YEAR OF GRACE ON THE Real Presence CORPUS CHRISTI 2021-2022

THE REAL PRESENCE OF JESUS IN THE EUCHARIST

-Bishop Robert Barron, taken from 2020 Religious Education Congress (Part 5)

...With that I'm gonna leap forward now a few more centuries, to the 11th Century. I'm now moving into France and specifically the town of Tours central France, kind of southwest of Paris. I want to look at this figure, Berengarius of Tour and not a household name, but yet, trust me when I tell you, 70% of our own Catholic Brothers and sisters interviewed by that Pew Form Study, we're basically hanging on to Berengarian understanding of the Eucharist, so it's important for us to go back and take a look at this view.

Berengarius was head of the Cathedral School of Tour, so if the great Cathedral schools of Paris and Charles and Tour and other placers, were the root of most of the medieval universities, were now in the early stage of the Middle Ages and Berengarius is the director of this prominent school of Tour, like a lot of his medieval colleagues, Berengarius is very interested in questions of language and logic and rhetoric so you see this coming up through people like Thomas Aquinas later. With a hyper concern for getting the language right, and again, we shouldn't despise that, that's part of our great tradition as people are reflecting intellectually on the implications of faith they make these distinctions and clarifications so we shouldn't see that as something wrong. Berengarius is trying to be clear about the Eucharist. So, here's the position he lays out, there is a difference, he says, between the historical body of Jesus born of the virgin and now reigning in heaven and the body that appears sacramentally in the Eucharist. The latter must be a sort of symbol or figure of the former.

Okay, pretty clear huh, there's the body of Jesus, born of Mary, crucified, died, risen from the dead, ascended now in heaven, there's that body. Then there's this body that appears Eucharistically and it's best construed as a symbol, a sign or a figure of the heavenly body of Jesus. Yea, clearer, there's something always attractive about it, because it's kind of common, that experience. What's his scriptural warrant? It's Paul's claim in Second Corinthians quote "even if we have known Christ according to the flesh, hence forth we know him no more." So all right way back when people knew him in this flesh and his body, and I guess now in heaven maybe the angels know Him in His body, but we don't know him that way anymore, we have signs and symbols of his presence. Hence, Berengarius says, when the priest says "Hic est corpus meum" this indeed is my body, the hawk in question, the this, remains the bread and something is added to it, namely a sort of spiritual or symbolic significance, making it a sign of Jesus' body. Okay, yea you're right, I get that. That's clear symbolic sort of talk, one can say Berengarius goes on, that Christ is really present because I just mean he's spiritually present.

Now, this view was propagated by Berengarius, it was much debated, many people joined him, but there was a fellow who opposed him, again not a household name, his name was Lanfranc of Bec. Now Lanfranc was the teacher of someone who is a household name, namely St. Anselm, so you see the period were in. So Lanfranc is a teacher of Anselm, like Anselm, he was Archbishop of Canterbury, at the end of his life. Anyway, Lanfranc listened to Berengarius, and he said, "No, that's not enough, that's not a sufficient account." Grounded as he was of the fathers, grounded as he was in John chapter 6, Lanfranc of Bec, said no, no, no that's not an adequate account of the Eucharistic Presence. And so, there was a serious of councils and gathering, the debate went on and finally in 1059, by the way Berengarius, born about 1010 dies 1088, just to give you the time period. In 1059 a council was held, Berengarius' view is condemned, and he's made to swear this oath here's part of it "the bread and wine which are placed on the altar are, after the consecration, not only a sacrament but the true Body and Blood of our Lord Jesus Christ. Berengarius himself was made to swear that oath.

This everybody is a neuralgic point, it's a point of demarcation in this great debate. What are we talking about after the Consecration? As we look at the elements on the altar, what are we talking about? Hear this experience, you go to a parish and people are, the ministers, are taking the ciborium saying, "I'm gonna go to bread station four," "go to wine station three" that's what Berengarius would have said. This is bread and wine, now with a symbolic significance. Listen again to the oath, the bread and wine which are placed on the altar, are after the Consecration, not only a sacrament, but the true Body and Blood of our Lord Jesus Christ. There's something else, they've changed at a level so fundamental that it's no longer proper to call them bread and wine.

