Lord Jesus, as You once called the first disciples to make them fishers of men, let your sweet invitation continue to resound: Come, follow Me!

Give young men and women the grace of responding quickly to Your voice. Support our Bishops, priests, and consecrated people in their apostolic labor.

Grant perseverance to our seminarians and to all those who are carrying out the ideal of a life totally consecrated to Your service.

Mary, Mother of the Church, the model of every vocation, help us to say "Yes" to the Lord who calls us to cooperate in the divine plan of salvation. Amen.

Como llamaste un día a los primeros discípulos para hacerlos pescadores de hombres, continúa también haciendo resonar hoy tu dulce invitación: ¡Ven y Sígueme!

Da a los jóvenes y a las jóvenes la gracia de responder prontamente a Tu voz. Sostén en sus fatigas apostólicas a nuestros obispos, sacerdotes y personas consagradas.

Da perseverancia a nuestros seminaristas y a todos los que están realizando un ideal de vida totalmente consagrado a tu servicio. Despierta en nuestra comunidad el empeño misionero.

María, Madre de la Iglesia, modelo de toda vocación, ayúdanos a decir "SÍ" al Señor que nos llama a colaborar en el designio divino de Salvación. Amén.

San Juan Pablo II

Edgar Quiroga Ceballos was born on May 20th 1991 in Cd. Guzman, Jalisco Mexico. He was raised in Tecalitlan Jalisco Mexico. His parents are Enedina Ceballos and Miguel Quiroga. He is the third of three. His siblings are Miguel E. Quiroga and Ulises E. Quiroga.

He went to Carolina Algeria Elementary School. (1999-2005) He then attended the public Junior High School in town, "Escuela Secundaria Técnica No. 32th." (2005-2008)

When he graduated and after speaking with the local Pastor in his town, he got to experienced the Pre-Seminario, (a one week long program to enter into seminary formation). He was subsequently accepted in the Minor Seminary "Jose Amador Velasco" (class 2008-2011).

Feeling a deep desire to continue formation, he studied four years of Philosophy in the Major Seminary of the Precious Blood of Christ in Colima and one year of Theology in the same institution (2011-2015). 2015 was a year of change for Edgar he felt the desire to do some thing else and to go somewhere else. Speaking to Father Cesar he decided to join the Diocese of Yakima and when he finished the first year of Theology he came to meet Bishop Tyson who sent him to study English for one year at Central Washington University (2015-2016).

While he was studying there, in order for him to learn the culture and the language faster he was hosted by one of our Parishioners, the Shirey's accepted Edgar in their home. He live with them and their home became a second home for Edgar.

Before going to Mundelein, he went to Christ the King Parish in Richland for half a year to learn more about ministry.

He continued with his studies in Theology but this time in Mundelein Seminary in Chicago. This year he completed his third year in theology and next year he will complete his formation and will be ordained priest.

Let us pray for Edgar Quiroga this week and help us congratulate him on his Transitional Diaconate Ordination, taking place this Friday, here at Holy Family, his home parish at 7:00pm.

Family Connection

loyolapress.com/our-catholic-faith/

Not only can we recognize family members' voices, we can also read the tone of their voices and know something about how they are feeling. In our relationship with Jesus, we know Jesus' voice and are called to follow. Jesus doesn't just bring us closer to the Father, Jesus puts us directly into contact with God the Father, removing all distance between us. In the Gospel of John, Jesus identifies so closely with the Father that he tells us that they are one—not just close, but actually one. Knowing Jesus means knowing the Father.

Read with your family today's Gospel, John 10:27-30. Ask your family members to talk about some ways that Jesus brings them closer to God and closer to one another. Pray together the Acts of Faith, Hope, and Love.

May is for Mary

By Caitlin Kennell Kim <https://bustedhalo.com/features/may-is-for-mary>

The first time my now husband came to lunch in my tiny studio apartment he looked with puzzled amusement at the statues and icons of the Blessed Virgin Mary that dotted my closet-sized dwelling and noted that I was “a very strange sort of Protestant.” Long before I became Catholic I loved Our Lady. Her strength and beauty have endeared her to me ever since my grandmother (an ardent and lifelong Presbyterian) gave me a holy card with a picture of Our Lady of Grace on the front and the Hail Mary printed on the back as a souvenir from our visit to a church in Niagara Falls. When I asked her what it was, she said, without so much as a pause, “a Catholic baseball card.” It has survived my downright legendary ability to misplace things and no less than eight poorly organized and executed moves. It sits on our mantel. (It should be noted that while I highly doubt that this would pass muster under the Church’s careful and strident definition of the miraculous, it is surely phenomenal in the somewhat messy reality that is my life.)

