Pastor's Perspective

Brothers and sisters,

There is a beautiful scene in the film, The Passion of the Christ. It takes place after Jesus has been brutally scourged at the pillar. After his abusers take him away, Mary, his Mother, and Mary Magdalene use their cloaks and clean, white cloths to soak up the Precious Blood that has been spilled so profusely on the ground.

Jesus' Mother immediately begins the task of reverencing her Son's blood without question. Her furrowed brow shows her anguish, but her actions are swift and purpose-filled. She will not allow one ounce of blood to remain. Mary Magdalene sees this act of love, and jumps into action to help her. But as she kneels on the ground, a memory is called to mind. The smell of the dirt and blood takes her back to her first encounter with Christ.

In the film, she is transported to when the Pharisees and Scribes stand with large stones in their hands, ready to punish her for her sin of adultery. We see Jesus kneel down to write in the sand. We don't know what he writes, but whatever it is, combined with his words, "Let the one of you that is without sin be the first to cast the stone," causes the men to drop the rocks and walk away.

Mary Magdalene recalls how she was protected by Jesus. Even though she was caught in the act and, by the standard of the law, guilty, he stands in her defense and stops the violent act against her. He challenges her accusers to admit they all fall short, and are all indebted to the mercy of God.

The film takes some poetic license with the story, but it reminds us that Jesus comes to radically challenge our ideas of justice. Jesus was tested by the Pharisees because they knew that the woman's guilt was undeniable; she had been caught red-handed. They also knew he was preaching love and forgiveness. They thought they could trap him into forgiving what they believed to be the unforgiveable. As Jesus so often does, he outsmarts them by going directly to the heart of the matter. He doesn't deny she has sinned, but he points out that if we are going to throw stones at sinners, we had better get ready for a stoning of our own.

Jesus sends them all away changed. The woman, traditionally believed to be Mary Magdalene, is purposefully unnamed so that we can insert ourselves into the story. Jesus' teaching is not just about her, but about every one of us. He loves her enough to show her mercy, but he also challenges her to go and sin no more. If it is Mary Magdalene that is depicted in the story, she shows her gratitude by staying with him, standing at the foot of the cross, and being the first to see him resurrected. She takes full advantage of Christ's mercy and becomes a model and saint that teaches us all how to love Jesus. That's what the power of God's love can do if we allow it.

We all know what the Scribes and Pharisees did in response to Jesus' teaching. They ended up taking out their wrath for this sinful woman on Jesus himself. In their desire for power and honor, they put an innocent man to death, and became examples of selfish temporal gain. Whose example will we follow?

As we draw closer to Holy Week, when the Passion of our Lord reminds us that without him there is no mercy, we must know that Precious Blood is spilled for all of us so we can repent and believe. Join us next Saturday, April 9, as we view The Passion of the Christ together at the LOOK theatre in downtown Redlands. Tickets may be purchased in the parish office for $5. The viewing will begin at Noon. (See Page 4.)

Let's enter Holy Week together as a community, meditating on the love Christ shows through his passion and death, so that we can spend eternity with him in Heaven.

Let us together glorify Christ's Holy Name!

Perspectiva del Párroco

Hermanos y hermanas,

Hay una escena hermosa en la película La Pasión de Cristo. Tiene lugar después de que Jesús fue brutalmente azotado en el pilar. Después de que sus abusadores se lo llevaron, María, su Madre, y María Magdalena usan sus mantos y paños blancos y limpios y los empapan de la Preciosa Sangre que fue derramada profusamente en el suelo.

La Madre de Jesús comienza inmediatamente la tarea de reverenciar la sangre de su Hijo sin dudarlo. Su ceño fruncido muestra su angustia, pero sus actos son rápidos y tienen un propósito. No permitirá que quede ni una gota de sangre. María Magdalena ve este acto de amor y entra en acción para ayudarla; pero al arrodillarse en el suelo, le viene un recuerdo. El olor a tierra y sangre la remonta a su primer encuentro con Cristo.

