Rev. Denis B. Theroux, Pastor

Fifth Sunday of Easter

Dear Friends,

"Do not let your hearts be troubled, you have faith in God have faith also in me, in my Father's House, there are many dwelling places."

This verse could well be called a Manual for Stress Management, a manual written by Jesus, a working remedy for anxious and troubled hearts.

This verse comes right after Jesus' revelation to Peter that he is about to deny him. As we all can imagine, this came as a shock to Peter. He did not believe he was capable of such a thing. Yet these words about troubled hearts are not addressed to him alone. The plural is used for "your" here: "Do not let your hearts be troubled" includes all the disciples; all of us.

I think all of us can understand why they would be greatly troubled. They were aware of the mounting threat to Jesus, and that the priests and the rulers of the Jews were out to put him to death. Also, they were no doubt ashamed of their own behavior at the Last Supper, arguing about who was the greatest till the Lord rebuked them by washing their feet, much to their shame and embarrassment. They then were uneasy when Jesus declared that one of them was going to betray him. They were confused and puzzled by the sudden exodus of Judas from their midst. Most of all, they were afraid of losing Jesus. They were troubled by his words that he was about to take his leave and that they would look for him but would see him no more. Anxiety filled their minds and the cold clench of fear gripped their hearts.

Since we are also disciples of Jesus, and can rightly include ourselves in words like this, and like many who have gone before us, they've wondered and asked, "So, is it wrong for Christians to be troubled like this? Are we expected to never feel anxious, worried, or afraid?"

I believe over the years many have thought that this is exactly what Jesus was saying. But they forget that Jesus himself was not immune to this kind of reaction to pressure. In fact, in the chapters before this one, John, using the same Greek word on those occasions as he has here, records that Jesus says on three previous occasions that He was "deeply troubled in spirit." Accordingly it is clear that all of us can expect to feel troubled at times. Christians, like all peoples, are unprotected to pressure and danger. We know that the apostles went through times of great peril, during which they feared and trembled. Therefore it is not wrong for us to feel pressured, anxious and even fearful at times. What Jesus is teaching his disciples and us, is that, while we cannot prevent stress, and challenge, you and I... we can overcome it.

What Jesus suggests in these words is simple, what he says, "You believe in God, believe also in me." In this translation both of those words "believe" are commands. Some questions have surfaced among commentators as to whether these should be indicative statements: "You do believe in God; you do believe in me," or whether they are commands, as rendered here. The Greek text however, bears either rendering. The best way to take it, in line with the context, is, "You do believe in God; believe also in me."

What Jesus means is, "You have found relief for worry many times in the promises of God." They had the Old Testament, with its rich heritage of wonderful promises, and they had found strength and help from those passages in times of pressure. But now he gives them new truth which goes beyond anything in the Old Testament. "I want you to believe this, too," he tells them. "You have believed in God; now believe in me." Here, Jesus obviously moves himself onto a plane of equality with the Father, speaking not only as a man but also as God. He begins to reveal to them the things that had been kept secret since the foundation of the world; "Trust in me, for the Father and I are ONE."

Placing all my trust in Jesus, Father Denis

SUMMER WORK Opportunity at OLV

Do you have a College age student or know of one who is looking for a part time or a full time job for the summer? If the answer is yes, OLV might be able to help! The past few years we have employed a number of late High School and College age students to work in the Summer Cleaning of our school Building. Everyone works in teams and NO one is asked to do anything that is dangerous or potentially harmful to their person. A number of "seasoned" adults work along with every team as they progress through the 77,000 square feet of the school building.

So, if you know someone who might be looking for work on a few days, 8 or 16 hours, or someone looking for 30 to 40 hours, please contact Joan Marley by calling the OLV Parish Office at (248) 349-2621.

~Thanks, Fr. Denis

Spring Cleaning!

Lent has come & gone—Easter Sunday is past...
But the Easter Season is still here!

Being in the spring Easter and its invitation to new life invites us to put the finish on those areas of our lives that might need a little spring cleaning. Before the school year ends take some time to look inside and see what items you may need to clean up as the summer nears!

See Everyone at Life Teen, this Sunday, May 7, at 6 p.m., in the Neumann Room! We'll take a look at some of the "cobwebs" that we can clean up.

2023 TIMOTHY RECOGNITION AWARD

On Sunday, April 30, St. Thomas a'Becket in Canton hosted the 2023 Timothy Recognition Award. Recognized from our Parish were: Christopher Stockyj, Violet Culp, Anthony Gennaro, Ireland Perttunen, Lauren Gawne and Nathan George (left to right). We congratulate them and applaud all of the teens in the Our Lady of Victory community who do so much!

It is hard to believe the 8th grade students are in their final weeks of classes at Our Lady of Victory. It seems like just yesterday they were in Kindergarten. During the last month, 8th graders have put their technology and engineering skills to the test. They are in a nation-wide competition in which elementary and middle school-aged students create 3-D models of colonies on Mars.

For this project, students create a 3-D model incorporating zones crucial to life, along with a video displaying all of their hard work. They have the choice of which location to build their colony, how they will feed their colonists, combat gravitational differences and even how they will ensure the healthy mental state of colonists while staying on budget. Students have spent weeks researching the challenges of the Martian environment, designing and building their models, and creating their videos. On May 5, their finished projects will be submitted to a panel of judges in Texas and should receive feedback in the following weeks.

So, here's to the 8th graders traveling to highschool and beyond! Thank you for so many wonderful memories! It has been a blessing to be your teacher.

Good luck in your next academic adventure!

Haiti Outreach Mission

Merci, Merci, Merci Beaucoup Our Lady of Victory and Fr. Denis, for supporting Haiti Outreach Mission for 20 years!

Our partners in Mirebalais, Haiti are the pastor of St. Louis Catholic Church, Fr. Romel Eustache and the rector of St. Pierre Episcopal Church, Fr. Alphonse Jean Philippe. We support a medical/dental clinic, a water purification system, humanitarian assistance and construction projects. HOM operates solely with volunteer personnel and has virtually no overhead.

In much of Haiti, the current violence and instability is some of the worst seen in four decades. Up to 90% of Port-au-Prince is controlled by gangs, and after a spree of police killings earlier this year, indiscriminate violence and kidnappings are now also a daily threat.

OLV St. Vincent de Paul Society Conference #437

Live Your Faith.

Join the Society of St. Vincent de Paul.

In today's Gospel (John 14:1-12), Jesus says "...whoever believes in me will do the works that I do, and will do greater ones than these, because I am going to the Father."

Jesus is the Way-the Truth-and the Life... the good news is when we relate to Jesus, we are relating to God and when we encounter the risen Christ we encounter God. We encounter the risen Christ by doing the works of Christ and recognizing Christ in each other. Our baptism plunges us not only into a relationship with the Triune God but also with each other. Our belief in the resurrection and the good news of salvation isn't something that just stays in our heads but is played out in the way we treat others in justice, mercy, forgiveness and love. That is the good news! (Living Liturgy, p.134)

OLV's St. Vincent de Paul Ministry is always looking for parishioners to join us in our work. If you are looking for a way to help those in need, please call us at (248) 349-2622 or e-mail us at: stvincent@olvnorthville.net.

Or join us at our next SVdP meeting this Tuesday, May 9, at 7:00 PM, in the St. John XXIII room.
