From the desk of Father Rudolph

Leave it in the Trash...

Now that we are in Lent, many parishes have extra times for confessions. Some parishes use "The Order for Reconciling Individual Penitents," commonly known among us priests as "Form One." That's what we have five days a week here at St. Nick's. Other parishes use "The Order for Reconciling Several Penitents with Individual Confession and Absolution," known among priests as "Form Two." Here at St. Nick's that's offered once during Advent and once during Lent. That involves group prayers, reading of Scripture, and a brief homily followed by individual confession. What's not allowed in this Archdiocese—with a few potential exceptions—is "The Order of Reconciling Penitents with General Confession and Absolution," also known as "Form Three." That's for when there aren't enough priests to hear individual confessions within a suitable amount of time, which means one month. That situation doesn't exist in this area, though it might in some parts of the world with very few priests. Priests could also give general absolution to troops going into battle, a group of people about to be executed, or folks who are on a plane about to crash or a ship about to sink.

Moving on from those cheery thoughts, I'd like to mention a kind of confession that isn't in the Church's official manual for confessions known as the Order of Penance but is made use of by some people. It's commonly called "a general confession," and consists of someone telling a priest all the sins he or she can remember having committed as far back as memory goes—including sins committed before baptism and before their last confession.

There are two reasons people do this, as far as I can see. One reason is that it's a fast way for a spiritual director to get a long-term view of a directee's moral and spiritual history so as to have more knowledge from which to potentially give helpful advice and direction. Another reason is for penitents to bring up sins they think they might have forgotten to confess before or believe they didn't confess adequately.

There might be something to the first reason, and penitents are supposed to bring up grave sins they forgot to confess in a previous confession, but in a general confession, it is customary to bring up all sins, venial and mortal. I think that's problematic. How so?

For one thing, a general confession could be a swamp for people who suffer from scrupulosity. If they tend to worry needlessly about the quality of a previous confession—no matter how sincere and contrite—they may see making a general confession—or two or three or more of them—as a way to "get it right." They could be like a hamster in a wheel, seeming to accomplish something without actually getting anywhere.

Another problem I see with general confessions is that they go against the wonderful feeling of relief that's supposed to accompany having your sins washed away, in both the sacraments of baptism and reconciliation. Praise God, my sins are gone! I don't have to feel guilt or shame about them anymore! I am set free! No need to think about those sins anymore!

We can be sure the devil will try to make us think about our confessed and absolved sins again—but we shouldn't have to. But if we make a general confession, in a way we are doing the devil's work for him. It's like trying to unflush the toilet, or bring the garbage back into the house, or get water that's gone under the bridge to flow back upstream. Why would anyone want to do that? In the same way, let's rejoice in God's infinite mercy given us in the sacrament of reconciliation, and move forward in light, peace, and joy.

Your fellow sinner loved by God,

Father Rudolph

THANK YOU FROM ALPHA WOMEN'S CENTER

The Baby Bottle collection was a success, raising more than $2,800 for Alpha Women's Center's prolife work. Thank you to Fr. Rudolph, parish staff, the Respect Life committee, and all who donated to the collection. Your donations save lives – in fact, four babies were saved on our mobile clinics in January! Thank you for your generosity!

CHURCH HISTORIAN NEEDED

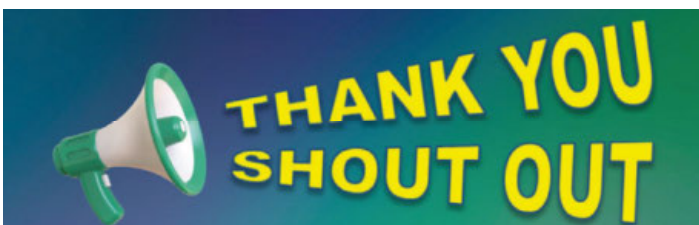

Do you love looking through old photos and newspaper clippings? Are you an organizer? St. Nicholas is looking for someone (or a group of people) to preserve our parish history by curating our collection of donated photos and historical documents. The goal is to create a storage system to make items accessible, as well as to create a display to share our history with parishioners and visitors. Contact Fr. Rudolph to volunteer or for more information.

Saint of the Day – Blessed John of Fiesole (Fra Angelico)

Guido di Piero was born in Vicchio di Mugello, a village near Fiesole, on the hills overlooking Florence, in what is now Italy, around the year 1400. He learned how to paint, joined the studio of a Florentine painting master, and was active in the Company of San Nicholas, a painting fraternity. Then, in 1418, he joined the Dominican religious order, entering the Convento di San Domenico in Fiesole, and taking the name Fra Giovanni (Brother or Friar John) in religion. A few years later, the friars moved into the Convento di San Marco in Florence, which was then rebuilt from 1437-52 through the patronage of the wealthy Medici family, the rulers of Florence, which was then an independent city-state.

At San Marco, Fra Giovanni started painting the walls, a project he continued working on for the rest of his life. This included painting a sacred scene in each friar's cell and at the end of every corridor. Subjects included the Mocking of Christ, Christ in the Sepulcher, the Transfiguration, and friars and nuns in meditation. Outside of San Marco, he painted numerous altarpieces, most showing the Madonna and Child (Blessed Virgin Mary and infant Jesus) with a group of saints. He also decorated two chapels at the Vatican, did a fresco in the Orvieto Cathedral, and painted some works in Saint Peter's Basilica in Rome and the pope's private study. Another work of his was The Last Judgment, painted for the Comaldolese Convent of Santa Maria dei Angeli.

Fra Giovanni eventually was given the nickname "Fra Angelico" (Angelic Friar), the name he is best known by today. His paintings represent beatitude—life seeing God—not things in themselves. Their purpose is supernatural. Another great painter, Michelangelo, wrote of him, "One has to believe that this good monk has visited paradise and been allowed to choose his models there." Fra Angelico, pray for us! Giving is Faith in Action

Your 2024 Catholic Services Appeal gift will transform countless lives by bringing Jesus to others through the education and outreach of ministries throughout the Archdiocese.

HOW YOUR GIFT MAKES AN IMPACTEDUCATE IN FAITH

An essential component of the Church's ministry is the education of the next generation of disciples, as well as the continuing formation of all its members.

HELP THOSE IN NEED

The Church is called to make the love of Jesus real and tangible in the world today, especially to the poor, the vulnerable and those on the peripheries.

STRENGTHEN IN FAITH

At the heart of the Church's ministry is facilitating for its members an encounter with the person of Jesus Christ. Central to what it means to be Catholic is the development of a friendship with Jesus through prayer and reflection.

PROTECT LIFE

Knowing that every human person has God-given dignity and together we can promote respect for life in all stages.

FIAT - FEBRUARY 25, 6:30 - 8:00 PM
(Fiat meaning "Let it be done")

All ladies 6th through 12th grade are invited to gather as daughters of our Almighty Father!! Growing in virtue & holiness with one another and our Jesus in and through our beautiful Mother Mary through our gift of womanhood is the mission of FIAT (our yes). Any questions please contact Angie Nicolai at AngienShop@msn.com.

PRAYER FOR LENT

Dear Jesus,
This weekend is the first Sunday of Lent, and I want to commit myself more deeply to you this season. Inspire me with the Lenten penances you most desire, the ones that help me to grow ever nearer to you. Amen.

Jesus, I trust in You!