Paul's Letters to the Corinthians
by Lavinia Spirito

with Ree Kearns

The problems experienced by the Church at Corinth are familiar ground. Unity, state in life, moral temptations, liturgy, the Resurrection and many other issues experienced by the Christian Community at Corinth are applicable to today's Church. We invite you to join us as we take a look at the issues of life addressed by these two deeply inspiring letters.

Resources by Lavinia Spirito from Catholic Way Bible Study promote evangelization, formation, discipleship and community. Her studies help to aid us in living a contagious Christian life in the power of the Holy Spirit, faithful to the Church and welcoming to all!

*"Love is patient, love is kind...love rejoices with the truth.
It bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things. Love never fails."*

Moses tells the Israelites to observe the commandments that God gave them.

SECOND READING

James 1:17-18,21b-22,27

James teaches that Christians should be doers of the Word.

GOSPEL READING

Mark 7:1-8,14-15,21-23

Jesus teaches that it is that which comes from our hearts that defiles us.

FAMILY CONNECTION

<https://www.loyolapress.com/>

Children have learned the importance of following rules. Like the Pharisees in today's Gospel, they often bring to our attention the infractions of others. Even parents sometimes get caught off guard by their children's observations: "Why don't you have to go to bed at 8:00?" or "But I saw you eat a cupcake before breakfast once." Our rules for our children are not arbitrary. We establish and enforce family rules with the intention of helping our children grow to be healthy and mature adults. We foster this maturity when we also initiate conversations with our children about the purposes behind family rules and teach them the essential values that rules help us observe.

As you gather as a family, list some of your most important family rules. Together, try to write a single, positive statement that captures the essential value behind your family rules. In today's Gospel, we hear Jesus criticize the Pharisees for making their rules about ritual purity equal to the commandments of God's Law. Read today's Gospel, Mark 7:1-8,14-15,21-23. When we remember the essential element behind our rules, we see that our rules help us be the good people that Jesus wants us to be. Conclude in prayer together that we may always honor God's Law in our words and deeds. Pray together today's psalm, Psalm 15.

HOLY FAMILY SMALL GROUPS

THE RESULTS OF THE CHURCH SURVEY THAT WAS SENT OUT IN JUNE SHOWED THAT THERE IS A HIGH INTEREST IN SMALL BIBLE STUDY GROUPS. SO... LET'S GET SOME MORE SMALL GROUPS STARTED!

We have several different possibilities of group types that you can choose from (just ideas):

1. Coed Singles
2. Coed mix – singles and couples
3. Spanish speaking
4. Newly married couples
5. Couples with babies/toddlers or teens
6. Empty Nesters
7. Grand group (grandparents)
8. Men only
9. Women only
10. Youth in their 20's

These groups can be formed in various ways:

1. Form a group yourself and then let Cathy know who is in your group.
2. Go to 'Holy Family Small Groups' on Facebook.
3. Sign up for a Small Group when we have our Parish picnic September 19th.
4. Call or email Cathy Schlieman and she can help place you in a group that interests you.
5. If you are currently in a small group, please have one person from your group call or email Cathy with the names and phone numbers of your group members.

THIS IS THE YEAR OF THE REAL PRESENCE AND FATHER CESAR HAS SCHEDULED LARGE GROUP STUDIES/EVENTS FOR ADVENT AND LENT. THE SAME TOPICS CAN BE EXPLORED IN YOUR SMALL GROUP.

THE SMALL GROUP COMMITTEE CAN PROVIDE IDEAS FOR DIFFERENT BIBLE STUDIES, BOOKS, DVDS, PLACES AND TIMES TO MEET, ETC. ... BUT YOU ARE ALSO FREE TO DECIDE ON YOUR OWN STUDIES!
