World Day of Prayer for Vocations: April 26, 2026

Lord Jesus, Send Us Holy Priests and Consecrated Men & Women!

In recognition of Priesthood Sunday in the U.S. Church, pastoral note by reflecting on a few themes for our prayers by Archbishop-emeritus Allen H. Vigneron

Let us pray in thanksgiving for an abundance of calls. In our prayers, we thank God ahead of time for calling the sons of our community to be workers in his vineyard. We ask him to grant our sons, grandsons, cousins, and friends the strength and the courage to follow in the footsteps of their brothers whose stories are recorded in Scripture, the apostles who walked with Christ here on earth and now rejoice at his side in heaven.

Let us pray for men to hear God's call. We know that God in His love for the Church will always call a sufficient number of pastors for our service, so there is no shortage of men being called. Rather, there is a shortage of men hearing their call. So, we pray that men called to the priesthood are able to set aside the noise of their busy lives so that they might hear in the silence an invitation from our Lord. We pray, as well, for God in his providence to send people into their lives to encourage their discernment and provide opportunities to explore life in the priesthood. It is profoundly difficult for a man to become a priest on his own, without the support of his community.

Let us pray for men to have courage. We hear at the Last Supper Christ's warning to the apostles: "If you belong to the world, the world will love its own. But because you do not belong to the world, and I have chosen you out of the world, the world hates you." I have often noted that Jesus employed a rather strange recruitment strategy when calling his early disciples, stating they would be sent out "like lambs in the midst of wolves." It is one thing to endure occasional disagreement from others. This is an experience shared by everyone. But it takes profound courage for a man to be willing to endure contempt, to be hated by the world, to live in such a counter-cultural way as in the priesthood. This is a courage that no man by his own strength could summon. This courage – this gift of the Holy Spirit – lives in the heart of Jesus and the hearts of those called by Jesus. This year, we pray for God to continue sending us courageous men with the Heart of Christ to lead the people of God.

Let us pray for our communities. We pray that we become effective instruments of assisting men who are called the priesthood – helping them to hear that initial, sometimes subtle whisper of invitation, to discern more deeply where the invitation leads, and ultimately to call upon the courage to follow after Christ into a vocation in the priesthood. At the same time, this Year of Prayer is a call for all of us – religious, deacons, lay men and women – to respond again to our own vocations, remembering that we, too, must be quiet to listen, to hear, and to be inspired.

Let us pray because the harvest is at stake. When we ask God for workers in his vineyard, we are asking for priests to preach the Gospel in order to build up the kingdom of God here on earth. War, violence, poverty, and other societal ills show us clearly the need for holiness and (Continued on page 4)

(Continued from page 3) salvation in the world. We know the fields are ripe for the harvest. The world needs the kingdom of God, so the world needs holy priests. We pray because Jesus told us to, and as disciples of Christ we follow him so that the Father will be glorified.

Let us pray alongside Our Lady, always and everywhere. We continue through the months ahead, a reflection of the Blessed Virgin Mary at the center of prayer with the disciples in the Upper Room between the Ascension and Pentecost. We continue to pray today, mindful that Our Lady, our mother and the mother of priests, is likewise at the center of our prayer for priestly vocations.

Let us pray with confidence. Throughout the Gospels, Jesus tells those around him that whatever they ask of the Father in his name, they will be given. We know, then, that God will give us what we need in the way he knows we need it. This may not come about in the way that we expect, but we know with certainty that our Lord hears and answers our prayers. So, as we continue our Year of Prayer for Priestly Vocations, let us follow the example of Detroit’s own Blessed Solanus Casey in thanking God ahead of time for hearing our prayers and calling forth a new generation of holy priests for the Archdiocese of Detroit.

