Mutual fund investing involves risk, including possible loss of principal. There can be no assurance that the Fund will achieve its stated objectives. Current and future holdings are subject to risk. Asset allocation may not protect against market risk. Investment in the Fund(s) is subject to the risks of the underlying Funds. Bonds are subject to interest rate risk and will decline in value as interest rates rise. Emerging markets involve heightened risks related to the same factors as well as increased volatility and lower trading volume. In addition to the normal risks associated with investing, international investments may involve risk of capital loss from unfavorable fluctuation in currency values, from differences in generally accepted accounting principles or from social, economic or political instability in other nations. Bonds and bond funds generally decrease in value as interest rates rise. Mortgage-backed securities are subject to prepayment and extension risk and therefore react differently to changes in interest rates than other bonds. Small movements in interest rates may quickly and significantly reduce the value of certain mortgage-backed securities. There is no guarantee that the Fund's income will be exempt from federal or state income taxes. Capital gains, if any, are subject to capital gains tax. Bonds and bond funds will decrease in value as interest rates rise. Income from municipal bonds may be subject to the alternative minimum tax. In addition to the normal risks associated with investing, investments in smaller companies typically exhibit higher volatility. An investment in the fund(s) is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government agency.

Price/Earnings is the ratio for valuing a company that measures its current share price relative to its per-share earnings. P/E helps to determine the relative value of a company's shares in an apples-to-apples comparison.

Return on Equity measures financial performance calculated by dividing net income by shareholders' equity. ROE measures how effectively management is using a company's assets to create profits.

Sharpe Ratio is a measure that indicates the average return minus the risk-free return divided by the standard deviation of return on an investment.

Beta is a measure of the volatility, or systematic risk, of a security or a portfolio in comparison to the market as a whole. Beta is used in the capital asset pricing model (CAPM), a model that calculates the expected return of an asset based on its beta and expected market returns.

Standard Deviation measures the dispersion of a set of data from its mean. The more spread apart the data, the higher the deviation. Standard deviation is calculated as the square root of variance. In finance, standard deviation is applied to the annual rate of return of an investment to measure the investment's volatility. Standard deviation is also known as historical volatility and is used by investors as a gauge for the amount of expected volatility.

Tracking Error shows a discrepancy between the price behavior of a position or a portfolio and the price behavior of a benchmark.

Effective Duration is a calculation for bonds with embedded options. Effective duration takes into account that expected cash flows will fluctuate as interest rates change.
