Dear Parishioners and Friends of Saint Teresa Church,

A blessed and very happy Easter Sunday to each of you! Today's celebration - both in church and at home with your family and friends - of the Resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead matters greatly to each one of us because it has opened for us the way to our eternal life. Jesus is the first to be raised from the dead. He said it would happen, and it did. And he has promised that those who believe in him will join him.

Belief in life after death is a tremendous gift from God. It makes our existence so much more positive and unafraid. Many people embrace our belief, but others do not. There are some who struggle in between. So Easter joy is not universal. But you can make it your choice. To help, let me tell you about a well-known Jewish man who offered practical religious advice to someone who needed faith and hope.

Two Sundays ago, we read this statement about Jesus and his suffering from the New Testament Letter to the Hebrews, chapter 5: 8-9: "Son though he was, he learned obedience from what he suffered; and when he was made perfect, he became the source of eternal salvation for all who obey him."

"The source of eternal salvation." That is what Jesus is. It is what he himself said to his apostles in the Gospel read at that Mass, in John chapter 12: "Whoever serves me must follow me, and where I am, there also will my servant be. The Father will honor whoever serves me.... When I am lifted up from the earth, I will draw everyone to myself." Thanks be to God—the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit—for the knowledge and the promise of the best, the ultimate gift anyone can receive: a happy existence, surrounded by our loved ones, in a place of everlasting light, joy, and peace. No wonder we say over and over: ALLELUIA!

In preparing for my homily for that Sunday, I rediscovered a New York Post December 2009 clipping from the editorial page, about the vibrant faith in God of our former Mayor Ed Koch. He was approaching his 85th birthday, and he spoke about the reality that at some time, sooner rather than later, he would die:

"Approaching his 85th birthday, former Mayor Ed Koch said in a Daily News profile, 'It is regrettable that Americans are so afraid of death. I'M NOT! I believe in the afterlife. I believe in God.'

Those words resonated deeply with a reader who wrote a letter to Hizzoner: 'Mr. Koch, I read the article in The News this morning and was moved by your strong belief in the afterlife. I wish somehow that your belief could be instilled in me. About six months ago my middle son was killed in a motor vehicle accident. Not a second goes by without me missing him terribly. If I could only share your thoughts about being able to see him one day, my life would perhaps have some meaning. I'm not even sure about why I am writing this, but when I read the article I guess it did give me some brief hope. Anyway, thank you.'

Mayor Koch wrote back to that person: "I am not a religious person. I would describe myself as a secular Jew. But I have always believed in God, especially when I served in combat in World War II and often prayed as my friends serving in my company did, asking God to protect me and bring me home alive. Also, over the years, on occasion of illness, I came to marvel at the brilliant design and complexity of the human body, concluding that it could not have happened by itself and required God. I have been given opportunities for which I will always be grateful - foremost to become Mayor of New York City - and I thank God for that."

I have no doubt that there is an afterlife and I will be reunited with my mom and dad and other family members who have gone before me. I have no doubt that you will be reunited with your son. But I urge you to use your lifetime here on earth in the most constructive way possible and not waste this God-given opportunity."

Mayor Koch was famous for asking everyone how he was doing. That Post editorial was headlined: "HOW'S HE DOIN'? GREAT!" I hope you too will do great and live by words of life this Easter Sunday. Because Jesus—by his words, miracles, suffering and resurrection—teaches us about our own eternal life.

Joyfully and gratefully yours in Jesus Christ, our Risen Lord,
Monsignor William Belford

Growing in FAITH™

Discovering hope and joy in the Catholic faith.

Saint Teresa Church

One Minute Meditations

St. Gianna Beretta Molla

Born into a large Catholic family in Italy, St. Gianna studied medicine and became a physician. She opened a medical practice in Mesero, where she met her husband. The pregnancy and birth of their fourth child was very difficult, but Gianna was willing to risk her life for the life of the child. St. Gianna gave birth to a baby girl and died a week later. She is the patroness of mothers, physicians, and unborn children.

No guesswork involved

Followers of Christ never have to rely on guesswork to decide what is right. We have a perfect example for our daily lives in Jesus. And to guide us, he gave us the Catholic Church.

"A new heart I will give you, and a new spirit I will put within you; and I will take out of your flesh the heart of stone and give you a heart of flesh" (Ezekiel 36:26).

Begin a new life after Easter

The promise of the Resurrection is that faithful followers of Jesus will have new life. Whether we had a fruitful Lent or were lukewarm in our resolve, we can begin now to become new creations.

Make an examination. Call on the Holy Spirit to reveal what is keeping you from becoming the person God intends. Make an examination of your life as you live it. Look at your prayer life, your sacramental life, your dedication to spiritual growth. Do you share your faith? Do you serve others with love?

Face the truth with courage. It can be discouraging to look honestly at our many faults. Remember, though, that God understands we aren't perfect. He asks us to act with integrity and relentlessly fight against sin.

Being a sinner is not the worst condition – remaining one is.

Devise a plan. Decide what needs to change and make a plan. Write it down and commit to it. Sometimes making a brave life change entails leaving bad company behind. Often it means changing entrenched habits. Change may be uncomfortable but growth can't happen without it.

Take the first steps. New life comes through God. Entrust your plan for change to him. Spend at least 15 minutes a day in prayer, asking for inspiration and strength. Then take the first steps toward new life.

Why Do Catholics Do That?

During the Mass, we offer the Sign of Peace in preparation for receiving Communion. After his Resurrection, Jesus appeared to his disciples in the Upper Room. Although his friends had abandoned him, Jesus forgave them, saying: "Peace be with you" (John 20:19). When we offer each other the Sign of Peace, we imitate Christ. The Sign of Peace is also a sign of spiritual unity. Just as Jesus reconciled with his disciples, we are called to reconcile with each other.

Why do Catholics offer the sign of peace?