As someone with a particularly active devotion to Mary, I look forward to the beginning of May every year. The Church has commended the practice of a month of Marian devotion during May for centuries. We celebrate Mary as the mother of Christ — of Life that overflows and saturates and renews the whole world — and we celebrate Mary as our own Blessed Mother — the mother of every single one of us who envelopes us in her dynamic love and fervent protection. In May, we let ourselves become overcome with admiration for our Mother so that we might begin to imitate her. We imitate her so that we might love God more fully, more recklessly, more courageously. We strive to be passionate lovers of God so we might attain excellence in our love for each other. We strive for excellence in love because this world needs it ... and desperately. Our month of Marian devotion is our school of love and justice. We need only sit at our Mother’s feet and learn.

Class is in session, and, you guessed it, here’s your homework:

Learn a Marian prayer

Whether you are a longtime admirer of Mary or completely new to Marian devotion, there’s a prayer for you (see sidebar). When we pray them we are asking for her intercession on our behalf and on behalf of our communities and our world. We are praying with Mary as opposed to praying to Mary. We do so because we trust her, because her trust in God is perfect. We do so because we know she will give voice to the hopes, the sorrows, and the burdens that we carry but cannot put into words. She prays with us and through us when we haven’t the strength to pray for ourselves.

Make May baskets

During the Victorian era, the European tradition of May baskets snuck across the Atlantic for a few splendid years. The May basket was to be filled with flowers and small treats and left hanging from the doorknob of neighbors and sweethearts. The object was to leave your gift anonymously and without being discovered in the act. Renew this lovely tradition but do it with a Marian twist. In honor of Our Lady’s month and her solidarity with the poor, suffering, and vulnerable, make one for someone in need — a single parent, someone who is grieving, someone who lost their job, or an elderly person who is lonely. Fill the basket with flowers, fresh produce from your local farmers market, a loaf of bread, a gift card to your local grocery store, a book of poems, a picture of the Blessed Mother, diapers — be creative!

Crown our Queen

Every year on the first of May our little ones march into the backyard to make a crown for “Mama Mary.” We use honeysuckles because they grow (prolifically, I might add) around our fence. Traditionally roses are used, but I like to think the sweetness and wildness of the honeysuckles placed so lovingly on her statue in the middle of our overgrown vegetable garden make for an equally regal coronation. We crown Mary to show honor and affection for our Queen — the poor teenage girl living in a small village in an occupied country chosen to be the Mother of God and who gave her consent to tend to the unfurling of great untamable Love. We crown her in May because, in the midst of a month that resounds with the million little blossoming, hatching, sprouting “yes’s” nature is pleased to make to her Creator, Mary stands as our model of the million little “yes’s” we are called to make to God. If you don’t have any Marian statues, go ahead and break out the crayons. (I won’t tell.) Crown her on your fridge. Let it be a daily reminder of what you find true and beautiful and admirable. Then go out into the world and be those things with all of your heart and all of your soul and all of your mind and all of your strength. Your Queen — the Mother of Jesus, Incarnate Love and Justice — commands you.

Honor every mother

It is no coincidence that Mother’s Day falls on the second Sunday of May. We celebrate the goodness Aborn of springtime and of ultimate Goodness born of Mary and the goodness we receive from our own mothers. This year, in honor of Mary, honor all mothers. Help a mother struggling with groceries and small children to her car. Look through your closet for professional attire you could donate to a women’s shelter to give a mother a chance at a new job and a new life for her family. Visit an elderly relative, friend, or neighbor who is widowed or lives on her own. Donate to a charity that promotes small, woman-owned businesses in the developing world. Smile the next time you see a pregnant teenager on the bus or in the mall or behind the counter at your favorite fast food chain. Congratulate her. Ask her if she could use a few things for her baby. She has a perilous journey ahead of her. She needs kindness and affirmation. Not judgment. Honor them all. Honor the ones that are all too often forgotten.

In today's gospel Jesus describes himself as a shepherd who loves and cares for his sheep. Those who follow Jesus are his sheep. Today's gospel passage tells us that those who belong to Jesus are held safely in the hand of God.

Jesus also promises that his sheep will never perish. Not only does Jesus give his followers guidance and protection, they are also promised the gift of eternal life.

Family Questions:

How does it help us to know that we are safely held in God's hand?
How do we show Jesus that we love him?
How can we help others to follow Jesus?

Infant Baptisms take place on the 1st, 3rd & 5th weekends during Mass; and on the 2nd & 4th Sunday in the chapel at 10:15am:
