Impact

Let your heart be moved.

Be changed by the word of God. Be changed by the Word of God.

"Thus says the LORD: Just as from the heavens the rain and snow come down and do not return there till they have watered the earth, making it fertile and fruitful, giving seed to the one who sows and bread to the one who eats, so shall my word be that goes forth from my mouth; my word shall not return to me void, but shall do my will, achieving the end for which I sent it." (Is 55:10-11)

There is the word of God, words recorded in Sacred Scripture, that reveal who God is and what it means to live in right relationship with God and others. And there is the Word of God, Jesus Christ, who shows and shares God's love perfectly and who invites us, calls us, compels us to live as God desires. We are called to listen to God's word and to see God's love manifested in Jesus, the Word of God, so that we may be of one heart and mind with the Lord, bearing the fruit of God's love, justice, and peace in our lives, cities, and world.

All ears

We all know there is a difference between hearing and listening. Sometimes, perhaps often, we physically hear the things people are saying to us. We may hear the word of God proclaimed at Mass or in prayerful reading. We might hear the sound of a bird calling or child singing. But we do not always listen. With the word of God, we should be all ears. As St. Benedict says in his Rule, we should listen with the ear of our heart. We listen for the meaning of the passage in light of the circumstances of our lives and all that has been revealed through Scripture and Tradition.

Eyes wide open

Jesus looked beyond the surface and saw the pain, suffering, confusion, and sorrow of the people in his midst. He did not let anything stand between him and those who needed him. In seeing, he responded with God's mercy, forgiveness, and healing. As Christ's people, we are called to open our eyes to the needs of those around us. We must honestly examine our lives, admit that we are sometimes weak, selfish, complacent, or trapped by fear. With eyes wide open we see the ways we might show God's love through our attitudes and actions and resolve to respond as the Lord desires.

Hearts moved by love

Our Sunday readings this month challenge us to not only hear the word of God, but to take it deeply to our hearts, and to act on it. The word of God, we are told, is like a seed. Do we cultivate our hearts as good soil in which God's word may take root and grow? Do we open our minds to the challenge of living as Christ's people? Do we bear good fruit, as disciples and stewards who hear the call of Christ and respond with our lives? The Gospels may sound harsh at times, as Jesus describes the difference between those who are faithful and fruitful and those who are not. Yet when we allow God's Word to take root in our hearts, responding will not be burdensome, but rather, our lives will bear an abundant harvest of love in the world.

Faithful and fruitful

With our ears, eyes, and hearts open to the Word and the word, our lives will be transformed. Our hearts will be moved. We will become more like the One whose word we hear. Our listening to the Word of God will change us! We will be Christ's people in the world.

Impact this month

OPEN YOUR EARS

Prayerfully reflect on God's word and hear Christ's call more deeply in your life.

OPEN YOUR EYES

See the needs of people around you and the need for justice, peace, and hope in our world.

OPEN YOUR HEART

Allow God to transform your heart with love. Filled with love of God, make a commitment to love of neighbor.

BE FAITHFUL

Make a "conscious, firm decision, carried out in action, to be a follower of Jesus Christ, no matter the cost to yourself." (SDR, 1, adapted)

BE FRUITFUL

Examine your life, acknowledge areas of selfishness, prejudice, and complacency and resolve to take action.

© Catholic Life and Faith, 2023

Bring faith to life. Find life in faith.

Do you ever wish you could get your life in order? Start now.

Have you ever gathered with friends for a fun evening out and found yourself thinking about all of the things you have to do tomorrow? Or perhaps, you return home at the end of the night and realize that most of the conversations were about how busy life is. Our lives are filled with activity. We are tired, stressed, and can't think straight for all of the things we have to do. We need time away, yet at times, even the moments of vacation are planned down to the last minute. Some of the activity is good and necessary, but if we are honest with ourselves, we must admit that not all of it is. We might even benefit from a little down time every now and again.

Jesus has an answer for all of us to consider: put God first. All else will fall into place. (See Mt 10:37-42, the Gospel for July 2) Jesus tells the apostles to love him more than their father, mother, or children. That sounds harsh. Extreme. And in some ways, it is. Discipleship is an extreme way of life. And an extremely meaningful way to live. There is deep wisdom in Jesus' words. "Whoever finds his life will lose it, and whoever loses his life for my sake will find it." (Mt 10: 39) Do we not sometimes think we have "found" our lives in all of that activity and busy-ness, only to realize that we really are losing what is important in the process?

Putting God first immediately sets into motion a re-ordering of our lives. The things that are most important come first, and the ways in which we use our time and resources are a sign of what really matters, who really matters, in our lives. Jesus does not want us to ignore our family or friends, but wants our relationships and all that we do to be rooted in our loving relationship with God. Not only this. Jesus wants us to live for God and for others. Jesus assures us that we will find life in him. Our relationship with God will become the filter through which we determine our priorities. We will see all of the things vying for our time and attention through the eyes of God. Just as at the moment of creation, God will bring order to chaos, and call it good.

Take a chance. Start now. Put God first. All else will fall into place.

Issue 1

Asks voters if Ohio should "Require that any proposed amendment to the Constitution of the State of Ohio receive the approval of at least 60 percent of eligible voters voting on the proposed amendment."

Bishops' Position

The Bishops of Ohio do not have a position on Issue 1 as it does not have moral content.
