Twentieth Sunday in Ordinary Time

Dear Friends,

If you read Matthew's account leading up to our text for this weekend, you can understand why, Jesus, after all, had spent a very long day curing the sick; they had all been involved in feeding a multitude of people with nothing more than loaves and fishes; and even now, there was the matter of getting this crowd over 5,000-plus to disperse. Additionally, Jesus had been looking for a way to withdraw, so that he could be alone to pray; so it just sort of followed that he would send his disciples on ahead to cross the Sea of Galilee.

For the disciples, however, it was a strange and uncertain experience! They had not really spent all that much time apart from Jesus since they had begun to follow him, and they were unsure as to exactly where they were supposed to go, or what they were to do when they got there; and, by the way, what if Jesus didn't catch up with them; what if he "missed the boat," so to speak... what then? If that weren't enough, now it is well into the night, the wind's picking up and "the boat, battered by the waves, was far from land, for the wind was against them." So now here we have all these disciples crowded together in a flimsy little boat; trembling and fearful for their lives and no doubt crying out, "OK, Jesus... you sent us out here... what do we do now?"

Can you imagine the scene? It is the early hours of the morning, still very dark, and the wind is whistling; the rain is coming down in sheets, and water is swelling up the side of the boat and washing inside. Even though most of them are fishermen (maybe because most of them are fishermen and know what kind of mortal danger the sea brings forth), they are... terrified, and moreover, wondering why Jesus would ever send them on a night like this!

But that is when it happens: something unexpected; something miraculous. The disciples look out beyond their boat into the raging storm and they see him! They see Jesus—walking toward them on the sea; walking on water! Of course, their first response is to cry out in fear, if what they are seeing is a ghost. But no... it is Jesus, who immediately speaks to them, saying "Take heart, it is I; do not be afraid."

It is unexpected because by now the disciples are sure their lives are done; and it is a miracle because everyone knows you can not walk on water! But here is Jesus, doing just that; walking on water beyond all human ability and overcoming the utter chaos of deep, turbulent waters, all to let these fearful and panic-stricken followers of his know that "it is well," and that the seas, while stormy now, would soon be calm for the journey ahead. That, in and of itself is a powerful word; and it is no wonder that at the end of all the disciples, "exhausted by the storm and overwhelmed by what they have witnessed... make the first profession of faith in Matthew's gospel: 'You are the Son of God.'"

This is a story that serves to remind us that in all of life's chaos and confusion, we can take heart because we are never alone; but in the presence of one who can and does calm our fears and promises. As the song goes, we will be "safe and secure from all alarms." And that is important to know, because life is filled with storms; the kind of chaos that threatens to undo us: disasters, natural and otherwise, descend; jobs disappear; relationships disintegrate; we lose touch with people, values and practices; death rips us apart. It is times like these when you and I need to know that we have the Lord at our side to help us weather the storm.

That is what happens here in the gospel...but that is not the end of the story. What also happens is that Peter—bold, impetuous, Peter—sees Jesus walking on the water and calls out, “Lord, if it is you, command me to come to you on the water.” What does Jesus do? He calls back to Peter, perhaps with a bit of a smile on his face, “Come!” And Peter – God bless him, with the storm still raging all around them, gets out of the boat! He doesn’t get very far, mind you, before fear takes over and he loses heart, sinking like a stone, that is, until Jesus reaches out and grabs Peter by the tunic and brings him to safety.

You see, the journey may not always be easy, but once you have moved forward and the way ahead is clear; once you have caught sight of your destination and know the reason that you were so bold, won’t you be glad that you decided not to stay in the boat?

“Come.” That is how Jesus is calling you and me; that is how Jesus calls us all. So how will you respond? I hope that we will all give that some thought and prayer in the days to come...

Peace and Blessings, Father Denis

Baking for Education

This is Courtney Cassidy, a sophomore in high school and a former student at OLV. I recently created a page on JustGiving.com titled Baking for Education. I created this page so I could sell my homemade desserts and donate the proceeds to the Mercy Education Project.

The Mercy Education Project provides tutoring, educational summer camps, and literacy programs that prepare girls and women in Detroit for college and joining the workforce. I'm very grateful for my education at OLV and my current school, Cranbrook. My goal is to help other girls in Detroit receive similar educational opportunities. Also, my friend Eliza Thayer who is a junior at Divine Child High School has been helping me with Baking for Education. Together we have been developing recipes, marketing, and packaging to ensure the success of our fundraiser. All this information and more is on my fundraising page on JustGiving.com.