MARIAN PRAYER FOR VOCATIONS

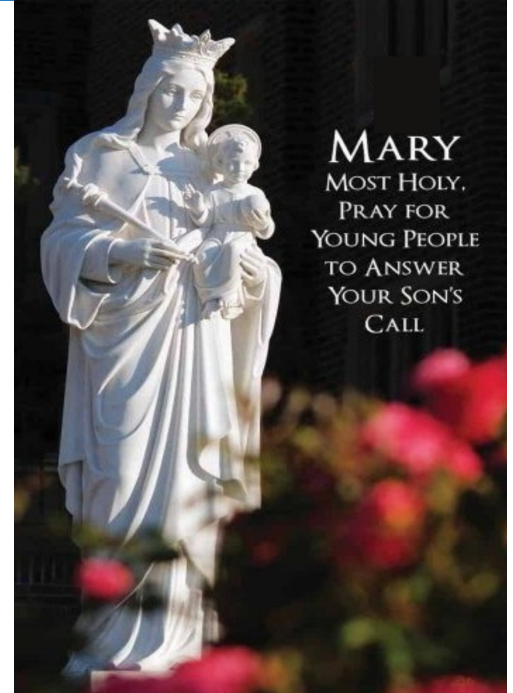

O Virgin Mary, Mother of Jesus and Mother of the Church, to you we commend our young people, in particular those called to follow your Son as brothers, sisters, and priests. You know, O Mary, the struggles, doubts, and obstacles they must face. Assist them to answer Yes to the divine call, as you did at the invitation of the angel. Draw them near to your heart so that they can understand the joy that awaits them when they answer your Son's call to be witnesses of His love in the world. Amen.

World Day of Prayer for Vocations

Today the Church throughout the world prays for vocations. Will you make a special effort to ask the Lord for vocations to the priesthood and religious life? Pray for the priests who have ministered to you throughout your life, both living and dead. Encourage your children, grandchildren, or other young people to consider a vocation as a priest or religious brother or sister. Pray a rosary for more young men and women in our diocese to respond to God's call.

Pray for Vocations!

As Catholics, we firmly believe that God has a plan for our lives! He calls some to marriage, some to the priesthood, and others to religious life or to live as generous single people. Fully living our own vocations—and teaching young people how to discern God's call—is a serious duty, but also a joyful one. During this week, please encourage the young people in your life—children, grandchildren, students, and friends—to be open if God calls them to priesthood or religious life.

WHITE CROSSES

Please take a moment to reflect on the crosses on Commerce Road. The white crosses in front of the church and school symbolize the lives of unborn children lost through abortion. They were provided by Right to Life–Lifespan and will remain on display for one week.

Many thanks to Oscar Mittelstaedt for organizing the installation, which began at 9:00 a.m. on Saturday morning. We also extend our gratitude to the Knights of Columbus members for installing the crosses, with assistance from Orchard Lake St. Mary's NHS students and students from Our Lady of Refuge.

We are excited to announce that Our Lady of Refuge School has completed its first Annual Report, a significant milestone prepared with care by our School Advisory Board. This document offers a transparent look at our current standing and celebrates the dedication of our faculty, staff, and families who make our school such a special place for learning and faith formation.

Central to this report are the domains aligned with our accreditation goals, which outline our strategic priorities for continuous improvement. It highlights our progress in areas such as Catholic identity, academic excellence, and leadership and operational vitality, demonstrating how we are meeting the high standards set by our accrediting body while remaining faithful to our parish mission.

We invite all parishioners to review the report to see firsthand the wonderful work happening within our school. Mrs. Lisa Brinkman, OLR Librarian and Lunch Assistant: A Heart for Libraries—and for Others

Since 2005, Mrs. Lisa Brinkman has welcomed students and staff into the heart of Our Lady of the Rosary's library. Her inspiring journey at OLR began when her youngest child, Clare, started Kindergarten. Motivated by a true love of libraries, Mrs. Brinkman's dedication has enriched the school community for nearly two decades.

At the core of Mrs. Brinkman's life is her faith. She draws strength and direction from Proverbs 3:5-6: "Trust in the Lord with all your heart and do not lean on your own understanding. In all your ways acknowledge Him, and He will make straight your paths." This scripture is a constant reminder that God's plan is greater and more beautiful than her own. "I know the Lord's plan for me is better than mine. I trust He will take care of me," Mrs. Brinkman reflects; words that guide her in every aspect of her life and work.

What matters most to Mrs. Brinkman isn't simply checking out books or organizing shelves. Her greatest reward comes when graduates return to say hello and share how much they cherished their time spent in the library. These meaningful connections are the true mark of her service, affirming the positive and lasting impact she's had on so many. Outside of her work at OLR, Mrs. Brinkman finds joy in many pursuits. She loves long walks and travels with her husband, especially to visit their children and grandchildren. Reading, of course, remains a lifelong hobby, and she also enjoys staying active through regular workouts. These interests reflect her commitment to balance, well-being, and family.

Each day, Mrs. Brinkman looks forward to growing spiritually, aspiring "to be more like Jesus and less like me." This simple yet profound goal speaks to her humility and ongoing journey toward faith-filled self-improvement. Through her faith, warmth, and quiet leadership, Mrs. Lisa Brinkman is much more than a librarian, she is a servant of her community, a cherished friend, and a living example of the values that guide OLR. We celebrate Mrs. Brinkman for the light she brings to our school family.
