Scripture Outline & Reflection

READINGS

Genesis 15:5-12, 17-18;
 Psalm 27:1, 7-9, 13-14;
 Philippians 3:17 - 4:1;
 Luke 9:28-36

Abram's faith is sealed with a covenant initiated by God (1), our light and our salvation (Ps). The transfiguration of Jesus (3) prefigures the transformation in glory to which we are called by our sharing in the paschal mystery - the dying and rising of Jesus (2).

Then from the cloud came a voice that said, "This is my chosen Son; listen to him."

Luke 9:35

The Transfiguration Changes Everything

You and your friend of many years meet for breakfast every Saturday morning at a diner where you share your life, open your heart. Sometimes you pick up the check, sometimes he does. One Saturday you detect something in your friend's face. You ask, "What is it?" He replies, "I have to tell you something." Your friend proceeds to inform you he has just inherited a hundred million dollars.

Now, if this Saturday morning your friend does not reach over to pick up that check, your friendship will be damaged.

A revelation of this magnitude produces expectation. It changes things. "Why are you telling me all this," you silently wonder, "unless you plan to share your good fortune with me? Otherwise, such a disclosure would be cruel, breeding envy."

That is the point of the Transfiguration. The magnificence that transfigures Jesus he intends to give us. Saint Thomas Aquinas says that Christ wished to be transfigured in order to show people his glory "to arouse them to desire it."

Jesus does so as a friend, and Saint Thomas observes that one of the indispensable marks of friendship is that a friend shares his belongings with friends, taking care of his friend "as he would take care of himself."

What in you needs to be changed? The transfiguration is Jesus beckoning you to receive from him what makes the impossible happen.

LENTEN CONFESSIONS

Most Reverend Gregory M. Aymond will make priests available in every church in the Archdiocese of New Orleans for the next 3 Wednesdays (March 23, March 30 and April 6) from 5:00 p.m. to 6:30 p.m.. The heart of Jesus is open and He invites you to know and accept His mercy.

Whether you have been to confession recently, or perhaps it has been many years, now is the time to know that His heart is open and eager forgive.

Wisdom teaches us moderation and prudence, justice and fortitude. There is nothing in life more useful than these.

Wisdom 8:7

REFLECTION: The Spirit calls us to live virtuous lives. True virtue though, as St. Augustine taught, lies in the middle, in prudence and moderation.

When we exaggerate one virtue over all the others, it can actually become a vice. What we are doing is really a form of perfectionism and spiritual pride..

PRAYER: Lord, may I never allow my spiritual choices to become a form of spiritual pride.
