From the desk of Father Rudolph

Father David...

The previous three weeks in this column, I passed on some thoughts from Bishop Robert Baron about the priestly roles of Adam, Noah, Jacob, and Jonah. Today I'd like to share with you some of Bishop Baron's observations about the priestly character of King David, plus some related thoughts that have occurred to me. I'm hoping they will help you out in some way, because all of God's people are called to participate in the priesthood of Jesus Christ, each in his or her own way.

Bishop Baron started his remarks about King David with the tragic, well-known story of David's adultery with Bathsheba:

In the spring of the year, the time when kings go forth to battle, David sent Joab, and his servants with him, and all Israel; and they ravaged the land of the Ammonites, and besieged Rabbah. But David remained at Jerusalem. It happened, late one afternoon, when David arose from his couch and was walking upon the roof of the king's house, that he saw from the roof a woman bathing; and the woman was very beautiful. And David sent and inquired about the woman. And one said, "Is this not Bathsheba, the daughter of Eliam, the wife of Uriah the Hittite? So David sent messengers, and took her; and she came to him, and he lay with her...Then she returned to her house. And the woman conceived; and she sent and told David, "I am with child" (2 Samuel 11:1-5).

The narrator goes on to tell us that David tried to cover up his sin by giving Bathsheba's husband Uriah—who was away at war—an opportunity to visit his wife, evidently hoping that they would sleep together and the unborn child could be assumed to be Uriah's. But Uriah, as an honorable man, refused to take an opportunity denied to his fellow soldiers. So David arranged for Uriah to be in a vulnerable position in a battle, and so killed. The story goes on:

"When the wife of Uriah heard that Uriah her husband was dead, she made lamentation for her husband. And when the mourning was over, David sent and brought her to his house, and she became his wife, and bore him a son. But the thing that David had done displeased the LORD" (2 Samuel 11:26-27).

Subsequently, the Lord sent the prophet Nathan to David. Nathan, in a powerful parable, nailed David to the wall morally, so to speak, and passed on God's message of punishment for David's sins of adultery and murder. David repented, and God forgave him, but the negative consequences foretold by Nathan were carried out over time.

So, what do these actions of a king have to do with priesthood? Bishop Baron pointed out that David had stayed home while his troops were out fighting. In those days, kings usually led their soldiers in battle. It was an occupational hazard, from which many kings died, but also a brave thing to do. David had fought in many battles, but this time he had wimped out. Bishop Baron drew the conclusion that David had succeeded when he had asked God what to do, and when he went on campaign, but when he stopped asking God what to do, and instead started acting like God—getting what he wanted using his power to do so—things went bad for him.

As the priestly people of God, we are supposed to be "on campaign" all the time. Not on military campaigns, but on spiritual ones. By our prayers and works of love, we are called to become a bridge between earth and heaven, between God and man, on which human beings can connect with God and be saved. Through the intercession of the Blessed Virgin Mary, who was totally united with the mission of her Divine Son, Jesus Christ, may we not be distracted from our God-given mission by our passions, or by the beauty of created things or people. Instead, may we realize, and keep in mind, that no one is more desirable or beautiful than God.

Yours in Christ,
Father Rudolph

TOTUS TUUS - 88 children and teens attended last week's Totus Tuus program. Students enjoyed skits and songs, games and activities, daily Mass, confession and adoration, and more. A very special thank you to our volunteers who supported the program throughout the week; those who gave their time, those who donated items, those who provided meals, and those who provided housing for the team. Please continue to pray that this experience will continue to bear fruit for those who attended.

This past week has been an exciting opportunity to experience our faith for us teachers, the students, and the community. As a team, we've received tremendous hospitality and support from parishioners, for which we are eternally grateful. It's wonderful to see the Holy Spirit at work in each and every one of our lives! Thank you so much for this wonderful week; we hope to see you next summer. Please keep us in your prayers as we continue Jesus' ministry on earth. - The Totus Tuus Team

Saint of the Day – Blessed Pietro of Mogliano

Pietro ("Peter" in English) was born in Mogliano in Italy in 1442. After studying law at the University of Perugia he decided to join the Observant Franciscans (a branch of the Friars Minor, aka the Franciscans). He made that choice after being greatly moved by the preaching of one of the friars. Pietro was clothed with the Franciscan habit in Assisi in 1467 and later was ordained a priest. His first assignment was to be a preaching companion to Saint James Gangali, who was one of the outstanding helpers of Saint John of Capistrano in spreading the Observant movement throughout Italy. Pietro turned out to be an effective preacher and spiritual director. He also served in several assistant leadership roles in the Order. To them he brought a high degree of prudence, dedication, and understanding of people and business. For the last three years of his life, Pietro was known locally as just "the holy father." People loved him so much that a crowd followed him wherever he went and on one occasion almost killed him by their over-enthusiastic attentions. He died on July 25, 1490, with the name of Jesus on his lips. Blessed Pietro of Mogliano, pray for us!
