PARISH MISSION STATEMENT

We, the people of God of Saint Joseph Roman Catholic community, Empowered by the Holy Spirit, must manifest to the city of Kingston, New York, and to the world, a clear vision of God's plan for His kingdom as we strive to grow in relationship with Jesus Christ, one another, and the Universal Church.

We endeavor to be a welcoming parish, and are dedicated to creating an environment of faith through Sacred Scripture, Sacred Tradition, Sacred Liturgy and by the reception of the Holy Sacraments, study, stewardship, and action, so that in union with our Triune Godhead, we may build up the Kingdom of God. Sharing these ministries, as the Mystical Body of Christ, we as the People of God at St. Joseph Parish challenge ourselves to witness to the truth of His Church in Word and Deed to one and all.

FROM THE Pastor...

"For God formed man to be imperishable; the image of his own nature he made him. But by the envy of the devil, death entered the world, and they who belong to his company experience it." (Wisdom 2:23-24)

I tend to jump when I see a snake. Often, especially in the grass in Rosendale, I will simply see not the snake, but the grass parting ways as it slithers its way through. My dog wants to check it out, but I know better. Titus' innocent, curious nature drives him to see what it is: perhaps a new friend. Titus wants to make friends with everyone, unaware of the dangers that lurk. That is the definition of innocence. Adam and Eve shared the beauty of that innocence in their nature before they were deceived by the Serpent. In this pre-historical narrative of how sin, suffering, and death came into the world as we experience its effects, a human nature that was free to experience beauty, freedom, truth, and justice in purity rather than having to be worked towards was lost. Envy, one of the deadliest of sins, was at its root. The Serpent shared its envy of humanity's perfect nature with the first humans, and we were corrupted to never be content. How often we overlook our desire to attain what others have – even God. Rather than seeking to acquire them through virtuous means, we allow our baser passions to take over our higher intellect and will.

We must be convinced that the evil of envy is healed with more difficulty than the other vices. In fact, I would dare to say that if someone allows himself to be taken in only once by the plague of that poison, he will be without remedy. Envy is the scourge of which the prophet said figuratively, "See, I will send you poisonous snakes, against which no charm will work, and they will bite you." Rightly, therefore, the bite of envy was compared by the prophet with the fatal poison of the basilisk, from the effect of which the author and initiator of all poisons himself perished and caused others to perish. In fact, even before he poured forth the poison of death on the man, whom he envied, that murderer had already ruined himself. Indeed, "death entered the world through the devil's envy, and those who belong to him experience it." Just as he who was first corrupted by the plague of that same evil was unable to accept the remedy of penitence and the provision for the cure, so also those who offer themselves to be struck by the same poisonous bites preclude any help from the divine enchanter. [John Cassian, Conferences 3.18.16]
