A SHEPHERD'S CARE

Pray Like a Beloved Child

Have you seen those robotic vacuum cleaners, or lawn mowers, that wander around a room or a yard doing their job until they bump into something? Then they stop, back up, redirect, and continue on a new trajectory. That is exactly what Jesus does NOT want us to do in prayer. In this Sunday's gospel passage (Luke 18: 1-8) Jesus tells a parable about the necessity "to pray always without becoming weary." He tells of a widow who persistently asks a judge to answer her request. When she bumps up against his unwillingness, she does not back down and turn to someone else with her request. She "keeps bothering" him "for a long time." The judge continues to reject her request because, as Jesus says, he "neither feared God nor respected any human being." Finally, he gives in to her request for one selfish reason: self-defense, as he says, "Lest she finally come and strike me."

Jesus uses this parable to argue from the lesser to the greater. If this selfish judge gives in to the widow because of her persistence, "Will not God then secure the rights of his chosen ones who call out to him day and night?" Then Jesus ends his commentary with a provocative question: "But when the Son of Man comes, will he find faith on earth?"

What does faith have to do with the parable? Everything. In my experience, when I stop praying for something, it is because I am losing faith. If my prayer is not answered in a "timely" manner (in my time) then I conclude that God does not want to answer it "my way." It's sometimes hard to believe that God really loves me or the person for whom I'm praying. So, my lack of faith sometimes leads me to stop praying, which leads to even less faith in the love of God. But if I persevere in prayer, God eventually answers, sometimes in a surprising way which was better than I expected. Then my faith grows. To sum this up: Faith leads to prayer, and when prayer is answered it leads to stronger faith. But weak faith leads to less prayer, which leads to even weaker faith. This is why Jesus connects the importance of faith with this parable about persevering in prayer.

But there is another important reason to persevere in prayer. As I was reflecting on this passage, a mother brought her two young children into the church. The kids were making a fair amount of noise as they interacted with the stained glass, candles, statues and murals of saints; all the while the rest of us adults were praying silently. Their outbursts sounded to me like expressions of joy, excitement and wonder, interspersed with requests of their mother. The whole time the mother was soft-spoken as she absorbed and gently guided their childish energy. Finally, I looked over and caught a glimpse of the two cute children with their mother. I was filled with joyful wonder at the genius of this mother introducing her children to the tactile mystery of our faith. Then the Father whispered to me, "I am happy to listen to you whenever you come to me. My child, you are learning the language of faith. Just keep communicating. I am not a selfish judge but your loving Father. I love it when you come into my presence, because I love you. Just keep praying like a beloved child... and you will see... and faith will grow."

Queen of the Most Holy Rosary

in these times of such brazen impiety, manifest thy power with signs of thine ancient victories, and from thy throne, whence thou dost dispense pardon and graces, mercifully regard the Church of thy Son, His Vicar on Earth, and every order of clergy and laity, who are sore oppressed in the mighty conflict. Do thou, who are the powerful vanquisher of all heresies, hasten the hour of mercy, even though the hour of God's justice is every day provoked by the countless sins of men. For me who am the least of men, kneeling before thee in supplication, do thou obtain the grace I need to live righteously upon Earth and to reign among the just in Heaven, the while in company with all faithful Christians throughout the world, I salute thee and acclaim thee as Queen of the most Holy Rosary. Queen of the Most Holy Rosary, pray for us. Amen