En la película, se le remonta al momento en que los fariseos y los escribas la rodeaban con grandes piedras en las manos, listos para castigarla por su pecado de adulterio. Vemos a Jesús que se arrodilla para escribir en la tierra. No sabemos lo que escribe, pero sea lo que sea, combinado con sus palabras: "Aquel de ustedes que no tenga pecado, que le tire la primera piedra", hace que los hombres suelten las piedras y se alejen.

María Magdalena recuerda cómo Jesús la protegió. A pesar de que fue sorprendida en el acto y, según la ley, culpable, él la defiende y detiene el acto de violencia contra ella. Jesús desafía a sus acusadores a admitir que todos tienen cola que les pisen y que están en deuda con la misericordia de Dios.

La película se toma la libertad de darle un giro poético a la historia, pero nos recuerda que Jesús viene a desafiar radicalmente nuestra interpretación de la justicia. Los fariseos pusieron a Jesús a prueba porque sabían que la culpa de la mujer era innegable; la habían agarrado con las manos en la masa. También sabían que Jesús predicaba el amor y el perdón. Pensaron que podrían tenderle una trampa para que perdonara lo que creían que era imperdonable. Como Jesús lo hace tan a menudo, los aventaja yendo directamente al meollo del asunto. Jesús no niega que la mujer haya pecado, pero señala que, si vamos a apedrear a los pecadores, vale más que nos preparemos para ser apedreados.

Jesús los aleja a todos cambiados. El nombre de la mujer, que tradicionalmente se cree que es María Magdalena, no se menciona a propósito para que nosotros podamos tomar su lugar en la historia. La enseñanza de Jesús no es solo sobre ella, sino sobre cada uno de nosotros. La ama lo suficiente como para mostrarle su misericordia, pero también la desafía a no pecar más. Si es María Magdalena la que se representa en la historia, ella muestra su agradecimiento quedándose con él, parada al pie de la cruz y siendo la primera en verlo resucitado; aprovecha al máximo la misericordia de Cristo y pasa a ser un modelo y una santa que nos enseña a todos a amar a Jesús. Eso es lo que puede hacer el poder del amor de Dios si se lo permitimos.

Todos sabemos lo que hicieron los escribas y los fariseos en respuesta a las enseñanzas de Jesús. Terminaron descargando su ira contra esta mujer pecadora en el mismo Jesús. En su deseo de poder y prestigio, dieron muerte a un hombre inocente y pasaron a ser ejemplos de una victoria temporal egoísta. ¿Cuál ejemplo seguiremos?

A medida que nos acercamos a la Semana Santa, cuando la Pasión de nuestro Señor nos recuerda que sin él no hay misericordia, debemos saber que la Preciosa Sangre se derrama por todos nosotros para que podamos arrepentirnos y creer. Acompáñenos el próximo sábado, 9 de abril, para ver juntos La Pasión de Cristo en LOOK theater en el centro de Redlands. Pueden comprar boletos en la oficina parroquial por solo $5. La película comenzará al mediodía. (leer la p. 4) Iniciemos la Semana Santa juntos, en comunidad, meditando sobre el amor que Cristo nos muestra con su pasión y muerte, para que podamos estar eternamente con él en el Cielo.

Last week, I shared about the parallels between the film, Wall Street, and the parable of the Prodigal Son. Like the adulterous woman in today's gospel, the Prodigal acted in ways that broke relationships and created distance between them and others. Betrayal causes pain, and, hurt people tend to hurt other people.

But, what did the Prodigal Son's father do when his son returned, humbled and hungry? He embraced him; and, by doing so, gave him back his dignity and hope for a new beginning. What does Jesus do with the adulterous woman? He stands and looks her in the eye to remind her of her true dignity; and He sent her forth to sin no more and begin anew.

Jesus did not seem to have a comfort zone, did he? He did not shy away from closely interacting with people who were "unworthy" for society to care about: the man who was blind, the Samaritan woman at the well, the man with leprosy, the adulterous woman, the hated tax collectors, homeless widows and begging children. Like a skilled teacher, or loving big brother, He bends down to where we are; He sits among us; He stands to confront us when needed; He purposely sees us.

