Fifth Sunday of Easter

“As I Have Loved You,
So You Should Love One Another”

What is new about the commandment is that we are to model our way of loving on Jesus himself. Jesus loved us by freely laying down his life for us. Our ability to love others in this kind of self-sacrificing way is the sign through which people will recognize us as disciples of Jesus.

As the Father has loved Jesus, and the Father and Jesus have loved us, so we are to love one another.

REFLECTION

Our Love of One Another Takes On A Sacramental Character

In an almost matter-of-fact voice, today's gospel begins with "when Judas had left them." The previous verses had described a dinner between intimate friends: Jesus washed his disciples' feet, indicating that they should do the same for one another. Soon after that, Jesus began talking about his betrayer. The gospel tells us that when Judas went out, it was night. When the powers of darkness seemed most overwhelming, Jesus began to speak of glory and love. His death on the cross would not be a victory for evil. It would be a means of glorifying God and a sacrifice that spelled out with clarity the depth of his love and God's love for sinners.

This is why, before his death, he wanted to gather his disciples for one last supper where he gave them a new commandment to love one another as he loved them.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY!

ORIENTATION

"As I loved you, so you also should love one another" (John 13:34). The love we have known through Jesus Christ is the most profound and unconditional divine gesture. This love accepts us in our iniquity and offers the first step toward reconciliation; it is a hopeful love that sees not what we have done but the best we are capable of. It sees in us our God-given beauty and dignity, even if we are unaware of this ourselves; thus, it is a joyful love that celebrated the life and spirit of each of us. Above all, it is an enduring love, a love that never fails and remains with us through thick and thin as a lifeline of grace. The love of God in Jesus Christ, the cause and culmination of his self-gift, continues to surround us in the genuine relationships we share with others. To love as Jesus did not only binds us to one another, but also evokes the Holy Spirit in our midst.

SECOND COLLECTION THIS WEEKEND

Retired & Needy Priests of the Diocese of Victoria

Priests devote their lives to furthering the mission of the Church and bringing people closer to Christ. In retirement, they continue to serve. They are the living roots of our sacramental community. Please be generous.

A NEW COMMANDMENT

Love one another.

No society can survive without tolerance. No society can thrive without mutual respect. Yet none of this is enough for the new community Jesus has formed. It required self-sacrificing love. It is hard enough to love those who are like us; how can we possibly love those who are different? And how can we love those who do not love us? We have seen bumper stickers that read: Perform a random act of kindness. They have not yet made one that reads: Love those who hate you. If we love in this way how will we be able to fight wars? Or rob or cheat or destroy? Or punish with our power or undermine with our influence? How will we be able to ignore pleading eyes just because the face is a different color or the hair is a different texture? It is no wonder the commandment is called new. This is something completely different. The new commandment is the law of the new heaven and the new earth established in the Church. Standards are entirely different here.
