Gospel Meditation

Twenty-eighth Sunday in Ordinary Time

by Tracy Earl Welliver, MTS (LPi)

"Ten lepers met him. They stood at a distance ..." In the ancient world and into the Middle Ages, there was no treatment for leprosy. People thought it was wildly contagious and were suspicious of any skin diseases. Lepers were isolated from civil society. This isolation was uphold by the Mosaic Law. Should there be a healing from leprosy, the former leper was to present himself to a priest to certify the healing. Like Jesus commands, "Show yourselves to the priests." The person would then undergo a religious rite to be formally reintroduced to society. In other words, a leper got their life back. So why didn't they come back?

"As they were going they were cleansed. And one of them, realizing he had been healed, returned, glorifying God in a loud voice; and he fell at the feet of Jesus and thanked him." Of the ten lepers healed by Christ, only one returns with a grateful heart. The others, perhaps, were thankful enough. Perhaps they couldn't believe their luck, and they hastened to the priests to confirm the healing. They were more than willing to leave their life of rejection and isolation behind. Why take any steps backward, when the way ahead was so attractive? An attitude like this is perhaps understandable, but few would admire it.

How about you? Do you come back? If you've ever had the experience of getting what you hoped and prayed for, you know that this can sometimes be easier said than done. When we've wanted something badly enough, how easy it can be to focus on the gift rather than the giver. The truth is, God is daily offering us gifts: the gift of our existence, of the created world, of family and friends, of modern conveniences. Even in times of distress, there is always something to be thankful for. This Sunday, give yourself a gratitude check. Count your blessings. Glorify God and thank him for the gift of your life!

Sunday Coffee Hour at Christ the King

Join us for coffee and donuts after the 10:30 AM Mass.

Stuff-A-Bus Community Fundraiser

Over the weekends of November 2-3 and 9-10, the three parishes of the Rutland-Wallingford Catholic Community will be collecting donations for the Stuff-A-Bus campaign in order to play a leading role in solving hunger in our area this holiday season. Hundreds of local families without food are assisted by this effort at a time leading up to Thanksgiving and Christmas when the need is very high. All types of food are welcome, including items for babies and pets! The drop-off day in Depot Park is Saturday, November 16.

Did You Know?

If you attend Mass at another Catholic church in Rutland County (including Ludlow), you can place your offering envelope in the collection basket and your contribution will be returned to your own parish. For example, if you are registered at IHM and go to St. Peter's, just place your IHM envelope in the basket at St. Peter's and it will be sent to IHM.

And from Our Pastor...

Dear Parishioners and Friends:

This week, I had four very interesting moments that reminded me of the great things going on in our parishes and the wider community. The first was a visit to the Community Cupboard, a place I have supported since coming to Rutland but had never visited. The new director, Rebekah Stephens, invited me to come and tour the facility and talk about some of her exciting plans for the future. The facility is simple in its layout. In fact, it looks like a small grocery store in which "shoppers" can find the food they need. The Cupboard is supported by the Rutland community and the Vermont Foodbank. There are all kinds of options for those who cannot afford the normal route of shopping in a grocery store. As you have heard me say before, the stats on poverty in this area are staggering.

I also visited the First Step Pregnancy Center, under the direction of David Wilkinson. Another great visit in which David helped me understand their services and needs. The Knights of Columbus spearheaded a campaign recently (in which many of you took part) to purchase ultrasound equipment. David told me that more than 9 out of 10 pregnant women who see their unborn child on an ultrasound elect not to have an abortion. They also have programs for new mothers and fathers to help them on their journey of parenthood. I was truly impressed with what they were doing. David and I brainstormed ways our parishes could be of assistance. More on that later.

Back on the Christ the King campus this week, I was engaged in my adult education class. This year I chose the Eucharist as our theme for the class. We have had two classes so far, and about 50 people have come to each. I am always humbled by the numbers of people who come out for these Wednesday night sessions. At the first session I presented on the theology of the Mass and Eucharist, and this week I started walking through it with them. I think it will be a great year looking at the most important thing we do, the Mass. Come and join us! We meet on Wednesday evenings at 6:30 PM in Engle Hall. No cost, tests, exams, or papers. Just come and be a part of it.

Finally, on Friday morning we celebrated Grandparents' Day at CKS. This is always a joy. We had many grandparents in the church for our Mass on Friday morning. The bond between grandchild and grandparent is usually very deep and so important. Children need elders to teach them about life and values. I was lucky enough to have such a special relationship with my grandmother, growing up. Although she had me drinking coffee at 9 years old, she was a very special lady. It was a privilege to celebrate that Mass for our school, and to honor that special bond.

All around it was a great week, filled with God's blessings. I am so humbled that God has chosen me for this great work. I continually remind myself how blessed I am. God has blessed me in so many ways, and I am truly grateful. I hope you are thankful for the ways God has blessed you in your life. Giving thanks to God is such an important part of our prayer.

Peace,
Fr. Bernie

Come and Spend Time with the Lord!

on Fridays from noon to 2:30 PM.*

NEWS FROM The Inland See

October 12–18, 2019

FOR THE DIOCESE OF BURLINGTON

Disciple Maker Index Survey Results

“Catholics in the Diocese of Burlington universally have a strong set of beliefs in scripture and Church teaching, which provides a foundation for extending their faith journey,” said Terry Poplava, vice president of ministry development and client services at Catholic Leadership Institute.

According to the results of the Disciple Maker Index Survey which parishioners in the Diocese of Burlington completed last spring, these two categories ranked the highest. Survey questions focused on the three Diocesan Synod priorities — vibrancy, evangelization and communication — and asked participants to rank their parish in categories such as preaching, spiritual growth, discipleship formation, welcoming community and Mass celebration.

While Catholics in Vermont universally have a strong set of beliefs, “this does not translate into a strong missionary impulse,” Poplava said. “Catholics do not feel their parishes are equipping them with the knowledge about the faith to share their faith journey with others or invite others to vocations.”

There is an opportunity for growth in the areas of faith formation and evangelization for all ages.

Catholic Leadership Institute also noted that respondents who strongly recommended their pastors were nine times more likely to strongly recommend their parishes, and, overall, most respondents agreed that preaching was good at their parishes.

The Diocese partnered with the Catholic Leadership

Institute to help parish leaders develop pastoral plans that address the synod priority of building vibrant parishes, which includes evangelization and communication. The Disciple Maker Index Survey was the first step in accessing the strengths and opportunities of each parish. Parish teams met during the summer to take a deep dive into the survey results and create goals in one or more of the three synod priority areas based on their parish strengths and opportunities. Each parish will share their final plan with parishioners once it is complete.

“The next step will be moving from documenting a plan to the implementation and measurement of progress,” said Bishop Christopher Coyne. “There are several ways we plan to support parishes in this process including utilizing prescheduled clergy meetings throughout the year, such as Presbyteral Days in early September, to check in on the progress and identify areas where we can provide more support.”

The Diocese has already begun to implement synod recommendations to help improve communication in the parishes. More than 30 parishes have converted to new websites through eCatholic, using a template designed to provide easy access to the information parishioners want most and to share diocesan news and updates. The rest of the parishes are scheduled to transition to the new platform over the next year and a half.

In addition, all the clergy are using uniform email addresses, @vermontcatholic.org, to make it easier to communicate.
