A Word from Fr. Mike

"Why are you cast down, my soul?"

These words of the psalmist have never resonated more with me. In fact, I don't think the Psalms have ever felt more personal to me than they have this past week. In the sorrow and shock of what happened at Annunciation, God's Word has been my anchor. The Psalms are such a gift—they are God's own words expressing our words, giving voice to the whole range of human experience and emotion: joy, gratitude, despair, anger, fear, and hope.

At Fr. Zehren's Mass on that tragic day, the responsorial Psalm was Psalm 139: "You have searched me and you know me, Lord... If I sink to the nether world, you are present there... Even there your hand shall guide me, and your right hand hold me fast." To hear those words as horror unfolded is absolutely chilling to even imagine—and yet, they remain true. Even in the darkest place, God's hand does not let go of us.

That same morning, I prayed with Psalm 36:

"Sin speaks to the sinner in the depths of his heart... He plots the defeat of goodness as he lies on his bed."

It described the reality of evil with sobering accuracy. But it doesn't end there:

"With you is the fountain of life; in your light we see light. Continue your kindness for those who know you." Evil is real—but it does not have the final word.

Through acts of faith and courage, Christ's light can overcome any darkness.

And earlier this week, Psalm 42 echoed my own cry: "Why are you cast down, my soul, why groan within me? Hope in God; I will praise him still, my savior and my God!"

That's the beauty of the Psalms—there is no ache, no fear, no doubt too deep for God to hear. He takes every cry of the human heart and answers it with His presence.

So in the aftermath of such sorrow and devastation, this must be the Christian response: Hope in God; I will praise him still, my savior and my God. Let that hope take root in us—and spread to a world aching for light.

Honoring 18 Years at SVDP

We say farewell to Okey Anyanwu after serving our parish for the last 18 years. Okey and his wife have started their own home health and hospice service "Channel of Peace" located in Osseo. We are grateful to Okey for his commitment to the care and needs of others and wish him well in this new venture. His energetic spirit and passion for all he does will be missed.

Thank you, Okey.

"Maine, 1789: When the Kennebec River freezes, entombing a man in the ice, Martha Ballard is summoned to examine the body and determine cause of death. As a midwife and healer, she is privy to much of what goes on behind closed doors in Hallowell. When a local physician undermines her conclusion, declaring the death to be an accident, Martha is forced to investigate the shocking murder on her own. Over the course of one winter, as the trial nears, and whispers and prejudices mount, Martha doggedly pursues the truth. Her diary soon lands at the center of the scandal, implicating those she loves, and compelling Martha to decide where her own loyalties lie."

Please join us! New members are always welcome!
