia. His mastery of eight languages proved extremely helpful in his quest for souls. He was a pioneer promoter of the Parochial School System in America.

Highlights of his life

One of the highlights of Saint John Neumann's life was his participation, in Rome, in the Proclamation of the Dogma of our Blessed Mother's Immaculate Conception. Through his efforts, the Forty Hours Devotion was introduced in the Philadelphia Diocese. He founded the first church in America for Italian-speaking people. He also founded the Glen Riddle group of the Sisters of the Third Order of St. Francis.

At 48 years of age, completely exhausted from all his apostolic endeavors, he collapsed in the street on January 5, 1860. He is buried beneath the altar of the lower Church in St. Peter's Church in Philadelphia.

CURRENT CATHOLIC EVENTS

SCRIP ORDERS DUE JAN. 5

Monthly SCRIP orders will be processed on Tuesday, Jan. 6, so all SCRIP orders are due to the Parish Office by Monday, Jan. 5. The forms can be found at the back of church or by the office. Thank you for your continued support.

QUO VADIS MEN'S DISCERNMENT GROUP

High school aged young men are invited to attend the diocese's monthly Quo Vadis group meetings for prayer, talks and discussions about the priesthood, and fellowship with other discerners! The next meeting is Friday, Jan. 23, 6:30 to 9pm, Holy Name Heights, Madison. Call 608-821-3089 for more information, or you can register for each event at madison-vocations.org/quovadis.

VITA CONSECRATA WOMEN'S DISCERNMENT NIGHTS

High school and young adult women who are discerning consecrated life are invited to a monthly meeting 6:30-9pm at St. Peter Church in Ashton the second Friday of the month through May. The group will be reading John Paul II's Vita Consecrata, his document on religious life. For more information contact Theresa Klinkhammer at theresa.klinkhammer@gmail.com.

GREEN SCAPULAR SHRINE CANDLES

Immaculate Heart of Mary Church in Monona is home to the Shrine of Our Lady of the Green Scapular, and they are accepting your prayer requests and can light a candle for your intentions. Visit stella-marisparish.org/candles. To learn more about the Our Lady of the Green Scapular Shrine, visit stella-marisparish/shrine.

DIOCESE OF MADISON
Divorce Support Ministry

Women's Divorce Support Groups

2nd Monday of the month

St. Maria Goretti Church, Madison

St. Joseph Church, Fort Atkinson

St. John Vianney Church, Marian Hall, Janesville

6:30pm-8pm

Men's Divorce Support Group

3rd Monday of the month

St. Maria Goretti Church, Madison

6:30pm-8pm

