Fall Study Group: St. Augustine's Confessions

Mondays this fall we will be reading St. Augustine's biography the Confessions, lead by Fr. Richard Smith, a priest of the Archdiocese of New York. The Confessions is one of the most widely read, important, and influential books in Christianity – and for good reason. Augustine takes a deep look at the human heart and our desire and capacity for God. He guides us through his own journey towards God and in the process teaches us about our own hearts and vocation to follow Jesus. We will meet via Zoom on Mondays Starting on September 9th at 6:30pm for an hour. Copies of the Confessions are available for purchase at the Rectory office.