We humans really love our comfort zones — so much so that we have created dual climate controls and adjusting beds to perfect our physical comfort level. We often balk at change — even pitching changes in baseball games! We all have "those people" (even in our parish) whose ideas we aren't so sure about, whether that's because they're trying to change too much or because they seem always to be looking toward the past.

As much as we may not want to admit it, we get deeply attached to our own personal comfort zones — and we tend to view those outside with distrust. We even label our brothers and sisters to dehumanize them.

But what if God had a comfort zone? What if He viewed us, in our sin and our misery, as too "far away" from Himself to reach? Thankfully, our God instead "opens a way in the sea and a path in the mighty waters." Our God is a God who does "something new."

God challenges us to "make a way" out of our comfort zones, to stop possessing his gifts for our inner circles and instead, share them for the benefit of others. Let go, put God first, and give from the top… and, while you're at it, try sitting in a different pew!

Seminarian Vocation Story — Oliver Garcia Tirado

Greetings,

My name is Oliver Garcia Tirado. I am 21 years old, a parishioner here at Holy Name of Jesus, and a third-year seminarian for the Diocese of San Bernardino Throughout history, mankind has sought to answer these two questions: Who Am I? and, How can I attain happiness?

I recall the first time I considered the call to the priesthood around the age of 3 years old. It was a beautiful morning when I arrived at the church with my grandma who had to attend to some ministry affairs. As I sat in the pew, I was drawn towards the sanctuary where a beautiful but sorrowful crucifix was placed. As I looked into the piercing gaze of our Lord, the sacristan came to me and asked if I wanted to see Jesus up close. I nodded with great joy, and as he picked me up, he said, "He loves you this much that he was willing to die for you." Although I didn't completely understand what he meant, those words stayed with me. I just knew that if this man on the cross was willing to sacrifice himself for me, I wanted to return that love back.

As I got older, the thought of becoming a priest was placed in the back of my mind where it got buried, but little did I know that the planted seed would sooner or later sprout.

I was so eager to make my First Communion that I constantly reminded my parents to sign me up. I knew that I was not only going to be able to receive Jesus in the Blessed Sacrament, but also would be able to serve as an altar server. Although my love for Jesus grew, my vocation was not my priority.

As I entered middle school and high school, my plans were to become an optometrist, an eye doctor. I had planned my life by imagining myself married, living in the mountains with my wife and children, and a beautiful dog. Well, the Lord had other plans in mind. As I served as a catechist, an altar server, and a youth leader, my heart gravitated more towards the vocation of the priesthood. I wrestled with this idea greatly, for my plans would have to change, and I was afraid I would live a sad and lonely life if I were to become a priest. So one day in prayer, I told God: if I become a priest, please grant joy and peace and help me never lose it.

In my senior year of high school in 2019, I submitted my application to St. Junipero Serra House of Formation. In August that same year, I was accepted into the seminary and began my formation. The seminarian program has been a wonderful adventure. It helped me to grow in intimacy with Christ, in which not only have I grown in knowledge, but also in faith and love. It has allowed me to experience the Gospels in action and to live the joy of the Gospel. The program has been a blessing as it allows my brothers and me to direct our time, talents and presence to God and His Church. I find great joy in being able to grow in my relationship with God, and in the process, I am looking forward to serving the people of God.

After three years in my journey I can testify that they have been challenging, but they have also been filled with great joy and peace. And it is all thanks to you, your love, your prayers and your financial help!

I want to thank you for faithfully supporting the Seminarian formation program in our diocese through the DDF Annual Appeal. Your support is a testament of your love for God and also for His Church. Out of your intimacy with God, you have been moved to share your gifts with us.

Thank you for your courageousness in answering the call of the Lord to help the formation of future priests. I am grateful for your prayers and support. I am praying for you. Please pray for me.
