Mission Statement

We, the St. Thomas Aquinas Parish Community, united by our love for God and one another, are called to evangelize through worship, service, life-long learning, promoting God's truth, peace and justice, and respecting all creation.

Third Sunday in Ordinary Time

“Today this scripture
passage is fulfilled
in your hearing.”

Luke 4:21

Father Rick's Reflections . . .

Today, we begin our journey with Luke through a semi-continuous reading of the gospel in year C. It is appropriate that the first four verses are read to remind us of Luke's purpose in writing his two-part good news, the gospel and Acts of the Apostles. In the Acts, the church is committed to doing in the power of the Spirit of Jesus what he himself did in the days of his flesh. Theophilus ("God-lover") was probably a significant Christian and patron of Luke. God-lover though he may be, there is always more truth to be discovered, a greater commitment to be made, a new excitement about the tradition that has been handed down by those who were both eyewitnesses and servants of the word. Luke is not one of these, but he is respectful of what he has received from them. Using his own human gifts and guided by the Holy Spirit, he is eager to record, order, and interpret the Jesus tradition for the sake of his patron and the wider community of believers. "Today" we are among those believers, gathered into the Liturgy of the Word, into the presence of Christ.

Today, Jesus is called up to the reading desk in the Nazareth synagogue. The people are expectant – here is the hometown boy made good, with a teaching reputation already established throughout Galilee. They think they know him, but Jesus is the Messiah, the anointed One, with the fullness of the Spirit upon him. Born, baptized, proved the faithful Israelite par excellence in the wilderness, Jesus speaks forth as the prophet the words of Isaiah as a summary of his mission that he about to begin. The prophet, he proclaims, is called to announce good news to the poor – their liberty, healing, freedom from all oppression – as in the Jubilee year of release described in Leviticus 25 and Deuteronomy 15. Whether such a year was ever actually celebrated in Israel is uncertain, but it persisted as a symbol of the possibilities found in a new era of empowerment for the disadvantaged.

Then comes the climax, the moment of interpretation of the word of God: "Today, this scripture passage is fulfilled in your hearing," says Jesus. That Jesus is the Word in our human flesh is what we have so recently celebrated in our Christmas festivities. In the weeks of Ordinary Time, what will the "Amen, Amen!" in our first reading mean for us in our lives? Will the tears and joy of Ezra's and Nehemiah's community, the amazement of the Nazareth synagogue in response to the word of God, be reflected in our responses to what we hear proclaimed in the Liturgy of the Word?

Around the time of the Jubilee Year 2000, there were some great initiatives related to remitting debts of the poorest nations and adopting compassionate policies toward those detained as asylum seekers. More than two decades later, have we, as a people baptized into prophecy, retained the urgency in advocating that our politicians continue this work? What local church initiatives for justice and peace will keep Jubilee dreams alive through the decades of the third millennium? What do we as individuals do in order to be "good news" to the poor?

This Tuesday evening, from 6-7 pm in the Church Lower Level, we are beginning a Book Study of the book entitled, Return: How to draw Your Child back to the Church. Over the next 6 weeks we will journey through this book and have time for discussion as to what people think. Just let us know if you plan on attending in case we need to order more books.

Last week, we had an informational meeting about our upcoming Pilgrimage to the Holy Land beginning April 25. We are getting excited about the trip but need to have more people to attend. If you know of friends or family members that would like to make this pilgrimage, pass on the information to them. We would like to get 20 people as a minimum size of the group. For more information, please contact the parish office.

This week, Worship Commission will have their monthly meeting on Wednesday at 6:30 pm (note new time). We will be reviewing the Advent-Christmas season and looking at the upcoming Lent-Easter season.

Next week, we will be celebrating Catholic Schools Week. There is some information in our bulletin this week about an open house for the High School. Catholic Schools are an important educational ministry of the Church. Your support helps to make it a viable option for so many children in our area. We'll have more about the events for next week.

This coming Friday, January 28, is the feast of St Thomas Aquinas, our parish patron. We will have Mass on Friday morning at 8:30 am asking for his intercession and prayers for our community. Plan on joining us for this special day.

I guess winter is here as well as the cold. I no longer get the weather forecasts from Minnesota as my sister is now a Michigander, but I still hear about the snow and the cold. Stay safe during these winter months.

Third Sunday in Ordinary Time

First Reading: Nehemiah 8:2-6, 8-10

The book of Nehemiah recounts events which happened about 100 years after the Jewish people had returned from the Babylonian exile. After their initial religious fervor, the people's moral life and commitment to the law had lapsed. So Ezra the priest challenged the people to renew their commitment to the law, and conducted what would be called today a religious revival.

