But the woman came and did Jesus homage, saying, "Lord, help me." He said in reply, "It is not right to take the food of the children and throw it to the dogs." She said, "Please, Lord, for even the dogs eat the scraps that fall from the table of their masters." Then Jesus said to her in reply, "O woman, great is your faith! Let it be done for you as you wish." And the woman's daughter was healed from that hour.

COME JOIN US AND SHARE THE GIFT OF FAITH

Our Parish CCD/Religious Education Program is seeking caring and faith-filled volunteers to serve as catechists and assistant catechists from October to May. This is a wonderful opportunity to help strengthen the Church by sharing your Catholic faith with the next generation and make a lasting difference in the lives of our parish children and families.

You do not need to be a teacher - just someone who loves the Lord and His Church, and has a desire to help children come to know Jesus while growing in your own faith. Support will be provided.

If you have read this far, perhaps God is calling you to serve as a catechist. Your "yes," prayerfully considered, will have an eternal impact.

For more information or to volunteer, please contact the CCD/Religious Education office at 845-452-8580 x3 or stpppccd@gmail.com.

POPES NAMED LEO - POPE LEO XI

Pope Leo XI was born Alessandro di Ottaviano de' Medici to Ottaviano de' Medici and Francesca Salviati in Florence on June 2, 1535. He was nephew of Pope Leo X and second cousin of Catherine de' Medici, Queen of France. His father died when he was young. He was educated by Fr. Vincenzo Ercolano, O.P. and grew up to be a devout young man who perceived that God was calling him to become a priest. However, because he was the only male heir of his family, his mother opposed this and sent him to the court of the Grand Duke of Tuscany, who appointed him a knight in 1560, but also Florence's ambassador to the Pope. While in Rome, Alessandro became a coworker and friend of his fellow Florentine, St. Philip Neri, who predicted that Alessandro would one day be pope. When Alessandro's mother died in 1566, he resumed his priestly formation and was ordained on July 22, 1567. He was ordained Bishop of Pistoia in 1573, and in 1574, Archbishop of Florence. Alessandro was a devout man who introduced the reforms of the Council of Trent into his dioceses. In 1583, he was made a cardinal by Pope Sixtus V. In 1596, he served two years as Pope Clement VIII's legate to France, and then in 1598, was appointed Prefect of the Congregation of Bishops and Regulars. In 1600, he was named Cardinal Bishop of Albano, and in 1602 of Palestrina. He was elected pope on April 1, 1605 by the Italian and French cardinals against the wishes of King Philip III of Spain. However, frail in health, he would die on April 27, having caught a chill on April 17. He did not have enough time to make many acts as pope, although he did send aid to the Holy Roman Emperor in a war against the aggressive Muslim Ottomans, settled a dispute among clergy in Spain, began a reform of the voting in papal conclave, and abolished certain taxes for the people of Rome.

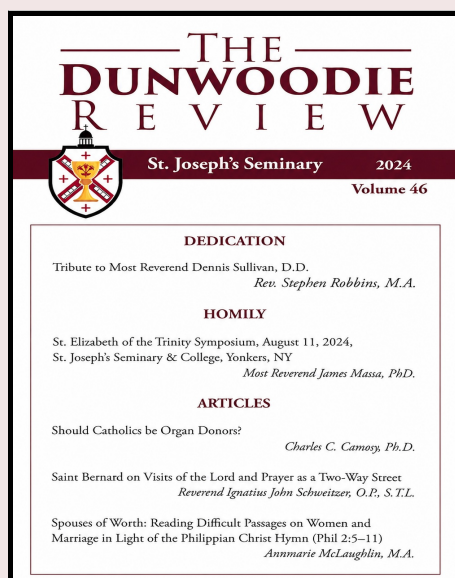

THE DUNWOODIE REVIEW

Saint Joseph's Seminary continues to be one of the few Catholic seminaries in the United States to publish a theological journal. The journals consist of essays on theological and philosophical themes written by faculty, seminarians, and MA students. This journal offers an excellent resource for staying abreast of contemporary theological discussions, to explore interesting topics in greater depth, to learn of the scholarly work of some of your parish priests, and an opportunity to support our Archdiocesan Seminary.

If you would like to browse the current or some past issues of The Dunwoodie Review, please, fill out the online order form at:

AUGUST 7 LETTER FROM ARCHBISHOP HICKS

Dear Friends: On July 11, I shared with you that I had undergone eye surgery for a detached retina in my left eye. Before anything else, I want to thank you for the many prayers that have been offered on my behalf and provide a brief update on my recovery.

The surgery involved a vitrectomy, two sutures to reattach the retina, and the insertion of a gas bubble in my eye to assist in the healing process. Thanks be to God, my eye and vision continue to heal from the surgery. I am deeply grateful for the excellent medical care I have received.

Following doctors' orders, I have been taking things slowly during my recovery. As many of you know, that is not always easy for me. The gas bubble will take approximately eight weeks to dissolve completely, and during that time I am unable to travel by airplane.

One of the highlights of my recovery came yesterday when I was able to celebrate my first public Mass since the surgery at St. Patrick's Cathedral for the profession of vows of the Sisters of Life. While I have been celebrating Mass in my private chapel, it was a great joy to be back at the main altar and to share that beautiful occasion with the Sisters of Life, their families, and friends.

