FR. GUY'S REFLECTION

Dear

friends,

Advent has become many things... For many it is primarily a preparation for the coming of the Infant Jesus at Christmas. Yet, from the Gospel readings like Matthew, which we heard today: "In those days before the flood, they were eating and drinking... They did not know until the flood came and carried them all away. So will it be at the coming of the Son of Man." We are admonished to be aware of His second coming as an adult. Advent asks us if we have welcomed Jesus Christ to dwell in our lives, not the Infant, but the adult Lord Jesus as His followers.

We live in two kingdoms, the now and the not yet; with one foot in this kingdom of hoping and waiting and another foot in the trust of the glory of Christ's second coming. It is the now and the not yet our faith requires. If this doesn't make sense, perhaps another example of our Advent experience might be. We play two games during these weeks, frantic shopping, decorating, parties, over eating and drinking, and at the same time we hear the call of a deepening sense of the Divine and the faith we are called to.

Some grownups seem to lose their sense trying to recapture their childhood. I understand the stresses of life can make us look backward, seeking relief. Recently, I saw this ad on a catalog: "may you find among the gifts spread beneath your tree, the most welcome gift of all, the child you used to be." We all use our imaginations during preparations for the holidays to fill the empty spaces of our lives. Advent reminds us that only Jesus Christ can fill those voids. Every Advent the Lord knocks on the door of our lives, "let me in, open the door to me, you belong to me... I am your hope and salvation."

For some, Advent and the Christmas season, when the pages of the calendar turn to the new year, can leave them with unfulfilled longings... feeling empty. If all these weeks have been about decorating, shopping and gifts under the tree, we will be left still longing for an encounter with the Divine. During these four weeks of Advent, the question will remain for what and to whom have we opened our lives? The joys of this season are wonderful, but they have become the meaning of the season. The miracle of Christ, born to save the world has become a decorating choice for so many.

Here are a few thoughts for advent reflection, and praying that might help us to have a more spiritual experience of this season of waiting and longing:

1. How have the goodness and love of God been your strength? How might you share this with someone who is losing hope?
2. Christ came in an unexpected way as the Messiah. Might we be more aware of His coming in unexpected people?
3. Consider the people who shared the light of Christ with you in past Advent seasons. Offer a prayer of Thanksgiving for them. In gratitude help another person sense more deeply Christ's presence by listening to their needs and offering help.
4. Light a candle and sit quietly in prayer every day asking Jesus the Light to come into your life to light your path.

Peace for your week,
fr guy

First Reading

First Sunday of Advent

Isaiah 2:1-5

Swords into Ploughshares

The first reading of the entire Advent season presents Isaiah's famous dream of a people at peace: "They shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks." How can we get that peace?

In Isaiah's vision, that peace comes from the Word of the Lord. That Word comes from Jerusalem.

The city of Jerusalem sits on a hill, but it is a stubby little hill. Other hills are larger. But Isaiah prophesies that Jerusalem's hill will be established as the highest mountain. All will stream toward it to hear God's Word.

For Christians, when we hear this prophecy on the First Sunday of Advent, we imagine Isaiah's dream on a grander scale. We see heaven as the new Jerusalem, established higher than anywhere else. We see all peoples streaming toward it for instruction. The word that comes from the new Jerusalem is the Word made flesh at Bethlehem. We yearn to hear that Word and form our lives by it.

This day, let us hear the Word of God. Let us take the weapons we hurl at our neighbors—the angry words, the hurtful deeds—and beat them into plowshares that open fertile soil of communication and into pruning hooks that weave renewed relationships of peace.

Second Reading

First Sunday of Advent

Romans 13:11-14

Alarm Clock

People act differently at night than they do in the day. In the day we are busy with personal responsibilities, but nights invite relaxation. On some nights, we relax too much. Some people let their guard down at night. In the dark we are more prone to commit crime and enter sin, as if no one can see.

When the hour comes to wake from sleep, we are filled with expectation and remorse. We look forward to the promise of the coming day, but we regret the sins of the past.

Advent is here. The alarm has just gone off. St. Paul says, "It is the hour now for you to awake from sleep." Paul is not talking about the dawn of another weekday. He speaks of the dawn of an eternal day. Our salvation is near at hand. The risen Christ longs to enter our hearts and dwell there by faith.

We have to quit acting as if it is night. We should behave as if it were eternal day. Our responsibilities as Christians continue in every circumstance—when we are at work or at play, when we are active or at rest. The faithful Christian remains vigilant at all hours, so that we will be ready for Christ when he comes.

Christ is coming soon. Our salvation is near at hand. Let us spend this Advent doing the deeds of day and avoiding the deeds of darkness.
