Dominic Deliberations

"Always be prepared to make a defense to anyone who calls you to account for the hope that is in you, yet do it with gentleness and reverence." (1 Pt. 3:15)

"This verse has been the starting point of a long tradition among Christians called Apologetics: the practice of rendering an account, of mustering a defense for the truths of the faith. Here are some famous apologists: St. Paul, St. Justin Martyr, St. Augustine (City of God), St. Thomas Aquinas (Summa Contra Gentiles), Pascal, Newman, G.K. Chesterton and C. S. Lewis. In an age like ours, so highly rationalistic and so eager to run away from its Christian past, is in need of all the good apologetic work the Church can muster.

The main danger Christians face when making their defense is to think that their task is to somehow prove that Christianity is true. The person doing apologetic work is not trying to show that Christianity is undeniably true, but rather to show that Christianity is plausible. Apologetics can clear obstacles out of the path such that the message of Christ can genuinely be heard. The gospel still has to be preached, heard, and responded to, and that will need to happen on a much deeper level than mere rational argumentation. The truth of Christ makes a direct appeal to the inner mind and spirit of every human soul, and in that mysterious encounter of the creature with the Creator, the heart of the hearer is being sifted. No one from outside can glimpse what is happening in that hidden place where God meets and deals with his children. All we can do for one another is to speak and live Christ's truth as authentically as we can, and to help remove obstacles such that Christ can be seen and heard.

The work of apologetics helps those who are seeking God by showing the reasonableness, fitness, goodness, and beauty of the Gospel message, and by clearing away mists and obstructions that might get in the way of an authentic encounter with Christ. When it has done that, it has performed its proper task. It cannot compel belief." (Prime Matters: The Point of Apologetics).

Catholic Corner

Filled with the Holy Spirit, Jesus returned from the Jordan and was led by the Spirit into the desert for forty days, to be tempted by the devil. Luke 4:1-2

If someone is attacked or feels threatened, it is common to be defensive. For example, if soldiers suddenly find themselves under attack from an enemy, they will most likely take up a defensive position. Similarly, when we feel personally attacked by another or are tempted by the devil, we will often try to defend ourselves. However, within the worlds of games, sports and military activity, there is a common adage that says, "the best defense is a good offense." In other words, the best way to keep the opponent from winning is to go on the offensive rather than to sit back and take up a defensive position.

In many ways, this is what Jesus did when He entered the desert. He was aware that the evil one wanted to destroy Him. Therefore, when Jesus entered the desert for 40 days to pray and fast, He did so in a sort of offensive attack upon the devil. Jesus' temptations in the desert were not primarily difficulties He had to endure and resist. Rather, they were first and foremost ineffective attacks from the evil one, because Jesus had already embraced the opposite virtues.

What temptations and sins are among your greatest struggles? In what ways do you find yourself experiencing defeat? In what ways have you taken up a defensive position to try to overcome your struggles? Too often we approach temptations in the wrong way. We see them as attacks from the evil one that we must resist and defend ourselves against. And though that is true, it is not the full truth. The full truth is that the best way to overcome the struggles we face is to confront them directly in a vigorous and offensive way by choosing the opposite virtue.

Consider the three temptations Jesus overcame in the desert: gluttony, vainglory and greed. Jesus' entrance into the desert for those 40 days was the way by which He destroyed these temptations before they were even presented to Him. By voluntarily choosing to fast from food for those 40 days, Jesus rendered the temptation toward gluttony ineffective. By choosing the humility of entering into the solitude of the desert to be alone with His Father, Jesus robbed the temptation toward vainglory of its power. By choosing a life of poverty and simplicity, He overcame any temptation toward earthly wealth, even before it was offered to Him.

As we begin this forty-day Lenten journey, reflect, today, upon the sins and temptations in your life that need to be overcome. If you find yourself in an ongoing defensive position toward certain struggles, especially if you find yourself losing the battle at times, it's time to change your strategy. Embrace the opposite virtue of the sins you are most tempted with this Lent. Embrace those virtues in an offensive manner. Choose kindness if you struggle with anger. Choose fasting if you struggle with gluttony. Choose generosity if you struggle with greed. Whatever your struggle, turn to the virtue you need the most and make it your focus this Lent so that you, too, will be well-prepared to reject the evil one and his lies when temptation comes your way.

My tempted Lord, You resisted all temptation in Your life by choosing every good virtue and living them to perfection. Please help me to see the virtues I need the most right now and give me the strength I need to run toward them this Lent with all my heart. Jesus, I trust in You.

Prayer Group

The Mass is the most powerful prayer that exists. The Son of God physically enters the world at each and every Catholic Mass. Many of us see the Mass as routine and ordinary. But if we understood it better, we'd know without doubt that the Mass is the most important thing in our lives.

Our prayer group is going to study/discuss the Mass through an online series by Good Catholic. We meet on the third Monday of the month in Mazzuchelli Hall from 4-5pm. This invitation is to the whole pastorate. Contact Diane if interested, 608-477-3493.