Per my doctors' guidance, I will continue to add public Masses and other responsibilities to my schedule gradually and carefully. I look forward to being with you more frequently in the weeks ahead.

This period of recovery has also been a gift. It has provided more time than usual to sit quietly before the Lord in prayer. In the stillness, I have been reminded once again how much we all depend on God's grace each day. During these weeks, I have also been praying for you and your intentions, and will continue to do so.

Please, also, continue to pray for me. Your prayers are the greatest gift you can offer me at this time, and I am deeply grateful for each one.

May the Lord Jesus, who healed the sick, restored sight to the blind, and brought hope to those in need, bless you with light, peace, and love.

As I remain -
Sincerely Yours in Christ,
Most Reverend Ronald A. Hicks
Archbishop of New York

CHIARA CORBELLA PETRILLO

Born January 9, 1984 in Rome, Chiara grew up in a family that taught her how to live the Catholic Faith. It was especially her mother who taught her how to turn to Jesus as a friend and to share the Faith so that when older Chiara was determined to seek opportunities to give of herself in service to others.

On August 2, 2002, Chiara met her first boyfriend and future husband, Enrico Petrillo, while making a pilgrimage to Medjugorje. Enrico, who like her was from Rome although they had never met, happened to be on a separate pilgrimage with his prayer group. Their friendship began and when they returned to Rome, they began to see each other frequently. But, after four years of dating, she broke up with Enrico. It was a test of Faith and she wrote, "In those moments of suffering and rebellion against the Lord, because I thought He was not listening to my prayers, I participated in a vocational program at Assisi. I found, through the help of this program, the strength to trust in God and so I tried to see if the relationship with Enrico could continue. We both started spiritual direction in order to be accompanied in this journey. However, our relationship still did not go well until I began to understand that the Lord was not threatening to take anything away from me. He, in reality, wanted to give me everything and only He knew who I was meant to share my life with, but maybe I hadn't understood anything yet!"

(Picture taken April, 2012)

On September 21, 2008, Chiara and Enrico married in Assisi. Soon after, Chiara was pregnant. The ultrasound, however, revealed that baby Maria Grazia Letizia was severely deformed by anencephaly. Nevertheless, Chiara and Enrico loved their handicapped baby in the womb who died on June 10, 2009 less than a half hour after her birth. A few months later, Chiara again was pregnant, but now with a little boy whom they named Davide Giovanni. Sadly, Davide growing in her womb was diagnosed with severe malformation to crucial organs and missing his legs. He, too, died soon after birth on June 24, 2010.

This young mother was heartbroken, but trusted in God. She wrote with the wisdom of a true friend of Jesus, "In our marriage the Lord gave us two special children: Maria Grazia Letizia and Davide Giovanni, but He asked us to accompany them only until their birth. He gave us the opportunity to embrace them, have them baptized, and then entrust them into the hands of the Father, all with a peace and joy that we had never experienced before."

Tests were done on Enrico and Chiara which ruled out any genetic pathologies. In the Fall of 2010, Chiara rejoiced to learn she was pregnant again, this time with Francesco who was in good health. However, in God's providence, there was a new cross offered. A week after her happy news, Chiara felt something on her tongue. It was a cancerous tumor. She underwent the first phase of surgery in order to remove the mass on her tongue. But, she chose to delay the second phase of surgery which would have involved some danger to the baby in her womb. Doctors suggested inducing birth in Francesco's seventh month. But, Chiara had no "intentions to put his life at risk because of uncertain statistics that wanted to prove that Francesco was to be born premature in order to operate on me in time."

Francesco was born on May 30, 2011 in perfect health and Chiara's treatment started after his birth. Despite operations, the cancer's intensification made it difficult for her to see and to speak. In March of 2012, she and her husband were able to visit Assisi and entrust their son to the Blessed Mother. But, friendship with Christ does not shield us from worldly sufferings; sometimes He invites us to share more deeply in His Passion. By Holy Week, Chiara had learnt that the cancer had metastasized to one breast and to her liver, in addition to her lungs and one eye. Her condition was deemed terminal. She and her husband renewed their marriage vows. Despite her condition, she remained cheerful and vibrant as possible. (The picture above of her smiling was taken on Thursday of the Easter Octave.) And on May 2, the Roman family met and spoke with Pope Benedict XVI after his general audience.

By June, she was near the end of her earthly life. Chiara prepared for her encounter with Christ alongside her husband in a house at outside of Rome at Pian della Carlotta, close to the sea. She received the sacraments of Penance and Anointing of the Sick. And with her husband they received the Holy Communion as often as Fr. Vito, the priest who had married them, could visit. The morning before her death, her husband tenderly asked her, "Is the cross really as sweet as the Lord says?" She replied, "Yes, Enrico. It is very sweet." This inspiring faith-filled Catholic woman, refused treatment for herself to protect the life of her baby. She knew that even if she could not herself raise her baby, the Lord would provide. Chiara, dressed in her wedding gown, closed her eyes to this world at noon on June 13, 2012 having told each of her family members and friends, one by one, "I love you." Her cause for beatification was opened in 2018 and she is currently a Servant of God.
