XVI Sunday in Ordinary Time
July 17, 2022

Saint Theresa is a generous and caring community of faith and family; striving to grow a spiritual life in Jesus Christ. We are strengthened with a multicultural parish, incorporating people of many rich heritages of the Carbon Valley area and surrounding communities. We strive to build a nurturing and unified environment in which the spiritual lives of all of our members thrive to celebrate the sacraments with enthusiasm and commitment. Saint Theresa Parish is committed and dedicated in investing and sharing our gifts of time, talent, and financial resources; enabling many ministries that make the Body of Christ a visible and effective presence in our community that in turn builds our faith and future.

TODAY'S READINGS

Reading I : Genesis 18-1-10a
Responsorial Psalm : Psalm 15:2-3,3-4,5
Reading II : Colossians 1:24-28
Gospel : Luke 10:38-42

WEEKLY REFLECTION

As he concluded his catechetical cycle on prayer, Pope Francis said "the most beautiful thing to remember" is "the grace that we do not only pray, but that, so to speak, we have been 'prayed for,' we have already been received in Jesus's dialogue with the Father, in communion with the Holy Spirit."
Pope Francis said we must "keep this in our heart, we must never forget" that Jesus prayed for each of us personally. "We were willed by Jesus Christ, and even in the hour of His Passion, Death, and Resurrection, everything was offered for us."
So, the Pope concluded, "with prayer and with life, all that is left for us is to have courage, hope, and with this courage and hope to experience strongly the prayer of Jesus and go forward: so that our life might give glory to God in the awareness that He prays for me to the Father, that Jesus prays for me."

- Pope Francis

"HOLINESS consists simply in doing God's will, and being just what God wants us to be."

~ Therese of Lisieux

Today We Celebrate:
Pope Leo IV—The Rebuilder of Rome

Feast Day: July 17

Leo received his early education at Rome in the monastery of St. Martin, near St. Peter's Basilica. His pious behavior drew the attention of Gregory IV, who made him a subdeacon, and he was later created Cardinal-Priest of the church of the Quatuor Coronati by Sergius II. Leo was unanimously elected to succeed Sergius II as Pope. At the time of his election, there was an alarming attack of the Saracens on Rome in 846, which caused the people to fear the safety of the city. Because of the tension of the situation, Leo was consecrated on April 10, 847 without the consent of the emperor. As soon as Leo, much against his will, became Pope, he began to take precautions against the repetitious acts of the Saracen raid of 846. He began a project to put the walls of the city into a thorough state of repair, entirely rebuilding fifteen of the great towers. He was the first to enclose the Vatican hill by a wall. The work took him four years to accomplish, and the newly forti- fied portion was called the Leonine City, after him. In 852 the fortifications were completed, and were blessed by the Pope with great solemnity. It was by this Pope that the church of S. Maria Nova was built, to replace S. Maria Antiqua, which the decaying Palace of the Caesars threatened to engulf, and of which the ruins have recently been brought to light. In 850, Leo associated with Lothair in the empire of his son Louis, by imposing on him the imperial crown. Three years later "he hallowed the child Alfred to king [says an old English historian] by anointing; and receiving him for his own child by adoption, gave him confirma- tion, and sent him back [to England] with the blessing of St. Peter the Apostle." In the same year, 853, he held an important syn- od in Rome, in which various decrees were passed for the furtherance of ecclesiastical discipline and learning, and for the condemnation of the refractory Anastasius, Cardinal of St. Marcellus, and sometime librarian of the Roman Church. Equally rebellious conduct on the part of John, Archbishop of Ravenna, forced Leo to undertake a journey to that city to inspire John and his accomplices with respect for the law. It was duing his engaging endeavor to inspire anoth- er archbishop, Hincmar of Reims, with this same reverence, that Leo died. He was buried in St. Peter's on July 17, 855. He is credited with being a worker of miracles both by his biographer and by the Patriarch Photius. His name is found in the Roman Martyrology.
