THE DEDICATION OF THE LATERAN BASILICA

To those who sold doves he said, "Take these out of here, and stop making my Father's house a marketplace." His disciples recalled the words of Scripture, Zeal for your house will consume me. - Jn 2:16-17

At this the Jews answered and said to him, "What sign can you show us for doing this?" Jesus answered and said to them, "Destroy this temple and in three days I will raise it up." The Jews said, "This temple has been under construction for forty-six years, and you will raise it up in three days?" But he was speaking about the temple of his Body. Therefore, when he was raised from the dead, his disciples remembered that he had said this, and they came to believe the Scripture and the word Jesus had spoken.

For Christ the King

© Fr. Daniel Aloysius Lord, S.J. (1888-1955)

Refrain

*An army of youth flying the standards of truth
 We're fighting for Christ the Lord.
 Heads lifted high, Catholic Action our cry,
 And the Cross our only sword!
 On Earth's battlefield never a vantage we'll yield
 As dauntlessly on we swing.
 Comrades true, dare and do,
 'Neath the Queen's white and blue,
 For our flag, for our Faith, for Christ the King.*

Verse 1

*Christ lifts His hands, the King commands:
 His challenge, "Come and follow Me."
 From every side, with eager stride,
 We form in the lines of victory.
 Let foemen lurk, and laggards shirk,
 We throw our fortunes with the Lord.
 Mary's Son, till the world is won,
 We have pledged you our loyal word.*

Verse 2

*Our hearts are pure, our minds are sure;
 No sin our gleaming helmet taints.
 No foeman fierce our shield shall pierce;
 We're captained by God's unconquered saints.
 Yet peace we bring, and a gentle King,
 Whose law is light and life and love.
 Mary's Son, may Thy will be done;
 Here on earth as it is above.*

“SANCTIFYING GRACE”

by Redemptorist Father Francis Jeremiah Connell

Fr. Connell, born in 1888 in Boston, studied for the priesthood across the Hudson at Mount St. Alphonsus Seminary in Esopus. He was ordained there on June 26, 1913 by Thomas Francis Cusack, auxiliary bishop of the Archdiocese of New York. In 1940, he was assigned to teach Moral Theology at the Catholic University of America in Washington, DC and served as Dean of the Department of Theology there from 1949 until his death on May 12, 1967.

When we say that Jesus Christ came on earth to save mankind, we mean that one of the motives of the Incarnation was to merit grace for all men. Thus, the Baltimore Catechism defines grace as “a supernatural gift of God bestowed on us through the merits of Jesus Christ for our salvation.” However, the expression “the grace of God” is very commonly used, yet doubtless many who use it do not understand what it really means.

According to Catholic doctrine there are two kinds of grace: (1) sanctifying grace and (2) actual grace. Sanctifying grace is appropriately called the life of the soul, for when a soul possesses sanctifying grace it is enriched with a supernatural life which, in a sense, is a participation in the divine life of God Himself. God necessarily loves the soul in sanctifying grace, because such a soul partakes of the beauty of His own divine nature. In the soul endowed with sanctifying grace, the Holy Trinity abides, elevating it to a dignity far superior to that which even the highest angel naturally possesses. When sanctifying grace enters the soul, it cleanses it of sin and makes it pure and holy. The conferring of sanctifying grace on a soul is a far more exalted exercise of divine power than the miracle of the cleansing of the leper by Our Lord narrated in the Gospel.

Once sanctifying grace abides in the soul, it remains permanently unless it is driven out by mortal sin, which is justly called the death of the soul. Venial sins, however numerous they may be, do not exclude sanctifying grace. However, when venial sins are frequent and are committed with full deliberation, they are likely to render a person indifferent in his spiritual life, and thus they may easily lead to mortal sin.

When we have sanctifying grace in our soul we can constantly increase in the love of God. In strict theological language we are saints when we possess sanctifying grace, and this term is often applied in the Epistles of St. Paul to all the early Christians who were leading good lives, for they possessed sanctifying grace.

The measure of the sanctifying grace in our souls when we leave this world determines the degree of glory we shall enjoy in heaven.

Practical Application: We should regard it as the greatest blessing we can obtain in life to possess sanctifying grace. On the other hand, the greatest misfortune we can sustain is the loss of sanctifying grace by mortal sin. No effort should be regarded as too great if it is called for in order to preserve the life of sanctifying grace in our souls. As long as we are in sanctifying grace, we need fear nothing, not even death, for death will then be the entrance to life eternal.