Second Reading: 1 Corinthians 12:12-30

Today we continue our reading from the first letter of Paul to the Christians in Corinth, an important seaport. He was answering a letter they had written to him, containing questions about Christian life in their community. Among the questions was how to deal with the diversity of gifts within the community, and the rivalries and jealousies that inevitably arise. He responds by using a comparison that you will recognize immediately.

Gospel Reflection: Luke 1:1-4, 4:4-21

Jesus is in the synagogue of his hometown, Nazareth. Present are those who came to pray, to hear God's word and listen as it was interpreted for them. From the scroll of Isaiah, the prophet, Jesus reads the text. The job description of the Servant, and then claims his job description. This mission and ministry, as his own. It is God becoming human in order to give humanity a new vision that will heal, reconcile and liberate.

For your reflection: God's Spirit empowers Jesus to proclaim God's presence and release persons from what binds them. For what do I want Jesus to free me?

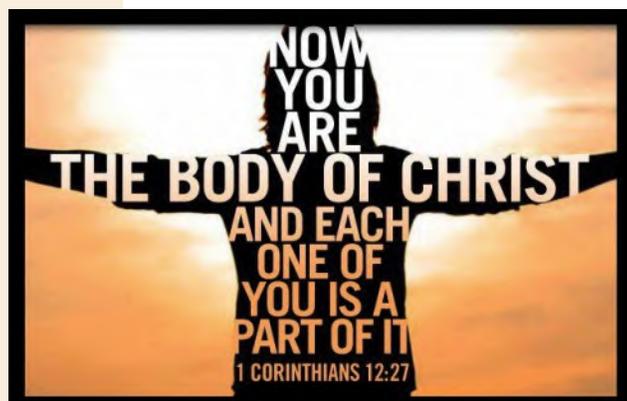

Family Perspective-by Bud Ozar

In today's gospel Jesus was "praised by all" except at home in Nazareth where the "eyes of all were intently on him." Acceptance can be hard to find at home due to unreal EXPECTATIONS. Jesus challenges us to "proclaim liberty" to anyone "oppressed" or "captive" by our EXPECTATIONS.

