THANKSGIVING WEEKEND

This weekend is Thanksgiving weekend. With all the chaos and upheaval throughout the world and our current challenges locally and nationally, can we still be thankful? Yes. Thankfulness is a decision. We can choose to be thankful by turning to our God in all things and allowing him to enter into our lives. I have known people who have had everything and whined and complained as if they had nothing. I have also known people who have had nothing but because of their decision to choose to be thankful, had everything that really mattered. Since this weekend is also the feast of Christ the King, it is a great reminder that Jesus is in charge and we need to root ourselves in his sovereignty. Very often in the Old Testament, the Israelites would say, "We will do whatever you ask!" Faith is not just believing but doing what Jesus asks. When we acknowledge him as Lord, we can show our thankfulness by following his teachings out of appreciation and love for him. God has been so good to us and he isn't done yet. Let's choose to live by that reality with thankfulness and love.

Fin de semana de Acción de Gracias:

Este fin de semana es el fin de semana de Acción de Gracias. Con todo el caos y la agitación en todo el mundo y nuestros desafíos actuales a nivel local y nacional, ¿podemos todavía estar agradecidos? Sí. El agradecimiento es una decisión. Podemos elegir ser agradecidos recurriendo a nuestro Dios en todas las cosas y permitiéndole entrar en nuestras vidas. He conocido personas que lo han tenido todo y se han quejado y lloriqueado como si no tuvieran nada. También he conocido a personas que no han tenido nada pero por su decisión de elegir ser agradecidos, tuvieron todo lo que realmente importaba. Dado que este fin de semana es también la fiesta de Cristo Rey, es un gran recordatorio de que Jesús está a cargo y debemos arraigarnos en su soberanía. Muy a menudo en el Antiguo Testamento, los israelitas decían: "¡Haremos lo que nos pidas!". La fe no es sólo creer sino hacer lo que Jesús pide. Cuando lo reconocemos como Señor, podemos mostrar nuestro agradecimiento siguiendo sus enseñanzas por aprecio y amor a El. Dios ha sido tan bueno con nosotros y aún no ha terminado. Elijamos vivir esa realidad con agradecimiento y amor.

"Aid in dying" is often cloaked in the language of mercy, compassion, and even love. Here's the reality

A. Undermining the doctor's role

Assisted suicide undermines the physician's role as a healer. It forever alters the doctor-patient relationship, and lessens the quality of care provided to patients at the end of life. Patients are best served when medical professionals, together with families and loved ones, provide support and care with dignity and respect, not lethal doses of drugs. The American Medical Association continues to hold a strong policy position against physician-assisted suicide, which they say is "fundamentally incompatible with the physician's role" and would be "difficult or impossible to control."

B. Who profits? Insurance Companies

No one wants insurance companies to decide who gets life-sustaining treatments and who is denied. This is exactly what is happening in places where physician-assisted suicide is legal. Stephanie Packer, a 34-year-old mother of four living in California, was told her doctor-recommended chemotherapy treatment was denied by her insurance company. However, she was later informed that her plan would cover a lethal dose of suicide pills — at the incredibly low cost of $1.20. To read her whole story, visit www.stephaniesjourney.org.

C. Who loses? The marginalized in society

No matter how carefully any guidelines are framed, assisted suicide and euthanasia will be practiced through the prism of social inequality and bias. The practices will pose the greatest risks to those who are poor, disabled, elderly, members of a minority group, or those without access to good medical care. The growing concern about health care costs increases the risks.

D. Who else loses? EVERYONE

It was recently reported in Canada that euthanasia could save the socialized national healthcare system $139 million a year. We see the slippery slope in places where euthanasia has been legalized; killing another person becomes seen as "compassion". Those in power determine whose life is worth living and who is disposable.

Euthanasia Assisted Suicide

E. Where is physician-assisted suicide currently legal?

In North America, it is currently legal in Oregon, Washington, Vermont, California, Montana, Colorado, Washington DC, and throughout Canada.

Cardinal Gerald Lacroix of Quebec has suggested that individuals should speak with people who are nearing the end of their lives... "tell that person that he or she has a great worth in your eyes and will always be able to count on your presence," the Canadian primate suggested. He said that the results of these conversations would shed light on the question of assisted suicide because when people facing terminal illness feel that they are loved, they rarely wish to end their own lives. The demands for assisted suicide, the cardinal said, "disappear when someone is well accompanied." catholicculture.org
