Love is patient; love is kind; love is not envious or boastful or arrogant or rude. It does not insist on its own way; it is not irritable or resentful; it does not rejoice in wrongdoing, but rejoices in the truth. It bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things. 1 Corinthians 13:4-7

The People of God

Did God reject Israel and replace the Jews with another chosen people? No! In the parable of the unfaithful tenants, it is not the vineyard (Israel) that the owner rejects, only those who were in charge of it. It is significant that when Jesus tells this story he is speaking to the “chief priests and the elders” and the Pharisees (see verses 23 and 45).

The chosen people were not rejected; they simply came under a new government: that of Jesus, the promised “Son of David” and “King of the Jews” who was destined to “reign over the house of Jacob forever.” Jesus gave religious leadership to the twelve apostles, all Jews, who succeeded Jacob’s twelve sons from whom the twelve tribes of Israel descended. The apostles then opened up membership in the new chosen people to the Gentiles without requiring them to take on the ethnic customs of the Jews. Membership became a catholic (universal) religious reality rather than a religious reality identified with race.

God did not reject the Jews or replace the chosen people with anyone. Any gentiles who accepted the Good News also became Jews in the full religious meaning of that word, and heirs to all the religious history of Israel and all the promises God made to his people.

All Christians are Jews—not in the ethnic or racial meaning of the word because all distinctions based on race were abolished—according to the religious meaning of the word. Membership in the chosen people was never just a matter of accepting the Scriptures in faith or of conscientiously keeping God’s law as one privately understood it. There was never any such thing as a “private Judaism.” To be a member of the chosen people meant you became a member of an organized people, following their laws and customs.

Isaiah 5:1-7; Philippians 4:6-9; Matthew 21:33-43

Jesus made a point of showing that he was not changing this. He chose twelve apostles to show a continuation with the twelve tribes of the new Israel. When Judas betrayed Jesus, the remaining apostles filled his place so that the number twelve would be complete. The Church neither replaced nor broke off from Israel. The Church is simply the continuation of Israel under a new government, enriched and transformed by the teaching and grace of Jesus Christ.

Those who became members of the Church in the time of the apostles knew that they were accepting not only the teaching and grace of Jesus but also entering “a chosen race, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, God’s own people” (1 Peter 2:9), organized according to religious rather than civil laws.

*Christianity is not simply a philosophy, a doctrine or a movement;
it is membership
in the People of God*

We can no more reject “organized religion” and be Christian than we can reject all government and be citizens of any nation. Christianity is not simply a philosophy, a doctrine or a movement; it is membership in the People of God governed by Jesus the anointed king through his apostles and their successors. There was only one chosen people and there is only one Church, with varying degrees of membership.

For more Scriptural background on this, see Genesis 35:22; Matthew 2:2 and Chapter 27; 19:28; 21:23, 45; Luke 1:33; Acts 1:15-26 and Chapter 15; Galatians 3:28-29; I Peter 2:9; and Revelation 7:5-8; 21:10-14.

REFLECTING ON THIS WEEK'S GOSPELS

Twenty-Seventh Week of the Year

Pray daily: Almighty and eternal God, Father of the world to come, your goodness is beyond what our spirit can touch and your strength is more than the mind can grasp. Lead us to seek beyond our reach and give us the courage to stand before your truth. We ask this through Christ our Lord. Amen.*

Monday: Luke 10:25-37. A man was robbed while traveling. A priest and a Levite—a church worker—passed him by. “But a Samaritan traveler while traveling came near him; and when he saw him, he was moved with pity. He went to him and bandaged his wounds... Which of these three...was a neighbor to the man who fell into the hands of the robbers?” How much of your compassion for others is based on racial or social bonding? In the Scriptures, to “have mercy” means to come to the aid of another person out of a sense of relationship.

Tuesday: Luke 10:38-42. “Martha, Martha, you are worried and distracted by many things; there is need of only one thing.” What do you consider the most necessary item on your daily agenda? Would Jesus agree?

Wednesday: Luke 11:1-4. One of Jesus’ disciples said to him, “Lord, teach us to pray, as John taught his disciples.” Who taught you to pray? Who might teach you to pray better at your present stage of growth?

Thursday: Luke 11:5-13. “So, I say to you, Ask, and it will be given you; search, and you will find; knock, and the door will be opened for you.” What do you ask for? What do you seek? Where do you knock? When?

Friday: Luke 11:15-26. Jesus said that every kingdom divided against itself will fall. What divides Christians? What brings them together?

Saturday: Luke 11:27-28. A woman from the crowd called out, “Blessed is the womb that bore you and the breasts that nursed you.” Jesus replied, “Blessed rather are those who hear the word of God and obey it!” Do you think it is enough to practice your religion by doing what you were taught? Is it essential that you personally reflect on God’s word until you understand how to live it? When do you do this?

LIVING THIS WEEK'S GOSPELS

As Christian: Ask yourself what would change in your relationship (interaction) with Jesus if you gave up your relationship (interaction) with the Church.

As Disciple: In two columns list the advantages and disadvantages of belonging to an organized religion.

As Prophet: Make a list of the things you do because you are a Catholic which make you different from other Christians.

As Priest: Make a list of the things you do as a Catholic that give you something in common with other Christians and a sense of being one with them.

As King: Read the last thing written by your bishop, the successor of the apostles in charge of your local Church, and ask what you can do to put into practice what he is teaching.
