Exciting News for St. Paul's

We find ourselves at a unique time in St. Paul's history. Since 1863, over 157 years, our building and grounds have changed in order to accommodate the most important part of our parish: the people. Our parish has grown from just 25 parishioners to over 900 households!

In 2006 – over 14 years ago! – this parish broke ground for the current church building. Today we are reminded how blessed we are for the tireless work that parishioners put forth to both build and finance our beautiful worship space. It is fitting, that on the Feast of the Conversion of St. Paul we were able to celebrate a huge feat:

PAYING OFF THE MORTGAGE for our church!

This is stewardship in action! This is both exciting and compelling. How will we continue to be good stewards for St. Paul Catholic Church today, so that the future generations can benefit? Where does God want us to grow?

To all of the parishioners who have continuously worked on behalf of the parish sharing your prayers, skills and prosperity – thank you! God has blessed this parish in so many ways and we are excited for where He will lead us in the future.

Fr. Dan

WELCOME TO ST. PAUL'S

STEWARDSHIP CORNER

"Rising very early before dawn, he left and went off to a deserted place, where he prayed." Mark 1:35

Hearing that Jesus took time to be alone and pray, shocks me a little. He is fully God and fully human, yet he humbles himself before the Father to do the will of the Father. Jesus prayed. Friends, so too must we! It's a bold statement, but my prayer life is the fuel by which I am able to live. But here's my confession: I have only really been intentional about spending time with God over the last couple of years. Don't get me wrong, I have known for a long time that having a habit of prayer is a good thing to do, but it became important in my life when I stopped looking at it as 'one more thing to do' and approached it in humility. I need to know what God asks of me - daily! I need to hear His loving voice in order to love others well - daily! I need to rest in that love - daily! When I don't... I am not the best version of myself. Conversely, when I allow God's voice to be the authority in my life, every part of my day is transformed into prayer and I stay on the path of becoming the person God created me to be.

What about you - how is your prayer life?

Lent is only a couple weeks away and it is the perfect time to begin a new prayer routine. Or recommit yourself to daily prayer. There are amazing Catholic resources wherever you turn and our team is always here to help you on your journey. Consider coming to a Holy Hour. Read "I Heard God Laugh" with your fellow parishioners. Come to daily Mass. Say a Rosary once, twice... or 7 times a week. Whatever you do, God wants to spend precious time with you, reminding you that you belong to Him and He wants to fill you with his love and mercy. As good stewards, this is where we must start.

To God be the Glory, Kelsey - kdemarais@stpaulgenese.net

Faith Formation

I still remember the anticipation of the first time I met Tiffany, Lauren and Ashley. They are the nieces of my brother-in-law. It was the first time our family was meeting people in my now brother-in-law

Mark's family. I was probably in seventh grade at the time. And anyone who works with middle schoolers knows that when middle schoolers are excited... you know it! Anyway, the girls were pretty little (even back then I liked kids). I was looking forward to playing with them and having them over for dinner with my family. They were moving to the area for a job opportunity. It was the first time of many the family joined us for dinners and celebrations. The entire time they lived in Wisconsin, they were part of the Farrell family. We loved having them over, and I believe, they enjoyed being a part of everything. Eventually, another job opportunity took them from us again. They moved around a little and ended up in Columbus, Ohio. I connected with them on Facebook and that was the extent of our in-touchness.

Flash forward to last Friday... I got a text from my sister. Lauren, the middle daughter passed away. She had, when she was younger, gotten involved with drugs. Later, Lauren got her life back together and became a great mom and wife. They believe she relapsed and died of a drug overdose. Her 12 year old son was the one who found her.

I had known of Lauren's struggles, but if you were to look at her life on the outside, I never would have guessed there was anything that was drawing her back into these addictions again. Lauren seemed so happy and full of life. She commented on something of mine not long ago... and she tagged people in silly social media challenges... everything seemed so normal. But for some reason that I doubt I will ever know - particularly on this side of heaven, she turned back to drugs.

It has been said that you are as sick as your secrets. Where secrets linger in your life, the words and phrases of the enemy scream aloud with accusations: "You aren't worthy," "You aren't good enough," "You're damaged goods," etc. The Devil knows our names but he calls us by our sins. But God... He knows our sins but calls us by name. We have a God who was willing to move heaven and earth to tell us our worth.

And He speaks to us through others. I began a tremendous amount of healing when I was able to finally share my struggles, my sin, my fears, through tears, with a good friend. She looked at me - and saw me... not my sin or wounds... but me. She was able to see the person who was broken and sinful, and recognize the person I was truly called to be. Instead of judgment, she offered words of love. And by doing so, the secrets I told myself began to lose their power over me. I could see a glimpse of the forgiveness God wants to grant us when we go to Reconciliation. But we cannot receive this healing grace if we never open up. And healing only comes when we are willing to face the hurt. God designed us to be in communion. We are made in the image of God - who is a communion of Love.

So who are you people? Who are the people who see you and see who God intends you to be? Are you willing to let them in? God desires to speak words of healing to us - but we need to be willing to let go and allow healing to penetrate us.

And... those lies, as I said, begin to lose their hold upon you.

Belong, Believe, Become – Lent 2021

A GIFT FOR YOU – A new book by Matthew Kelly - I Heard God Laugh – will be available at church or the office for a parish wide ‘conversation’ about prayer. Follow a weekly message in the bulletin/on the website to share conversation about that book with one or more friends (your own personal small group!). Matthew Kelly urges us to feed and nurture our soul, and he gives us new tools for daily prayer. He also has a daily email message to accompany the book this Lent at Dynamic Catholic Best Lent Ever.

