Epiphany of the Lord

The word "epiphany" comes from the Greek epiphaino, a verb that means "to shine upon," "to manifest," or "to make known." Thus, the feast of the Epiphany celebrates the many ways that Christ has made Himself known to the world, mainly the three events that manifested the mission and divinity of Christ: the visit of the Magi (Matthew 2:1-12), the baptism of Jesus (Mark 1:9-11), and the miracle at Cana (John 2:1-11).

Epiphany Prayer

Dear Jesus, as You led the Three Kings to You by the light of a star, please draw us ever closer to You by the light of Faith. Help us to desire You as ardently as they did. Give us the grace to overcome all the obstacles that keep us far from You. May we, like them, have something to give You when we appear before You. Amen

What Is the Glory of God?

The story of the Magi or wise men was included in Matthew's Gospel to show that from the beginning God intended to call the Gentiles (non-Jews) into unity with the Chosen People. This story was probably an answer to the fundamentalists of the early Church, who opposed Paul's work with the Gentiles on grounds that this was just a "human decision" of the Church; and that "Jesus himself" never preached to non-Jews.

The problem was that the Jews—like everyone else—were tempted to be nationalistic. They could say "Israel first" the way we might say "America first." Isaiah's prophecy, "Arise, shine; for your light has come / Nations shall come to your light. The wealth of the nations shall come to you" could mean that Israel would dominate the earth with a universally respected Jewish culture. In reality, this prophecy meant that by the light which came to earth through the Jews, every nation would be enlightened without being absorbed; every human culture would be transformed without losing its identity. All the human "wealth of the nations"—both material and cultural—would be shared among all without being lost to any.

God's plan from all eternity was to "gather up all things in him [Christ], things in heaven and things on earth" (see Ephesians 1:10). Jesus did not come to make one nation or culture dominant over others but instead to glorify the entire human race by bringing everything human, in all its variety and diversity, to its full potential—not only to its natural perfection, but to the glory it can have when transformed by grace.

Jesus came that we might "have life and have it abundantly" through the life of grace (see John 10:10).

JANUARY 4, 2026

EPIPHANY OF THE LORD

Isaiah 60:1-6; Ephesians 3:2-3a, 5-6;
Matthew 2:1-12

Saint Irenaeus says, "As those who see light are in the light sharing its brilliance, so those who see God are in God sharing his glory, and that glory gives them life." He adds that, if we persevere in love, obedience and gratitude to God, "we will receive greater glory from him, a glory which will grow ever brighter until we take on the likeness of the one who died for us."

Saint Paul spoke of building up the Body of Christ, "until all of us come to the unity of the faith and of the knowledge of the Son of God...to the measure of the full stature of Christ" (see Ephesians 4:13).

The glory of God and the glory of the human race become one and the same reality in "the full Christ"—head and members—and that glory is "all humanity, fully alive." According to Saint Paul, we are called, consecrated and commissioned to bring about the glory of God, shining through a glorified human race united, with all its individual and cultural diversity, into one Body in Christ.

To celebrate Epiphany is to celebrate not just the light of Christ but the revelation of that light to the

*We are called to be one with each other in faith,
in hope and in love,
without suppressing

whole world. To celebrate this means to rejoice in it, to “single out for grateful remembrance” that people of every race, culture and nation are called to be one Church, one assembly. We are called to be one with each other in faith, in hope and in love, without suppressing diversity or differences. We are called to rejoice in the fact that our Church is catholic—that is, a composite of cultures and nations, and does not express itself in the same way all over the world.

Above all, this feast calls us to reach out to others and invite them to celebrate with us the light of Christ. Epiphany reminds us that it is not catholic to want to keep a parish homogeneous—a community of people comfortable with each other because they share the same language, customs, culture or social background. We should not be comfortable until we have invited everyone to join us as believers in Jesus.

REFLECTING ON THIS WEEK'S GOSPELS

Week After Epiphany

Pray daily: Lord, you took flesh as a human being so that all might see the glory of God shining through the humanity you created. And you have called every human being to become your Body through Baptism. Pour out your life into every heart, and open our eyes to see your glory shining in every person of every race and nation and temperament. Amen.

Monday: Matthew 4:12-17, 23-25. “He left Nazareth and made his home in Capernaum...so that what had been spoken through the prophet Isaiah might be fulfilled.” Jesus lived in the mixed culture of Galilee to show he came for all people. How much do you reach out to different ethnic groups and races?

Tuesday: Mark 6:34-44. “As Jesus went ashore, he saw a great crowd, and he had compassion for them.” Do you feel a kinship with the whole human race that makes you want to help every person you see, regardless of race, nationality or social status?

Wednesday: Mark 6:45-52. “But when they saw him walking on the sea, they thought it was a ghost.” Do you look for Jesus to come to you in unexpected persons, thoughts or other ways?

Thursday: Luke 4:14-22. Jesus said to them, “Today this scripture has been fulfilled in your hearing.” How have you experienced Jesus as glad tidings to the poor, liberty to captives, sight to the blind and freedom for the oppressed?

Friday: Luke 5:12-16. The man covered with leprosy said, “Lord, if you choose, you can make me clean.” Jesus touched him and said, “I do choose. Be made clean.” What has Jesus shown that he wants to do for you? What are you asking him to do?

Saturday: John 3:22-30. John answered, “No one can receive anything except what has been given from heaven.” Do you realize that God is constantly giving light and inspiring love to all the people with whom you live and work? Do you deal with each person accordingly?

LIVING THIS WEEK'S GOSPELS

As Christian: Write down three things you like most about the customs, ceremonies, and so on, of the Church. How many of these are essential and how many are cultural, changeable, particular ways of expressing Christianity?

As Disciple: Read something (in the New Catholic Encyclopedia, for example, or search on the internet) about the Eastern rites in the Catholic Church. Do any have parishes where you live?

As Prophet: Identify one way the glory of God shines through your lifestyle and behavior, a way that is particularly, personally, uniquely your own.

As Priest: Invite someone of a different religion, race or perspective to come to Mass with you one Sunday.

As King: For a day count how many times you or those around you speak negatively about other races, ethnic groups, political parties or people in other departments at work.