Orders are still being filed. Check us out today! The menu and ordering instructions can be found at: www.justgiving.com/fundraising/bakingforeducation.

Thank you, Courtney Cassidy

In today's Gospel (Matthew 14:22-33) Jesus immediately stretched out his hand and caught Peter, and said to him, "O you of little faith, why did you doubt?"

When the disciples were terrified, Jesus instantly responded to them: "Take courage, it is I; do not be afraid." Jesus is always interested in trying to lighten our fears. When he comes to us in Holy Communion, he assures us that he is giving us everlasting life. This is a great assurance because our ultimate natural fear is the fear of death. Jesus can take care of our greatest natural fear ... death ... and he will also take care of many other fears hidden in our hearts. Some of these are known to us, others are not. To us, as to the frightened disciples, Jesus keeps saying: "Take courage, it is I; do not be afraid."
(McCullen, Deep Down Things, p. 735)

SACRED HEART Major Seminary CELEBRATES 100 YEARS!

Sacred Heart's history is memorable, and worth reflecting on. More than a year ago we commissioned a book to chronicle our history, Bishop Gallagher's vision to open a seminary in Detroit, from its stunning gothic architecture to the civil disturbances that formed our students, strengthened our resolve to remain in and to serve the city, and all those on the periphery.

This beautiful keepsake book is filled with historic photographs and a fast-paced narrative that takes readers through the chapel, our devotion to the Sacred Heart, our priestly formation, seminarian life, our world renown faculty, and our mission to advance the New Evangelization, among other topics. You can purchase one of these limited-edition books for $60. Please visit: www.shms.edu/centennial-book.

FORMED Feedback Request

FORMED is an online media resource from the Augustine Institute offering Catholics opportunities for entertainment, studies and sharing. To utilize FORMED there is a sign up and a subscription cost. For our OLV parishioners and online users this cost has been covered. Each year, we look at the number of those using FORMED as we plan for the following year. This year, before we renew, we would like parishioner feedback.

If you are using FORMED for family entertainment and enrichment, or personal growth we want to hear from you! Please email Deacon Ric at rmisiak@olvnorthville.net by August 21, and let him know what FORMED offerings you are using and with what frequency. We, truly, appreciate your feedback.

Election Prayer

Lord Jesus Christ, You told us to give to Caesar what belongs to Caesar, and to God what belongs to God. Enlighten the minds of our people in America. May we choose a President of the United States, and other government officials, according to Your Divine Will. Give our citizens the courage to choose leaders of our nation who respect the sanctity of unborn human life, the sanctity of marriage, the sanctity of marital relations, the sanctity of the family, and the sanctity of the aging. Grant us the wisdom to give You, what belongs to You, our God. If we do this, as a nation, we are confident You will give us an abundance of Your blessings through our elected leaders. Amen.

CATHOLIC SOCIAL TEACHING: “THE DIGNITY OF WORK & THE RIGHTS OF WORKERS”

Catholic Social Teaching points out the economy must serve people, not the other way around and that work is more than a way to make a living; it is a form of continuing participation in God’s creation. It doesn’t matter where one may fall on the scale of a given field, job, or career, or what one may do within the scope of the area in which they work. All of our jobs are valuable pieces of a puzzle that in the end, should help the human family to flourish. And we need to realize that the fruits of our labor, whatever it may be, should be directed toward the common good. It’s like a successful sports team, when every team member does their job the best they can and with the team’s success as their goal—the team will do well.

Respecting and protecting the dignity of work helps us to get to that goal. Our faith tradition teaches us that in addition to respecting basic rights for workers there is the right to productive work, to decent and fair wages, to the organization and joining of unions, to private property, and to economic initiative. In the above quote Jesus asks us “just who was neighbor?” Are we up to answering the question?

It would be wonderful if greed, egos, thirst for power and control didn’t exist.

But they do and have since, well, since the beginning.

Our challenge as Catholics is to always keep Jesus as our guide and our heart. Jesus never fails us.

Seven Key Themes Seven for Catholic Social Teaching

- Life and Dignity of the Human Person
- Call to Family, Community, and Participation
- Rights and Responsibilities
- Option for the Poor and Vulnerable
- The Dignity of Work and the Rights of Workers
- Solidarity
- Care for God’s Creation