A DESERTED PLACE

In today's Gospel, Jesus went off to a deserted place, where he prayed. In these days of social distancing and staying in more, home can feel like a deserted place, it may not feel like a place of quiet and refreshment of our souls after being cooped up for so long. Last week's full moon and fresh snow-fall provided an opportunity for refreshment of my soul. At 9:45 pm, I went for a walk in the woods. At 9 degrees, the air was crisp, there was no wind, and the shadows of the trees on the snow were incredible. I trudged along and marveled at the beauty God provided. At some point I stopped to notice there was NO sound. No animals, no wind, no rustling leaves, nothing. I was overwhelmingly refreshed, my prayer to God overflowed with gratitude and joy. Find a deserted place; it could even be out on your back stoop, or maybe at the window in the spare bedroom you don't go into very often (open the window for just a bit). Stop. Stand. Look up and around. Listen. Take a deep breath. Be refreshed.

WHY DO WE DO THAT? - CATHOLIC LIFE EXPLAINED

Question: Is it ever Ok to leave Mass before it ends?

Answer: This is an interesting question because beneath the surface there seems to be an assumption that if it's okay, then why do we have to stay after we receive communion? The short answer is "no," but we definitely want to go a bit deeper as we consider why.

First, when we think about questions like this, we must consider this in adult terms. If there is something gravely important that we need to do, then we must attend to that. However, if it is a matter of convenience or preference, then we really have to stop and think again. First, while we always want to recognize the importance of sacramental communion in the Mass, we also need to understand how important the time of thanksgiving and prayer after communion is. This is summarized in the Prayer After Communion offered by the celebrant and then we are also commissioned to "Go forth" during the Dismissal of the Mass, reminding us that we have been entrusted with a gift — the Word of God and the Presence of Christ in the sacrament — and that we are to share that gift with others.

If we simply leave after we receive communion, we risk two things. First, there is the possibility that we will turn our reception of communion into a purely personal, individual experience that is separated from our common experience of worship — and communion in the fullest sense — and, second, we lose an opportunity for gratitude and serious reflection if we simply leave after communion. This time of thanksgiving, reflection, and, ultimately, missioning, are important and, in the end, an essential part of the celebration of the Mass. ©LPi

Love ONE ANOTHER

BY: ARCHBISHOP JEROME E. LISTECKI

February 2, 2021

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

It is Catholic Schools Week and I find myself celebrating Mass almost every day at a different parish school or school system in our Archdiocese. All of us should be proud of the work done by our principals, teachers, school staff, pastors, parish administrators, priests, deacons and parish staff. Their efforts and sacrifices have provided quality Catholic education during trying and unique times. If I can be a bit prophetic, I believe what is happening in the Archdiocese of Milwaukee in the area of education cannot be found anywhere else in the Catholic Church in the United States. I believe the innovative work of our schools will become a model for other dioceses in the country. These models will assist in keeping Catholic schools viable in the years to come.

I am proud to say that I am a product of Catholic education. Besides the academic discipline that the teachers – namely, sisters – instilled in me, they also offered me a vision of the world through the Christian lens. I received an understanding that the responsibility I had to my brothers and sisters came through the Cross of Christ, who died so that we might be saved. Now, in His name, I was charged to live for others because of His love for me. My teachers introduced me not only to this world but also to the unseen world created by God, which is the world of angels and heaven – the world to come. They promoted patriotism and a love for our nation, along with the freedoms and rights that we enjoy. They boldly proclaimed that these freedoms are to be defended even with our lives, if necessary.

We need Catholic education because it proclaims and protects our religious freedom, a freedom which I fear is questioned in today's society. I have often maintained that you are freer in a Catholic school than in a public school. In a Catholic school, you are free to pray or not. In a Catholic school, you can express your belief in God or not. Studies have demonstrated the importance of Catholic schools to the neighborhoods they serve because of the social responsibility parents and students express to the community.

We are committed to Catholic education in the Archdiocese of Milwaukee. Our Catholic universities and colleges have not only recognized the importance of Catholic education, but many have also contributed and collaborated with the Archdiocese. The dedication that our teachers and administrators have exhibited during this pandemic demonstrates that they view the well being of our students as their primary goal. The leadership in the Archdiocese is exemplified by Superintendent Dr. Kathleen Cepelka, whose visionary leadership has created a Catholic school system that is admired by all. As I celebrate Masses through the Archdiocese, one will find Dr. Cepelka or a member of her staff in the congregation.

When I was preaching at St. Peter in Slinger, I reminded the students that I was in their seats, to me, what seems to be yesterday, but in their minds, I'm sure it seems to be ancient history. I told the students that as I matured, I began to realize how many people were supporting me and my education, many of whom I would never know. This realization became a foundation of my life because it taught me that I could pray for those supporters and that God would bless those who shared their treasures with others.

To the grammar school, high school, college, law school and graduate school I attended, all Catholic communities of education that have contributed to my education and formation, may God bless them all. May St. Thomas Aquinas, patron of universities, colleges, schools, teachers and students, pray for us so that we may continue to create communities that LOVE ONE ANOTHER.

Sincerely,

Most Reverend Jerome E. ListECKI

Archbishop of Milwaukee