Stewardship Reflections

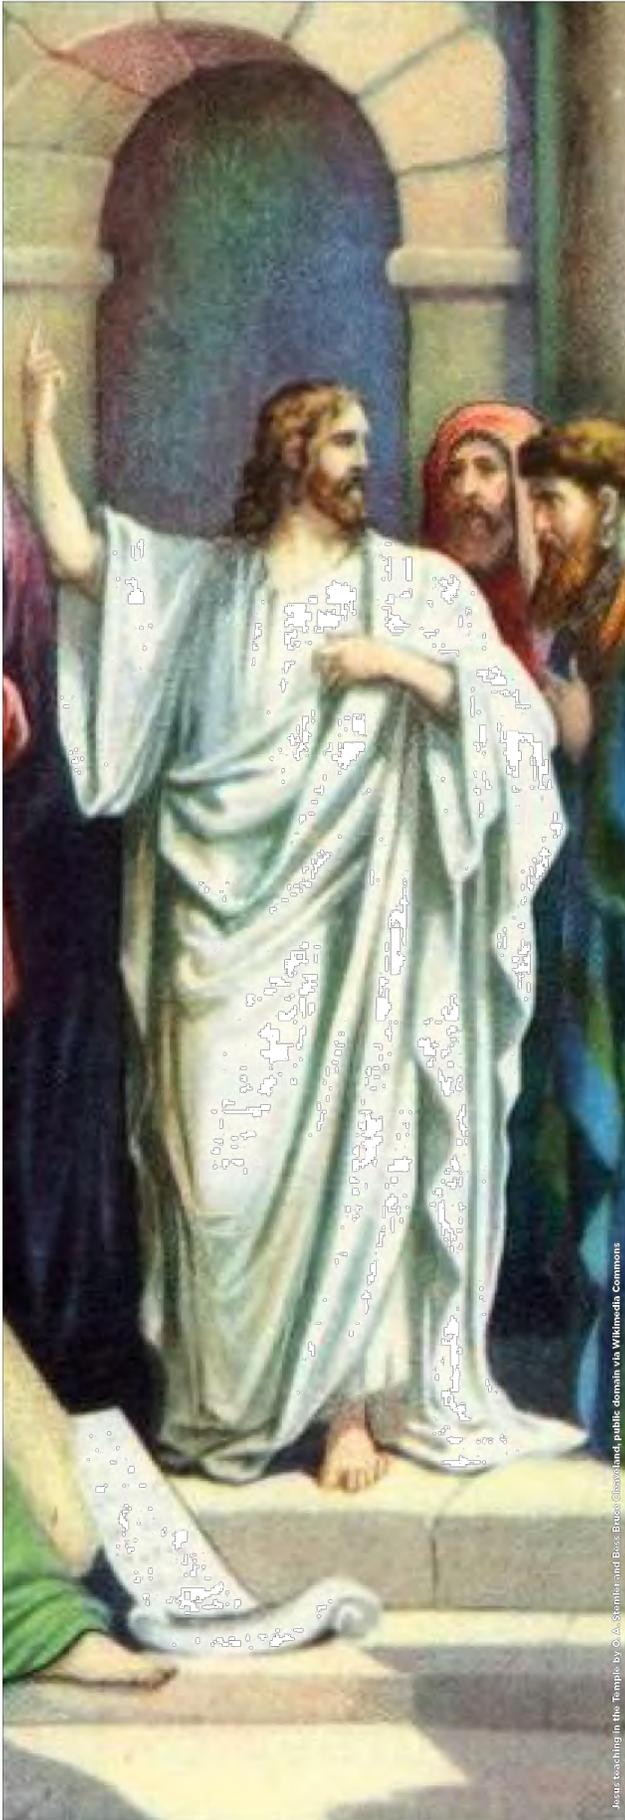

"Go, eat rich foods and drink sweet drinks, and allot portions to those who had nothing prepared..."
Nehemiah 8:10

Ezra's instructions to the people show us that God does not forbid us from enjoying the good things in life. He wants us to be happy! However, God expects us to be grateful for all that He has given us and to generously share our blessings with those who are in need. Now here's the hard part – to share all we have without expecting anything in return.

What I Love About Being Catholic...

I love that Catholic's knowing that I have a large support system in the church. I love going to Mass and know that Jesus is present and comes to me Body and Blood in the Eucharist to help me and strengthen my faith. Knowing He is ever present in good times and in times of trouble. Being Catholic helps reinforce my belief's. J.Z.

GROW AS A DISCIPLE | PRAY, STUDY, ENGAGE, SERVE

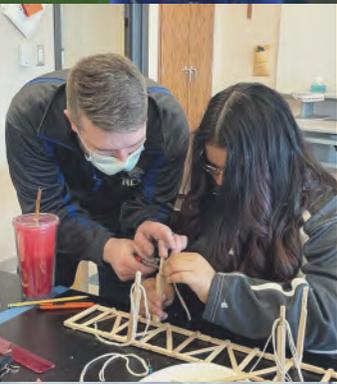

Do you ever find yourself feeling like you are at the cusp of something remarkable? Like you are witnessing an incredible, historic, athletic, or aeronautical feat? I wonder if that's what it was like for the followers of Jesus when he began his public ministry: "News of him spread throughout the whole region. He taught in their synagogues and was praised by all." In today's Gospel, Jesus reads the words of the prophet Isaiah that are effectively a "job description" of his mission: glad tidings to the poor, liberty of captives, sight to the blind, freedom for the oppressed. What Isaiah prophesied, Jesus claims to fulfill. He thus inaugurates his public ministry with a claim that is straightforward, bold, true, and of great consequence. Today, by virtue of our baptism, we are part of the body of Christ and share in that mission. Whatever our backgrounds, abilities, or talents, we each have something to contribute to building up one another and the Church. And with the help of the Holy Spirit, we, too, can be bold in our own proclamation of Jesus Christ as Lord.

GO EVANGELIZE

PRAYER, INVITATION, WITNESS, ACCOMPANIMENT

We've heard the phrase "Don't sell yourself short." Social media aside, many of us tend to focus on our shortcomings: We may wish we could run faster, be better at our jobs, have a cleaner home, in general, "get it together!" Truth is, we're all works in progress. That's what I love about Paul's Letter to the Corinthians. He reminds us that each one of us - whatever our strengths or weaknesses - is part of the body of Christ. God loves us with our imperfections, not in spite of them. As such, each of us has indispensable value and much to contribute to the mission of the Church. As we move into the week ahead, today's readings invite us to place ourselves at the service of the Church and one another. Beyond that, we can invite others to join us by recognizing that God values the talents - and foibles - that each of us brings to his service.

PRAY Yesterday on the liturgical calendar was the Day of Prayer for the Legal Protection of Unborn Children. As members of the body of Christ, let us join our voices with the universal Church and pray a Pro-Life Rosary each night this week. The USCCB Prayers and Devotions page is a good resource.
